DEMOCRATS WILL HAVE CLEAR HOUSE MAJORITY OF THIRTY.

Two Hundred Twenty-six Members of Party Elected to Congress.

Republicans Will Have Only One Hundred Sixty-five in Lower Branch of Sixty-second Congress, According to Latest Returns—Possible Changes in Closely Contested Districts Will Not Affect Result

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Democrats elected, 226.

Republicans elected, 165.

Socialists elected, 1.

Total, 391.

Majority of house, 196.

Democratic majority, 30. Democratic plurality, 61.

Complete returns on the elections of Representatives to Congress indicate that the Democrats will have a working majority of 30 in the next house.

The number of Democrats elected to Congress, according to the latest returns, is 226. The Republican representation will be 164 or 165, or 8 seats less than the Democrats now have in the Sixty-first Congress.

The Twelfth Pennsylvania District, also normally Republican, is given as Democratic, though the result there is not absolutely certain.

Absolute confidence is not felt in the returns for some of the Wisconsin districts and it is not impossible that the official figures will change the totals for the two parties.

Congressional gains were made by the Republicans and Democrats in the following States and districts.

TO RUSH MEASURES IS CABINET'S PLAN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The election and its lessons and the pressing forward of the administration's legislative programme so as to get it out of the way before the new Democratic Congress comes in, were discussed today at a Cabinet meeting.

Featuring the administration measures will be the plan for mending second-class mail abuses by requiring magazines—not newspapers—to pay increased postage on advertising pages sufficient to eliminate postal deficits and warrant one cent postage on first-class mail.

At the meeting it was pointed out that in the East the most damage to the Republican party was suffered, much of the outcome in the West having been discounted in the primaries. Some comfort was found in the relative smallness of the Democratic plurality as compared with the past when Democratic primacy was attained. New York's apparently less than 70,000 plurality being cited.

The expressed views were that the defeat of the party might in reality work for good.

President Taft realizes the necessity for getting through all needed administration in the three months' session beginning next month.

GRAVE SITUATION.

AMERICANS VICTIMS OF MOBS IN MEXICO.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 9.—Through insults to the American flag and assaults made openly upon American citizens in the streets, an anti-American demonstration which began last night with the stoning of the Mexican Herald offices, developed this afternoon into an affair of international importance.

A vigorous protest was registered by the American Ambassador with the Mexican Department of Foreign Relations and at the same time the facts were then telegraphed to Washington and instructions asked for.

Tonight the attacks were renewed. Windows in a dozen American business places were smashed. All about town shutters were hurriedly drawn and establishments closed. Forces of police appeared in the streets and kept the crowds moving.

An attack was made upon the plant of El Imparcial, and the mailing and distributing departments on the ground floor were completely wrecked.

The mob attacked the heavy door leading to the editorial and composing rooms above, with heavy timbers and fired the wreckage.

Then the mounted police charged with drawn swords. One of the attackers was run through and killed. The others fled. An alarm turned in from the offices of the paper brought the fire department to the scene before the flames gained much headway.

DESTROY AMERICAN FLAG.

While the police looked on and seemingly made no effort to prevent it, an American flag floating in front of a candy store in the business district was torn down this afternoon by a crowd of students and others, trampled upon and torn to bits. Later photographs of the crowds were taken before the offices of the Diario del Hogar, a Mexican newspaper, with many individuals waving bits of the tattered banner.

The demonstration today was a continuation of the affair of last night, caused by antipathy aroused among the people by the burning at the stake of Antonio Rodriguez at Rock Springs, Texas, on the night of Nov. 3.

RABID PRESS INCITES MOBS.

Publication of violent attacks on Americans by several Mexican papers tended further to incense the medical students, who were the promoters of last night's demonstrations.

El Diario del Hogar was particularly violent in expressing animosity toward the people of the United States, characterizing them as "giants of the dollar; pigmies of culture and barbarous whites of the north," and asking "where is the boasted Yankee civilization?"

Shortly before noon the crowd assembled before the new Juarez monument in the Alameda and proceeded to the Municipal Palace, where several who were arrested last night were being examined by the authorities. A company of mounted police followed.

From the palace the students marched through Avenida San Francisco, the principal business thoroughfare, stopping in front of the candy store where the flag incident occurred.

The gathering increased and marched to the offices of the Department of Foreign Relations, making demonstrations on the way against American business places and breaking windows in the San Francisco hotel.

Jack Davis, an automobile repair man, had a hand-to-hand encounter with a dozen members of the crowd when they attempted to tear the top from his automobile and enter his establishment. He knocked several of them to the pavement and drove them from his place.

AMERICANS DENOUNCED.

At the head of Juarez avenue, around the famous statue of the iron horse, speeches were made denouncing all Americans and a passing street car conveying school children to the American school was stoned. One child was struck and severely injured.

Windows of the car were shattered. Among others who were assaulted were the son of Ambassador Wilson, and William Marshall, employee of the National Railways, was hit on the head with a stone.

TWENTY THOUSAND, JOHNSON'S PLURALITY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Complete returns from 2999 out of 3159 precincts in the State, received up to 11:30 o'clock tonight, give:

Johnson	147,359
Bell	126,994
Wallace	104,279
Spellacy	102,692
Melvin	112,363
Sloss	118,212

When tabulation of the returns of yesterday's election was closed tonight, the indicated plurality of Hiram W. Johnson, Republican candidate for Governor, was approximately 20,000.

The returns from the entire State are still incomplete, but the result in cities and more populous regions is definitely known and the missing vote of the remote and sparsely settled districts cannot materially alter the above figure.

With the exception of Wallace, for Lieutenant Governor, who may run somewhat behind Johnson's vote, the entire State ticket will closely approximate the plurality given its head. This figure harmonizes wit hthe estimates made by Mr. Johnson's managers tonight.

In addition to the returns as supplied from the usual sources, the Johnson people late today made special investigations in pivotal counties and tonight do not claim a plurality exceeding 20,000, and admit it may run a few hundred below that figure.

The admitted surprise of the election among close political observers of both parties was the result in San Francisco. Even as late as election eve odds of 2 to 1 were available that Bell would carry the city, but the official vote with two small precincts missing gives Johnson a plurality of 1487.

The surprisingly strong vote in this city of J. Stitt Wilson, Socialist candidate for Governor, is used as an explanation of the result. Wilson polled 9391 votes in San Francisco, and it is claimed that by far the greater part of this was drawn from what would normally have been Democratic strength.

The returns of the vote on the various constitutional amendments and proposals submitted yesterday are practically entirely absent tonight, but the Panama-Pacific Exposition managers say their advices are that the State bond issue has carried by a very large vote. In three counties the vote for the exposition tax of $5,000,000 was 46,769 for and 4149 against. This practically insures the fact that the State has regarded the proposition favorably.

In the same three counties San Francisco, San Joaquin and San Benito, the constitutional amendment providing for the separation of State and local taxation, received 30,865 affirmative and 16,304 against.

SOCIALISTS HURT BELL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Complete returns for this city in yesterday's election show a total vote of 58,400 and virtually a clean sweep for the Republican ticket. In the contest for Governor the division of votes established by last night's figures was maintained to the end, the final result being Johnson, 24,877; Bell, 23,390; Wilson, Socialist, 9391.

For Lieutenant-Governor, Spellacy (D.) outran his ticket many thousands, the final result being: Wallace (R.), 19,709; Spellacy (D.), 27,838; Wheeler, (Soc.), 8,594.

The only other straight Democratic candidate to outstrip the ticket was James V. Coffey, for Presiding Justice of the Court of Appeals, First District. The vote stood: Lennon (R.), 19,700; Coffey, 27,168. All of the Constitutional amendments were carried in the city, most of them by an overwhelming vote.

For the Panama Pacific Exposition project, as regards the city bonds, the vote stood 42,243 for; 2,410 against. The vote of the State bond issue for the same purpose stood 42,378 for; 2,463 against. The San Diego sea wall act received an affirmative vote of 24,435 for, 7,387 against, and the India Basin act carried by over 14,000.

HERE ARE THE FIGURES.

IT'S BIGGEST IN HISTORY.

Los Angeles Growth Phenomenal.

Total Population by U. S. Census Is 319,198, and Still Growing.

Percentage of Gain Is Two Hundred Eleven and Half. Never Equaled.

Census Officials Couldn't Believe It—Angel City in Class by Itself.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The reason why the Census Bureau felt somewhat skeptical regarding the figures for Los Angeles, which were made public today, was apparent when it became known that the percentage of increase from 1900 to 1910 was 211.5 per cent.

The population is 319,198, as compared with 102,479 in 1900. This is an increase since 1900 of 216,719.

This is so far in excess of the growth of any other city of its size that the census officials could hardly believe it was true.

This is the largest gain ever made by any big city of the country.

There is no reason for Seattle, Portland and other small towns on the Coast to be jealous of Los Angeles. She is in a class by herself.

As The Times stated exclusively some time ago, the bureau had nothing in the way of proof that there was any padding or frauds, but it seemed a physical impossibility that a mature, healthy city which had passed the exuberance and rapid development of adolescence should show such amazing expansion.

True, Pasadena has shown big growth, and so has Sacramento with its 52.6 per cent. increase, and most of the other cities in California, including San Diego, San Jose, Oakland and many more, made returns of greatly increased population.

NO FLAW FOUND.

Like a prudent official who wanted no going behind the final returns, Director of the Census Durand caused a careful investigation to be made. His inspectors looked into the figures very carefully, and finally, after probing to their satisfaction, they announced that there was no reason to think there was any serious flaw in the count, that names had not been inserted in bunches, and that the count was as accurate as it was possible to make it.

The marvel remained, but it was accepted as a truth, the growth of 216,719 in ten years stands the severe test of close investigation and as yet no

LOS ANGELES STANDS HIGH IN LIST OF CITIES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Only fifteen cities in the United States, the population of which has been announced by the Census Bureau, this year exceed Los Angeles, the figures for which were made public tonight. No big city of the country has approached Los Angeles in percentage of gain in the past ten years. No question has been raised as to the correctness of the Los Angeles count. San Francisco's population has not yet been given out. The big cities the counts of which have been thus far given out are as follows:

Victory of Eastern Democrats Charged to Roosevelt.

KEYNOTE.

EXHILARATED IN FEELING.

Peril of One-Man Power Ended.

Henry Watterson Says Democrats Can't Realize Meaning of Victory.

Slams "Time-Servers Who Call Themselves Progressive Republicans."

BY HENRY WATTERSON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For the Democrats "it never rains but it pours." This is only another way of repeating Mr. Tilden's oft-quoted saying that it requires a revolution to unseat the party in power and to bring in opposition. Nevertheless, while exhilarating to Democrats, out in the cold so long, and so used to defeat that they can scarcely realize the actuality and the meaning of victory, the vote of Tuesday should strengthen the faith of all thoughtful Americans in the virtue and intelligence of the people and therefore in the stability of free institutions under the representative form of government.

We have survived most of the historic dangers which through the ages have assailed systems and dynasties. We seemed to be face to face with a new menace. This election secures us against the peril alike of the one-party oligarchy and the one-man power.

HAVE SEEN THE LIGHT.

In the first place it gives assurance of the survival of the wise and genuine Democratic leadership. It tells the country that after years of inglorious speculation on the popular credulity, marked by one after another of disappointing paramount issues as with disheartening rainbow chasing, the Democratic leaders have seen the light. It is distinctly a turning out of the narrow paths of vague and visionary theorising into the broad, open highways of Democracy interrified and undefiled, of Democracy sound and safe and sane, of Democracy seeking the good of the many through policies so straightforward and above board that he who runs may read and that he who reads may know.

The single hope of the Republicans rests upon the belief that this will not prove to be true, but that, as of old, the Democrats, given the opportunity, may be relied on at the critical moment to perpetrate some fatal mistake.

Taking a long look backward and seeking to shape the future by the instruction of our various misleadings in the past, the way ahead ought to be tolerably plain. With the lower house of the new Congress an extraordinary responsibility will rest. Upon its wisdom or folly will depend the election of a Democratic President in 1912.

'WARE THE TARIFF.

The one great question which proved a stumbling block to all parties is the tariff. If we go to pieces on any rock we shall go to pieces there. But with a firm, clear-sighted man in the Speakership, such as we believe Champ Clark will show himself to be, and a sure-footed, courageous and conscientious Ways and Means Committee, a measure of revenue reform may be constructed on which we may go to the country united and confident.

The true Democratic gospel as to the tariff is contained in the basic principle that the government has no right in equity or in law to levy and collect a dollar of taxation except for its own support. This is an exact contradiction of the doctrine that taxes may be levied for the benefit or protection of favored industries and preferred classes. The Republican party stands for the latter. The Democratic party stands for the former. Thus the issue between a protective tariff and a revenue tariff is absolute and incisive.

But we have had nearly fifty years of a protective tariff. Hundreds of millions of money have been invested and are yet embarked upon the faith of this. Hundreds of thousands of people look to it for their prosperity and support. It cannot be precipitately withdrawn. If we are to change our policy from a protective system to a revenue system, it must be done so gradually and with such regard for the business of the country, which stands greatly in need of rest, as that the final transition shall be as the passing from one season to another—every interest warned beforehand and fully prepared.

NEW TARIFF INEVITABLE.

There can be and there must be a tariff prepared by the coming Ways and Means Committee which shall scale the process of reduction through a term of years, stripping the present tariff, complicated for the purpose of confusion, of its surplusage and eliminating both the mystifications and the local features, which the cowardly and the weak have hitherto relied on to stand between themselves and their accountability at home.

DEMOCRATIC DOCTRINES.

Advised by the misadventures of the Cleveland administration, brought in by an overwhelming vote after an educational campaign of twenty years to carry out a drastic revision for which the country was then ripe and ready, the Democratic party cannot now wisely go beyond the lines here specified; but it can plant itself in the doctrine of "a tariff for revenue only"; it can show that protection is little other than robbery under the forms of law, and that the protective tariff is the king-pin of graft in public life as well as to the high cost of living, government expenditures included, and compel recalcitrant Democrats either in the ay of interests, or afraid of the interests, to toe the line of real reform as distinguished from spurious professions of reform, such as those outlined by the time-servers who call themselves progressive Republicans.

Capt. Benjamin W. Hooper, elected Governor of Tennessee Tuesday, who will be first Republican Executive of that State in many years. Capt. Hooper was found a nameless waif in Knoxville less than forty years ago.

YOUNG MAN'S CHANCE.

REPUBLICANS WIN IN TENNESSEE.

AN ADOPTED SON IS ELECTED GOVERNOR.

Benjamin W. Hooper, Who Was Waif on Streets of Knoxville Forty Years Ago and Committed to Orphan Asylum, Defeats "Fidlin' Bob" Taylor for Chief Executive.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) Nov. 9.—Late returns show that Capt. Benjamin W. Hooper has defeated Taylor for Governor by between 12,000 and 15,000. He will be the first Republican Governor Tennessee has had for many years.

Benjamin W. Hooper, the newly-elected Governor, was found on the streets of Knoxville less than forty years ago.

The waif, whose parentage is unknown, was committed to the care of an orphan asylum, where he received his early training. When he was 10 years old he attracted the attention of Capt. Hooper of Newport, Tenn., who gave him an education and his name, and before he was 21 years old he had graduated in law.

He was sent to the State Legislature for two terms, but was not widely known before he was nominated as the Republican candidate for Governor. He is a successful lawyer and is considered wealthy.

MILLION CHANGES HANDS.

Wall Street Election Betters Pay Losses Which Reach a Big Total.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] This was paying-off day for election betters in Wall street. Not counting the transfers of cash that occurred at the Waldorf and other uptown hotels, more than $1,000,000 is known to have been transferred from one set of owners to another.

William Marko, representing one of the big Stock Exchange houses is said to have handled more than $350,000. Fred Brooks, one of the old-time betting commissioners, was stakeholder and poster for nearly $250,000. William Titus, a curb broker, placed in all about $250,000. He won, in addition about $25,000 and made in commissions on what he placed for others $2500.

Titus had a market basket full of paper money and certificates before he finished his rounds of collecting, settling up and cashing in. Another curb broker, Ray Goodwin, handled $100,000 mostly in bets on the size of Dix's majority, and won for himself something like $20,000 besides his commissions.

Eck Lane, owner of a cigar store at No. 25 Broad street where the curb brokers make their headquarters when off duty, handled about $105,000 for others. He made upwards of $5000 personally by betting his own money right on the size of Dix's majority.

Four Thousand Jobs Await Distribution in Chicago.

Republicans Will Be Entirely Replaced by Victors.

"Faithful" Are Lean and Hungry From Waiting.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Distribution of the jobs in the big county offices captured by the Democrats today became the all-absorbing topic of discussion among the faithful workers in the ranks who for many long years have yearned for an opportunity to feed at the public crib.

The new officials will take over the reins of office December 5 and just as soon thereafter as they make an inventory of the Republican payrollers on the job there will be a house-cleaning. Not a Republican will be spared.

There are no civil service rules to bother with in the great majority of the big jobs and the firing of job holders will be just as simple a procedure as the placing of Democrats at work in their stead.

Approximately 4000 jobs of one kind and another in the offices annexed at Tuesday's election are awaiting the lean and hungry Democrats. This figure was supplied the chieftains by Hugo Grosser, statistician of the Democratic County Committee, who abandoned the task of proving that the Republican administration increased the cost of living for the more pleasing one of determining the number of additional jobs available under Democratic rule.

"The newly-elected officers feel that the people want a house cleaning," said Mr. McCarthy. "Otherwise they would not have voted for the Democratic nominees. It now becomes the duty of the new county officers to extend the house cleaning to every nook and corner of the county building without loss of time."

SIZING UP.

WHO'LL SUCCEED SENATOR DEPEW?

FOUR NEW YORK LEADERS ARE MENTIONED.

Election of Democratic Legislature in Empire State Centers Interest on Chances of Sheehan, Parker, Stanchfield and Shepard, Whose Prestige Is Shown in Order Named.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the State Legislature safely Democratic, speculation among Democratic leaders here today turned to the choice of United States Senator to replace Chauncey M. Depew, retiring January 1, 1911.

Those in a position to know spoke freely of the chances of William F. Sheehan, at one time Speaker of the Assembly and Lieutenant-Governor during the term of Gov. Flower. It is known that Sheehan's candidacy has been favored in high circles in the party councils.

Brooklyn's candidate for the Senate is Edward M. Shepard. Mr. Shepard drew up the platform upon which Mr. Dix made his race for Governor.

Another Democrat whose chances for the senatorial toga have not been overlooked is John B. Stanchfield, former candidate for Governor. The Elmira man's wisdom in party councils has won him the respect of the ablest minds in the Democracy of New York State.

None of the leaders has failed to mention Judge Alton B. Parker, once a Democratic nominee for President. At Rochester Judge Parker was put forward by a majority of the up-State leaders as the best campaigner then under discussion.

None of the leaders wished to be interviewed on the most available man, but it was understood when Democrats congregated to cheer today that the contest is between William F. Sheehan, Judge Alton B. Parker, John B. Stanchfield and Edward M. Shepard, with their popularity and the likelihood of their chances in the order named.

PLEASED AT KANSAS RESULTS.

BRISTOW REVIEWS ELECTION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SALINA (Kan.) Nov. 9.—United States Senator Joseph L. Bristow, who took an active part in the recent campaign for the "Insurgents," said today of yesterday's results: "I am very much gratified at the results in Kansas. We have elected the entire Republican Congressional Delegation by majorities ranging from 1000 to 8000. Governor Stubbs has been re-elected in face of the most terrific fight that has ever been made on any Republican nominee for Governor since 1882, when Governor St. John was defeated for a third term. While Governor Stubbs's majority is greatly reduced from that of two years ago, the fact that he won in the face of the tremendous forces arrayed against him makes his election a great victory."

GAYNOR IS PLEASED.

MAYOR SEES A READJUSTMENT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Mayor Gaynor said today he was gratified with the result of yesterday's election. "I do not view the result in a partisan light or with a mere feeling of elation," said the Mayor. "I see in it a readjustment of those voters throughout the country who are too intelligent to remain mere thick and thin partisans. The intelligence of the country is asserting itself, and business men and property owners will again divide themselves normally between the parties, as formerly, and as they do in other countries."

SHAFROTH WINS IN COLORADO.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, Nov. 9.—John F. Shafroth, Democrat, has been re-elected Governor of Colorado by a plurality estimated as high as 15,000. He has carried Denver county by at least 12,000, and his party leaders claim that he has also carried the outside counties by at least 3,000. Republican State Chairman McDonald conceded Shafroth's election tonight, but is claiming the election of several of the Republican candidates on the State ticket. Democratic Chairman Bradley asserts that the whole State ticket has been successful. The proposal to submit a constitutional amendment for the initiative and referendum has carried 2 to 1.

WOULD TINKER WITH TARIFF.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOWLING GREEN (Mo.) Nov. 9.—Downward revision of the tariff at once is the pledge made for the new Democratic House by Champ Clark, Congressman from the Ninth District, who is a candidate for the Speakership.

"The first and greatest proposition the Democrats should stand for is a reduction in the tariff to a revenue basis," he said.

"I would reduce it scientifically and gradually and put into it a sliding scale much like there was in the tariff bill of 1863.

"There is no question but that the Democrats will be on their good behavior in the next Congress, and the future of our party will depend on our conduct.

DEMOCRATS WIN COUNTY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 9.—So far as known only one county in the State of Washington went Democratic in the Congressional election. The plurality of Republican Supreme Judgship candidates is estimated at 40,000, as against 47,371 for Taft in 1908.

The Democrats gained here and there in the Legislature, but the Republican majority on joint ballot will remain more than 100.

The woman's suffrage amendment becomes law as soon as the Governor receives the official count and proclaims that the amendment has been ratified. Some 150,000 women will at once become qualified voters.

POPE LEARNS OF T. R.'S DEFEAT.

ROME, Nov. 9.—The developments in the American election were received here with much interest. Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal secretary, had a message from New York which he took personally to the Pope, to whom he said the Democratic victory meant a defeat of Col. Roosevelt generally.

"WAR" COUNTY DEMOCRATIC.

KINGWOOD (W. Va.) Nov. 9.—Preston county returned a Democratic plurality yesterday, the first time since the Civil War. William C. Brown for Congress in the second district, carried it by 300. More than 6000 of the 6600 registered votes were cast.

COMMENTS.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT AND HIS NEW NATIONALISM BLAMED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Wednesday, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The "Times" in it's leading editorial today, says:

"Seized by the heels in its very cradle, the 'New Nationalism' has been pitched into its grave. Theodore Roosevelt has been somewhat loudly admonished that whether now or in 1912, his own State and other Eastern States, have as little use for him as for his doctrines, and the Republican party has put on notice that the people never for one moment mistook a broken pledge for a downward revision. To Theodore Roosevelt, the disaster that has befallen his party and the sweeping character of the Democratic victory, are in large measure due.

"As today he contemplates the fearful wreck of his lately vast political estimate as he sits him down to 'muse like other conquerors on the fearful ruin he has wrought,' we hope he will be duly and profitably impressed by the great difference between his measure and his friends' measure of himself, and the country's measure of him taken in this campaign and indelibly recorded yesterday. Had Mr. Roosevelt been a man of first rate capacity, as he has always taken himself to be, he could never in so short a time have brought himself from so high to so low a place in the country's estimation. Let him make no mistake as to the meaning of the verdict in this State. In the up-State countries the drop of Stimson below the Hughes figures is thrice that of below the Chandler vote.

"The Republican stayed at home. It was not disapproval of their party's candidates. Mr. Stimson was rather above the average. Many had no reason for their apathy save that which Mr. Roosevelt's activities have afforded. The Republicans of New York have a profound dislike for his 'New Nationalism.' With their quick intelligence they saw that it was another name for a rapid and perilous augmentation of the Federal executive power, and he made it all too plain that his ambition has reserved for his own hands the exercise of that power. In place of the 'New Nationalism' he proffers, the voters emphatically declare that they prefer the new Statesism which is but a revival of the old and a revival in time of need. Theodore Roosevelt would have effaced the State lines from the map of the Union.

"The voters yesterday bade him stay his hand. The other underlying method that has prompted this rebuke is his too evident design to seize upon the Presidential nomination of his party two years hence. That the people of New York and the East will not have. If in the West, where confidence in his sincerity has been sorely shaken, he still maintains something of his old footing, that nevertheless, will not save him from another defeat two years hence. The Taft administration must be strongly incapable if, after this demonstration, it fails to head beyond his reach what remains of Republicanism in the South.

"Against the South and East he can hardly win a majority of the convention in 1912, and if he should win, its judgment would be entered against him at the polls.

"He needs no sympathy. His well known character as a valiant fighter, his temper, and his disposition do not invite it. At least we hope that this crushing defeat will make of him a saner, a safer, and a wiser man, to the end that his admittedly great talents may not go to waste in embittered and lifelong resentment against a people who for good and sufficient reasons has put him aside."

THE Fortune Hunter With Fred Niblo And a Perfect Company

ALREADY THE MOST TALKED OF PLAY OF THIS GENERATION. SHORT CAREER HAS BEEN OF THE MOST PHENOMENAL. "THE FORTUNE HUNTER" HAS BROKEN ALL RECORDS, ATTRACTING THEATER-GOERS AND NON-THEATER-GOERS ALIKE.

2 Years in New York 1 Year in Chicago

BULLETIN: On Monday night at the Mason Opera House "The Fortune Hunter" presented for the first time in Los Angeles. This is to be a great big play, truly representing not only this city, but our suburban towns, for the occasion is one of pride, interest and acclaim. "The Fortune Hunter" tells a story of life of today, full of comedy, with a touch of pathos, but which underneath its cloak of humor is true. "The Fortune Hunter" draws to it lovers of all classes, creeds and sects, and then finds that he or she has its story and point. It is a wonderful play, with its power of entertaining, amusement and lasting moral teaching. President Taft saw the performance in Washington and was pleased that he could spend his pleasure in a letter to the author, in which he said: "Your play is typically American; it is the story of a comedy that the world would have loved, with a great work, drama and atmosphere, ideally AMERICAN." LOS ANGELES BEATS THE WORLD.

The United States Census report just issued gives to Los Angeles 319,198 population.

In thirty years this city has grown from a town of 11,183 to its present proportions.

		Population		Population	Gain
Chicago	1840	4,479	1870	306,695	302,216
St. Louis	1840	16,469	1870	310,864	294,359
San Francisco	1850	34,000	1880	233,950	199,950
Cincinnati	1820	9,602	1850	115,436	105,834

In the census of 1900 New York and Los Angeles were the only cities of 50,000 or more making a gain of 100 per cent.; and the present census shows a gain in Los Angeles of over 200 per cent., an increase which has not been equaled by any large city in the United States or in the world.

This rate of gain, if maintained during the next ten years, will give Los Angeles in 1920 a population of 1,008,624.

WHAT FARMER SAYS.

HALF MILLION IN FIVE YEARS AND MILLION BY NEXT CENSUS.

FIVE YEARS MORE will see Los Angeles a city of 500,000 population declared Bert L. Farmer, supervisor of census, when his figures of 319,118 were ratified in Washington and the report forwarded here yesterday evening.

"Our population has a cumulative effect. It increases more rapidly the greater the population becomes, for the simple reason that all who come out bring others in the future. Every newcomer is the vanguard for five others, in a period of three years, and for that reason, if no other, Los Angeles should reach the half million mark easily by 1915."

Farmer was highly elated when the report reached here. "We are the only city that has not had to change the report sent in after the census had been collected. Not a single city of any size on the Pacific Coast but what has had to clip off from the original figures sent to the Census Bureau in Washington. In the case of Tacoma, the figures were exaggerated by 50,000, while in other places there was some padding reported," said Farmer.

"My first report to the bureau contained the figure 319,181. A second checking-up showed that there were seventeen more persons than in the first count, and so these seventeen were added to the original forwarded figures and the total remains exactly as we figured it.

"The spirit of boost that has prevailed here in the past must continue in the future. Nothing should interfere in the development of this into the greatest town without a single exception on the Pacific Coast. A number of our Coast cities in the past six months have shown retrogression as far as population is concerned. It would probably be unfair to mention them and point a finger of derision at their untimely backward movement for the simple reason that no cities on this coast will go back very far. With the influx yearly of thousands of settlers, they will all progress and increase in size. They cannot expect to rival Los Angeles, with its magnificent climate, its strategic commercial position, which makes tributary all of Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, and the great and fast-developing northwest of old Mexico.

"The opening of the Panama Canal will see 500,000 population here, and by the time the next census is in order, Los Angeles may be able to boast 1,000,000 inhabitants.

"The pull-together spirit that has made us great in the past should and will increase our greatness in the future."

FRESNO COUNTY.

DREW IS BEATEN BY CARTWRIGHT.

PERSONALITIES EMBITTERED THE CONFLICT.

Successful "Insurgent Democrat" Is Pledged To Vote for Weeks as United States Senator—Sharp Contest for the Sheriff's Office Ends in Victory for McSwain.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator George W. Cartwright is returned to Sacramento for a second term over Assemblyman A. M. Drew, by a majority of about 1500. The fight between the men was embittered by personalities, born of previous conflicts at the State capital, and Drew's defeat in a Republican county is due to the nature of the conflict rather than to any issues raised. Senator Cartwright early in the campaign declared himself an "Insurgent Democrat" to offset any strength which Drew might have as an insurgent Republican, and pledged himself to vote for Weeks for United States Senator, the latter having polled a big majority in this county in the August primaries.

Fresno county will be represented in the Assembly by two Republicans, W. F. Chandler having defeated Gallaher in the Sixtieth and W. A. Sutherland beating S. L. Strother in the fight for Drew's seat in the Sixty-first.

On the county ticket, this year's contest was largely an "era of good feeling" many of the candidates having won nominations from both parties in the primaries and so having no fight on their hands. The places in which there were contests mostly went by majorities of 1000 or more. The only sharp contest was for Sheriff, in which McSwain defeated Al Mason by about 1500.

FRESNO FIGURES.

FEW PRECINCTS LACKING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following are the fullest figures obtainable for Fresno county tonight, the few precincts lacking not being available until tomorrow: Total number of precincts 111—Governor, Johnson 6005, Bell 5295, majority 710, on 105 precincts.

SMITH MAKES GOOD.

RESULTS FROM BAKERSFIELD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

F. H. Hall, Democrat, is elected Assemblyman over A. E. Becker, by a good majority. J. W. P. Laird, Democrat, is defeated by E. O. Larkins for the State Senate.

The contest between Smith and Irving for member of Congress in the Eighth District, is close in this county, but Smith will have a plurality of 5000 or upward in the district.

Partial returns from San Bernardino, Santa Barbara, Orange, Ventura, Imperial, Tulare and Kern counties, give Smith 16,452; Irving, 12,145. A dispatch from Riverside says Smith will carry that county by 1000 votes.

BELL CLOSE BEHIND.

SCARES JOHNSON IN FRESNO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fresno county gives, in 106 precincts, Johnson, 6,143; Bell, 5,409. 103 precincts give Wallace 5,433; Spellacy, 5,162.

For Congress, 106 precincts give Needham, Republican, 5792; Cowell, Democrat, 5012. 102 precincts give for Secretary of State: Jordan, Republican, 5865; Bayley, Democrat, 4294. For State Treasurer, Williams, 6400; Malone, Democrat, 3894. For Railroad Commissioner, Third district, J. M. Eshleman, Republican, 5838; W. C. Wall, Democrat, 4268. For State Senator, A. M. Drew, Republican, 4874; G. W. Cartwright, Democrat, 4300. For Assemblyman, Sixtieth district: W. F. Chandler, Republican, 3131; M. G. Gallagher, Democrat, 2572.

HAVE "SNAKE KILLIN'" TIME.

Two Boys, Who Slay 200 Rattlers, Find Canyon Still Full of Reptiles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALTURAS, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two young boys, sons of W. S. Chambers of Clovervale, twenty miles east of here, had a thrilling fight with rattlesnakes in Pitt River Canyon and escaped safely after killing 200 of the reptiles. The boys were hunting squirrels when they noticed a number of rattlers among the rocks. Being unafraid, they attacked these, but found the rocks were fairly alive with them, and for an hour they fought with rocks and sticks, slaying them by scores. Finding the number undiminished they then retreated. The father of the boys will use dynamite in the canyon to destroy the reptiles.

CENSUS.

This puts Los Angeles well toward the head of the list, making it probably seventeenth in size among the cities of the United States. At present it is sixteenth.

It is likely that when the figures are all in, it will be found that it is exceeded in population only by New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston, Cleveland, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Newark, New Orleans, Washington and San Francisco.

SOME BIG CITIES.

The populations of the cities so far reported having a population in excess of 100,000 is as follows:

SMALL PERCENTAGES.

The percentage of growth during the past ten years by other western cities having over 25,000 in 1900, was as follows: Chicago, 28.7; Detroit, 63; Kansas City, 51.7; Milwaukee, 31; New Orleans, 18.1; Omaha, 21; St. Paul, 31.7; St. Louis, 19.4; Little Rock, 19.9; Sacramento, 52.6; Saginaw, 19.3; San Antonio, 81.2; Sioux City, 44.4.

The growth Los Angeles made during the decade ending 1900, from 50,395 to 102,479, or 103.4 per cent., was considered remarkable then, but it was nothing compared to its progress since and the way it is still forging ahead makes even a booster pause before venturing to predict what the next ten years will show.

SEATTLE BOASTED OF ITS GROWTH TOO SOON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The census returns for Los Angeles given out tonight by the census bureau gives that city a population in 1910 of 319,189, and allow it to easily maintain its place as the second city beyond the Rockies.

Ten years ago Los Angeles had a population of only 102,479, which shows that during the last decade it has increased by 216,710 people, or 211.5 per cent. This is the largest percentage of increase shown by any big city of the country. Twenty years ago the California town only had 50,395, the increase between 1890 and 1900 being 52,084, or 103.4 per cent.

Enthusiastic Seattle people have claimed that the Washington city would distance Los Angeles in the population race and occupy the second position among the West Coast cities but it is apparent that they miscalculated upon the rate of Los Angeles's growth.

The 1910 returns for Seattle have not been announced but it is practically certain that they will not show a greater total than that of the California city.

DOCTORS SAID INCURABLE— RELIEVED BY PE-RU-NA.

Robust and Strong—Splendid Appetite.

Mrs. E. West, 137 Main St., Menasha, Wis., writes:

"We have used Peruna in our family for a number of years and when I say that it is a fine medicine for catarrh and colds, I know what I am talking about.

"I have taken it every Spring and Fall for four years, and I find that it keeps me robust, strong, with splendid appetite, and free from any illness.

"A few years ago it cured me of catarrh of the stomach, which the doctors had pronounced incurable.

"I am very much pleased with Peruna."

BOWELS AND STOMACH.

Miss Mary Jones, 7918 Reynolds Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I can recommend Peruna as a good medicine for chronic catarrh of the bowels and stomach. I have been troubled severely with it for over three years.

"One year ago I began to take Peruna, the wonderful tonic for women, and I noticed a wonderful improvement at once. I took six bottles in succession, and I always have it on hand to take some now and then when my cough is bad.

"Words cannot express my praise for your tonic. I weighed only ninety pounds before taking Peruna, now one hundred nineteen pounds."

CATARRH OF INTERNAL ORGANS.

Mrs. B. H. Jackson, R. F. D. 5, Newman, Ga., writes: "I have had catarrh of the internal organs for more than a year. I tried other medicine without any benefit.

"I was persuaded to give Peruna a trial, and the first bottle proved a godsend, and after taking ten bottles I have received a permanent cure."

The World's Best Medicine

MRS. JENNIE GARDNER.

There is no time in the life of man or woman when Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey will not help. Mrs. Jennie Gardner, one of our patients, is passing through woman's most critical period and she is enjoying the best of health.

In her letter she says: "With pleasure I allow my name and testimony to be used for the benefit of those who know not the merits of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I think it is the best medicine in existence. I am now passing through the most critical period of women's life (the menopause or change of life). I am enjoying good health, better than for years, and all through this wonderful change have suffered comparatively no inconvenience at all. This is remarkable, but nevertheless it is true. I could not do without Duffy's Malt. I expect to use it all my life." Mrs. Jennie Gardner, Monett, Mo.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

It is one of the greatest strength builders and tonic stimulants known to science. Its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach. It improves the digestion and assimilation of the food and gives tone and vitality to every organ in the body. It has been used with remarkable results in the prevention and cure of consumption, pneumonia, grip, coughs, colds, asthma, low fevers, stomach troubles and all wasting and diseased conditions. Recognized as a family medicine and prescribed by physicians everywhere.

CAUTION—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It is an absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey and is sold IN SEALED BOTTLES ONLY—never in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Price $1.00 a large bottle. RAILROAD RECORD.

UNEASY OVER RATE ATTITUDE.

Commission's Rulings Awaited Over the Sea.

British Investors Indorse McCrea's Views.

Roads' Foreign Credit Hangs in the Balance.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Growing interest in the freight rate inquiry by the American Interstate Commerce Commission is manifest throughout British financial circles and undoubtedly some uneasiness is beginning to be felt lest the policy of the American government injure the railways so as to render their securities much less attractive to European investors.

Clarence L. Graff, partner in charge of the London and Paris banking houses of Raymond, Pynchon & Co., said this morning: "Railroad President James McCrea's views as stated to the commission are heartily indorsed by both British and continental financiers. It is generally realized that no better field exists for investments than American railroad securities, subject to the safeguards that surround them.

DEEPLY CONCERNED.

"Naturally, the railroad managers view with deep concern the effect of the commission's action on their foreign credit. For years to come, with the country growing as rapidly as it grows now, our railroads must be borrowers of capital."

"From this standpoint of the foreign investor it is essential that the roads be permitted to earn enough to yield fair returns to the shareholders and provide a surplus sufficient to cover improvements and extensions and a safe margin for interest charges on the issues of new securities from time to time.

"As the commission has never rendered a decision ultimately disadvantageous to the railroads, the result of the present inquiry is awaited here with confidence. It is hard to believe that the weighty words of Mr. McCrea can fail to be attractively considered."

DISASTROUS TO SECURITIES.

"If the comission refuses to permit a moderate increase in freight rates," said Ivy L. Lee, general manager in Europe for Harris, Winthrop Co., "foreign investors will believe that the American government intends to curtail railroad earnings to the point where they will have just sufficient to pay dividends on the capital of the companies."

Such action would be disastrous to American railway securities in Europe. Already the eager interest in these securities has received a cold douche as the result of the injunction obtained by the Attorney General of the United States in June against the proposed increase of railroad rates.

"It is especially important that there should be an increase of foreign confidence in our railway securities, because there is not enough money at home to meet the requirements of the expanding systems and because money, especially in France, is obtained more cheaply than in the United States."

PRINTERS WALK OUT.

Arizona Job Men Quit Phoenix Offices Which Refuse To Recognize Union Rules.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] This morning the printers and pressmen employed by the H. H. McNeil Company, The Phoenix Printing Company and The State Press Company, walked out, choosing an especially busy period for their action. The printers are said to have gone with reluctance, forced out by their own rules, for they had nothing to complain in the way of wages, hours or treatment.

The rock that caused the split was the refusal of the employers to recognize rules made by the local union of pressmen, which is affiliated with the Typographical Union. No support appears to have come from the book binders, who have formed a union here.

Local newspapers and job offices lately organized a protective association. Newspaper offices have not been affected by the trouble thus far. The employers of job printers state they have applications from seventy men for the twenty places vacated today.

FIGHTS ECKERT WILL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Charges that fraud and undue influence, induced Gen. Thomas T. Eckert, former head of the Western Union Telegraph Company, to bequeath the bulk of his $3,000,000 estate to his elder son, Thomas T. Eckert, Jr., are made by James C. Eckert, the younger son, in proceedings begun today to set aside the will. It is alleged that Gen. Eckert was of unsound mind when he drew up the document.

CALL TO VOTE BOND SALE.

Louisiana Legislature Will Elect United States Senator in Extra Session.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Louisiana Legislature will be convened in another extraordinary session before the close of the current month. This step has been decided upon to legalize the sale of $500,000 of sewerage and drainage bonds. Another purpose of the session will be the election of a United States Senator to succeed the late Samuel D. McEnery, so Louisiana will have full representation when the Panama Exposition comes up in December.

Democratic leaders have agreed that the extra session must be called. Some weeks ago the $7,000,000 sewerage and drainage bond issue failed to sell and the work stopped for lack of funds. The Mayor appointed a special committee to devise ways and means, which today advised an extra session to legalize the bond sale.

Non-complete returns today from Tuesday's election indicate that the two Panama Exposition tax amendments carried by at least 25,000 majority.

MISSES HOLD ON CAR RAIL, FALLS UNDER WHEELS.

Hollywood Citizen Loses Leg and Other Foot May Have To Be Amputated—Skull Is Fractured. Accident Happens as He Tries To Swing on Moving Coach.

Howard B. Cook of No. 428 Hillcrest Grove, Hollywood, missed his hold as he tried to get on a moving car on Sunset boulevard yesterday afternoon, was thrown under the trucks, and so severely injured that he may die. He was taken to the Sisters' Hospital where he was reported at a late hour last night to be sleeping.

Mr. Cook, Who is the purchasing agent for the Richards-Nedstadt Construction Company, No. 428 South Los Angeles street, with offices in the Wright and Callender Building, alighted from one car at the crossing of Sunset boulevard and Echo Park Road to transfer to Franklin avenue car No. 428, of the Los Angeles Pacific Company. The car had started before he got to it, and he tried to swing on the front platform. He was thrown and the rear wheels passed over him before the motorman could stop.

His right leg was cut off so that Dr. Edward T. Dillon, who attended him at the hospital, found it necessary to amputate the limb above the knee. The left foot was so badly crushed that it, too, may have to be taken off.

In addition to these injuries, Mr. Cook sustained a fracture of the skull, above the forehead and numerous cuts about the face and head. He lost a great deal of blood before he could be taken into the hospital, and his condition is considered critical.

REWARD FOR "SPOONERS."

Oakland Board Puts Lid on Cupid's Pranks When Park Policemen Fail.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Board of Public Works this morning offered a reward of $25 for the arrest and conviction of any person found "spooning" in the city parks. The same reward will be paid to any one causing the conviction of persons committing acts of vandalism in the parks or shooting holes through street signs.

According to Park Commissioner Edoff, who brought the matter to the attention of the board, the antics of Cupid in the parks have been nightly growing more annoying, and the policemen provided for the purpose of eliminating the evil have been unable to accomplish any notable results.

YOUNG METCALF DIES.

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) Nov. 9.—Victor Nicholson Metcalf, eldest son of Victor H. Metcalf, former Secretary of the Navy, died here today after an illness following an attack of pneumonia a year ago. He was born February 10, 1882, at Oakland, Cal., the family residence, whither the body will be taken Saturday for burial.

WOMAN WINS; FIGHT COMING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MARINETTE, (Wis.) Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A pretty scrap in the courts is probable as the result of the election of a woman as Register of Deeds of this county, Miss Adeline Pratt, deputy register for thirteen years, as an independent candidate, over Emery Galineau, the Republican candidate. Galineau says she cannot qualify for the office, though the Attorney General ruled that she could legally be a candidate, adding that the courts had not yet ruled on the question of whether a woman could qualify for the office.

TRIES TO RESCUE HUSBAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHRISMAN (Ill.) Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. A. J. Jarred of Chrisman was arrested today because last night she tried to release her husband from the town jail by chipping off the padlock of the outer door. The town marshal came upon her when she had almost succeeded and was telling her husband, who had been arrested for election-day drunkenness, "to come on home." Mrs. Jarred denied that she had tried to release her husband, but Marshal Cummins testified that when he came up she hid the hatchet in the folds of her dress.

ARRESTED, HUNTING PARSON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "We were on our way to be married, Judge, when we were arrested," said William Jesse Coughlin, a miner of Carbondale, Ill., when he was arraigned with Mrs. Burt Russel of St. Louis, before Municipal Judge Bruggemeyer today, charged with disorderly conduct. "Both of us were strangers here and we didn't know the city. Mrs. Russel had been drinking a little too much and I guess we were both talking a little too loud," Coughlin continued. "We had no intention of disturbing the peace." The court dismissed the charges of disorderly conduct with a warning to the pair to be more careful in the future.

BELLIGERENT ART.

THE BEVANIS' CIVIL BATTLE.

Opera Management Splits on Rock of Prosperity.

Manager Bernard and Proprietor Bevani Go at It.

Borax Smith's Son-in-Law Said To Be "Angel."

That the ways of art are devious, was shown yesterday, when the forces controlling the Bevani Opera Company split asunder with the violence of a volcanic eruption, making charges and counter-charges which threaten to become legal matters today.

K. L. Bernard, general promoter, who has acted as sponsor and advance agent of the opera company, is no longer connected with the organization in any way. He alleges that after putting the company upon a paying basis he was summarily dropped—in order that others might reap the profits.

Alexander Bevani, general manager of the music-drama institution bearing his name, states that Bernard was never employed in any other capacity than that of hired advance man; that his work proved grossly unsatisfactory and that he was dismissed.

Bernard is a promoter of some repute, and is here resident at the Alexandria hotel.

Bernard stated last night that he had placed his case in the hands of attorneys, who recommended that he ask, today, for a receivership for the Bevani Opera Company.

"I prefer that L. E. Behymer should be the receiver," said Mr. Bernard last evening; "for my part, I am convinced of Mr. Behymer's candor and fairness, and believe that because of his acquaintance with both sides of the case he will be better qualified than any one else."

"BORAX" SMITH'S SON-IN-LAW.

Back of the mix-up, and in fact back of the opera company, is an unusual story, according to Bernard's account.

E. P. Miller, husband of "Borax" Smith's adopted daughter, is alleged to have interested himself in the company at its beginning.

Bernard says he told him that he would provide it with all the capital it would need. So Bernard went to New York, got bookings, and came to Los Angeles. The company was organized in San Francisco.

Then he didn't get any money from Borax Smith's son-in-law.

So, still according to his account, he put up money of his own to do the advence work here and in San Diego, and also to buy off the "Arizona" company, which had a date in the Auditorium at that time.

Bernard says that when a corporation was made, he was to receive a one-fifth interest, and an accounting for his money spent in advance.

But they made money in Los Angeles. The public has flocked to the opera, for it has been extraordinarily good opera at the price. Bernard says it was the first time they ever did make money.

A NEW CORPORATION.

Last Monday, or Sunday, the articles of incorporation were drawn up.

Bernard's bookings were made for "The Bevani Opera Company."

The new corporation is known as "The Bevani Grand Opera Company."

Bernard was informed that his relations with the organization had not been pleasant, that he had said things concerning it which were not at all friendly, and that he could simply consider his relations severed. They disclaimed owing him money.

Bernard feels that it is a case of the ungrateful child abusing its parent.

"I am a promoter," he said last night at the Alexandria. "I don't know very much about grand opera, but I have been interested in the amusement game generally, and I determined to make this company a success.

"Arriving here, I wrote personal letters, I visited the leading Italians, I put myself in the way of music-lovers, I saw to it that all theater-goers were informed of our coming. I didn't attempt to go into artistic detail. I just told them that we had the goods, and that we would deliver them.

"When Bevani began to make money, he wanted it all himself, and accordingly he threw me out—after I had done my proselyting and had gotten him his hearing here and his bookings elsewhere.

"I have letters to prove my statements, and I demand and believe I shall receive an accounting. At the end of this engagement they will owe me $1500, which I mean to have.

BROKE, HE SAYS.

"Money? Why, they had no money! They found a kind heart in the Santa Fe offices who would trust them, and they came into town that way, seventy-six strong, owing for their transportation, which I am told they have thirty days to pay up.

"Why should they come that way otherwise, when railroad fare is over $19, and water transportation but $10—to San Diego, where I arranged preliminary dates."

BEVANI'S STATEMENT.

Alexander Bevani said last night that Bernard's statements were a mass of falsehoods designed to injure him.

"In an evil moment I employed this man," says Bevani, "and I have found him utterly worthless as far as our purposes are concerned, for he knows nothing of grand opera, and has been a hindrance rather than a help.

"I attribute my success here to none of his efforts, but to the excellence of our company, and the valiant personal endeavor of our artists.

"I incorporated, and I left him out, because I considered him a fifth wheel—a dead issue. I also informed him that we no longer needed his services as advance agent.

"Now that the company has 'arrived,' he thinks he has lost a good thing, and he is jealous, that's all. I welcome any legal action Bernard may bring, for it will show the public the true facts."

BERNARD HAS CONTRACTS.

Meanwhile, Bernard has the John Cort contracts, made out in his name, and booking the company until March, 1911.

STILL UNDER EMBARGO.

Police Board Refuses Applications for Restaurant Liquor Licenses in Rooms Adjoining Saloons.

Restaurant liquor licenses in rooms adjoining saloons are still under embargo, according to the action of the Police Commission last night, when three applicants were refused permits. The applicants were told that "ey might bring their re uest up later, and this led one of them to ask the Mayor how an applicant will know when to renew his request.

"Keep on trying," said the Mayor.

This was too indefinite, and the applicant pressed for further information. The Mayor told him it was the policy not to issue licenses adjacent to saloons, and that this is likely to be followed in the future.

The charges against A. J. Barnes, proprietor of the Rainier cafe adjoining the Rainier bar, No. 139 1-2 South Broadway, were sustained by the Commission and Barnes' permit suspended until December 1. This action was accompanied by notice to Barnes to dispose of his cafe. The charges against Patrolman L. A. Blaisdell, growing out of the ones against Barnes, were dismissed and Blaisdell restored to duty. Barnes accused him of accepting meals without compensation.

A bill of $79 from the Nick Harris Detective Agency for services investigating the liquor selling at the Marathon Club, No. 326 1-2 North Main street, was indignantly filed by vote of the Mayor and two commissioners, and against the protest of Topham and Wellborn. Harris, the Commission thought, regarded his employment as a Marathon race with Chief Galloway's secret service fund. The Chief said he had not employed Harris, and Harris said Prosecutor Eddie had told him the Chief said "it would be all right." The Commission decided not to ask Eddie about the transaction, but leave settlement between him and Harris. The claim was a revelation as to how the secret service funds are expended, and it called forth a demand from Topham for an accounting from Chief Galloway of the large sum he has available every month.

THEATRICAL.

TORTAJADA, THE MIMIC DANCER.

THE ANDALUSIAN PANTOMIMIST BRINGS OUT REAL PLAYS.

Her Terpsichorean Portrayals Are Declared Temperamental and Elemental—"Faust" and "Marta" Performed at the Opera—Incidental News Mention.

Dancing, in other days, used to be just dancing—waltz, schottische and the like being the variant forms of one art. But in this time of specialization, particularly as applied to vaudeville—and perhaps born of the demands of the vaudeville stage—dancing is as varied in form and in method as is music. In fact, dancing now largely becomes a matter of music, since terpsichorean emotions serve to interpret such things as the Spring Song, the Grieg songs, etc. But in fact, dancing is divisible into two distinct classes—step and pantomimic.

Of late, the latter has obtained the most notice, because, possibly it is less familiar. On the Orpheum stage, however, where catholicity reigns, we have recently had examples of all these forms of dance expression except the purely pantomimic, and that comes next week. The Four Fords, possibly the first of all step dancers, were here recently, and their exhibit of skill in foot work was admirable. Rock and Fulton, who have combined in a degree pantomime with song and dance, are still step dancers in the last analysis, though their "Dance with the Devil" is as purely pantomimic, for all its steps, as is anything extant. But La Tortajada, who comes there next week, is a pantomime artiste exclusively, and her entire act is simply the expression in the dance of the emotions required to tell a set story, which the audience is told beforehand.

Tortajada si a large, voluptuous woman, distinctly Spanish, and with the fire, the abandon, and even the spice, of the Andalusian. Her little act requires some four characters, all of which she assumes, by means of quick changes of costume, she impersonating both men and women. As its title, "Tale of a Toreador" indicates, it doesn't lack those elements of passion which so largely enter into the Spanish temperament; in fact, it has the fiery side prominently brought out. It tells of the wooing of a girl by a Toreador, his discovery of his wife, his escape disguised as a bootblack, and her final conclusion that he is not worth the worry, and then her entree into the life of a Spanish girl at a music hall, where she ends her act in a whirl of emotional vividness.

"Marta," featuring the prettiest chorus imaginable, was the Bevani bill at the Auditorium yesterday afternoon. No daintier sight has been seen on a local stage in many a day than the bevy of young singers in light frocks of the eighteenth century, tripping and carioling to Flotow's quaint and old-fashioned music.

Sacchetti, Alberti and Mme. Francini were entirely agreeble in the pricipal roles.

In the evening Canpana's great baritone rang out in "Dio Possente." "Faust" was the bill. Battain had the title-part. Frery was the Marguerite, and Margaret Jarman a very delightful Siebel, while Mr. Bevani was the Mephisto.

"The Fortune Hunter" is quite a colony of California actors who have attained unusual success in the metropolis. That fine comedian, Frank Bacon, who has made New York laugh as he was wont to do the cities on the coast, is accompanied by Alma Belwin, a beautiful Native Daughter, who plays the leading feminine part. A few days before the company started on its western trip, another Californian was added to the cast, in the person of Thomas Heffron, who has been with the Cohan & Harris management for the past year. Recently Mr. Heffron appeared in the New York production of "The Member from Ozark," and achieved a great success; so much of a success, in fact, that the papers, who found occasion to take exception to the play, discovered plenty of opportunity to praise Mr. Heffron for his artistic work in a leading character. When last week Messrs. Cohan & Harris decided to withdraw the play they immediately placed Mr. Heffron with "The Fortune Hunter" as a reward and appreciation of his work in the other play. Mr. Heffron was raised in San Francisco, and is a graduate of Santa Clara College. As a young man, for a number of years he was with the Southern Pacific Company in Sacramento, where he was largely identified with the social element. Three years ago he toured the coast as one of the leading support with Creston Clark, and received recognition for good work.

Monday afternoon Sullivan and Considine will send to the Los Angeles a big bill of eight acts, which is two more acts than is usually found on the Los Angeles programme. The next week's bill will have for its features Hayden, Bordern and Hayden, Daniel Sullivan and Company, Lancaster, Hayward and Lancaster, and Will Lacey, perhaps the world's greatest cyclists.

Seat sales will be on today—at the Mason box-office—for "The Fortune Hunter," opening Monday night, and at the Hamburger Majestic for "The City," opening Sunday night.

George M. Cohan announced the other day in New York, that he was so highly elated over the success of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," his dramatization of George Randolph Chester's stories, that he would abandon the musical comedy field altogether in the future, and devote himself entirely to straight comedy and perhaps serious drama. His last musical comedy was "The Yankee Prince," which is now being given its first stock presentation at the Burbank and it is unquestionably a great deal more original musically, than any other of his musical plays. But in his new piece, "The Little Chauffeur," which he is preparing for his own company, he has decided to eliminate the musical numbers altogether, as proof of the sincerity of his declaration that he will write no more musical comedy.

"Clyde Fitch, author of 'The City,' was an indefatigable worker," said an actor who has appeared in many of the Fitch plays. "When he had a play on the stocks he would labor over it day and night, often scarcely pausing for his meals and getting very little sleep. Consequently, his health suffered. He would labor until on the verge of a nervous breakdown and then his physician would step in and force him to knock off.

"During one of these periods of enforced idleness he was lounging in the Players' Club, New York, one day, when Harry B. Smith, the prolific comic-opera librettist, strolled in.

"'What are you doing now?' asked Smith.

"'I'm in my doctor's hands,' replied Fitch. 'He tells me I'm in a bad way and has absolutely forbidden me to do any brain work.'

"'That's tough,' said Smith. 'How do you manage to put in the time?'

"'Oh, I'm writing the libretto of a musical comedy,' replied Fitch, with one of his cynical smiles."

"Ye Olde Folkes Concert" will be given at Plymouth Congregational Church, corner of Twenty-first street and Lovelace avenue, at 8 o'clock this evening. The programmes are quaint models of early colonist type and printing, and the list of numbers contains a variety of novel features.

Alphonse Leduc of Paris, has just published a romance for violin and piano, by Jean de Chauvenet. The work shows thematic originality and the treatment of a skilled hand in the arrangement.

BODY FOUND IN MANHOLE.

SPOKANE (Wash.) Nov. 9.—The body of R. H. Patterson, a young carpenter, was found at the bottom of a sewer manhole at Pacific avenue and Division street early today. Indications are that the man was murdered for $100 which he was known to have had last night. Patterson's head was badly cut. One theory is that after a struggle he was knocked on the head, robbed, dragged across the street and thrown into the manhole. His hat and a garter were found just across Pacific avenue.

AMENDMENTS—ACTS.

SEVERAL MEET WITH DISFAVOR.

STATE HIGHWAYS, INDIA BASIN AND OTHERS LOST HERE.

Vote in Los Angeles County Appears Favorable to Legislation Necessary for Panama-Pacific International Exposition, and to Act for San Francisco Harbor.

Four constitutional amendments and propositions met with the disfavor of the voters in this city. The proposed acts relating to State highways, the India Basin and the San Diego seawall were lost in the shuffle. This city also voted against amendment No. 1, relating to the separation of State and local taxation and providing for the taxation of public service and other corporations for the benefit of the State.

The indications from the returns last night were that this section was favorable to the act for improving San Francisco harbor, although it appeared that the vote was close.

All of the other amendments appeared to have pulled through so far as this city was concerned.

The ballots made it apparent that many persons were not familiar with any of the propositions, as a large number voted against all of them.

The proposed legislation necessary for the Panama-Pacific International Exposition was regarded in a favorable light by the voters.

SAN BERNARDINO.

ALL SAVE ONE REPUBLICANS.

COUNTY RECORDER JOHNSON IS UNLUCKY MAN.

He Falls Before Systematic Attack—Prof. McPherron Beats Emma Jackson in Race for Superintendent of Schools but Only by One Hundred Votes.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The election just closed was probably the most unique in the history of the county. The indications of a Democratic landslide which confronted the county during the first few hours of the count, changed to reduced majorities when the results were known, and those candidates on the Republican ticket supposed to be the most popular felt the force of Democratic tendencies more severely than others, while Democrats supposed by veterans at the game as certain of election appeared to have been picked for the heaviest attack. Until noon today the fate of three Republican candidates on the county ticket was still in doubt, and not until late this afternoon was it positively known that the Republicans had safely landed all but one candidate, County Recorder Frank Johnson, who fell before the systematic organization which had been perfected in the interest of his Democratic opponent, Harry Allison.

The uncertainties and reduced majorities are freely attributed to the desperate efforts of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, but despite the avowed intentions of certain elements in the league to knife the Republican ticket, the very candidates selected by the league for particular attention were those who piled up feature majorities. The closest race on the ticket was between A. S. McPherron, Republican, and Emma M. Jackson, for the office of County Superintendent of Schools, Prof. McPherron carrying the county by less than 100 majority. Complete totals, lacking two small desert precincts, on the principal State ticket are: For Governor, Johnson 4100, Bell 3601; Lieutenant-Governor, Wallace 4181, Spellacy 3294; Congress, Smith 4573, Irving 2638. Other results for eighty-six precincts are:

County ticket: Sheriff, J. C. Ralphs (Rep.) 4405, George Miller (Dem.) 2541; District Attorney, R. B. Goodcell (Rep.) 4199, T. W. Duckworth (Dem.) 3021; County Clerk, Charles Post (Rep.) 4607, M. W. H. Williams (Dem.) 2321; Auditor, C. D. Van Wie (Rep.) 4507, Thomas Nesbit (Dem.) 2431; Treasurer, H. D. Sibley (Rep.) 4590; J. H. Cox (Dem.) 3336; Tax Collector, L. A. Desmond (Rep.) 4640, F. P. Meserve 2321; Recorder, J. F. Johnson (Rep.) 3415, Emma L. Jackson 3333; Coroner, E. P. Fuller (Rep.) 4187, Dr. J. R. Liverman (Dem.) 2752; Surveyor, Shirley Bright (Rep.) 4284, W. L. Brown (Dem.) 2714; Supervisor, Second District, E. W. Reid (Rep.) 1112; Supervisor, Second District, A. H. Skinner (Dem.) 575; Supervisor, Fourth District, Sam Pine (Rep.) 766; Supervisor, Fourth District, Joe Catick (Dem.) 600.

CARRIES RIVERSIDE.

JOHNSON LOSES OUTSIDE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Riverside county gives Johnson for Governor a plurality of 1109 over Bell, according to returns received from 58 out of 63 precincts. The vote stands: Johnson, 2957, Bell 1848. Johnson carried every precinct in the city, but fell behind his opponent in fourteen of the outside precincts.

Vote for Lieutenant-Governor stands: Wallace, 3028, Spellacy, 1582.

For Congress, Smith received 2273 and Irving 1264. In the city of Riverside, the figures are: Smith 1416, Irving 571.

George R. Freeman, Republican candidate for Assemblyman, Seventy-eighth District, is elected by a large majority over Porteous, Democrat. The five precincts not yet reported are small and will not affect totals.

The hottest local fight of the campaign centered in the contest for Supervisor. Two Republicans and two Democratic Supervisors are elected, making the Board stand three Republicans and two Democrats. J. T. Hamner is elected on the Democratic ticket in the First Supervisorial District by a majority of ten; E. W. Holmes, Republican, is elected in the Second District by a majority of 272; J. A. Crane, Republican, has lead of 49 over Kimball in the Fourth District. Incumbent, John Shaver, Democrat, wins over Davidson by a plurality of 114 in the Fifth District.

REPUBLICANS WIN.

IMPERIAL RETURNS SLOW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL CENTRO, Nov. 9.—With seven out of nineteen precincts in Imperial county to hear from, the unofficial reports now stand: Johnson, 942; Bell, 685; Smith, Republican, for Congress Eighth District, 739; Irving, Democratic candidate for Congress Eighth District, 510. Messenger, Democratic candidate for Eightieth District Assemblyman, carried Imperial county by a majority of about 500 over Judson, Republican, but is beaten by the vote of San Diego county, which forms part of the Eightieth District.

Republican officials all elected with one exception, namely, Mobley Meadows, Democrat, who is elected sheriff. Two members of the present Board of Supervisors, McHarg and Clark, are returned. Vote counting progressed very slowly and ballots were being counted up to 6 o'clock tonight.

JOHNSON FALLS BEHIND.

RESULTS IN SANTA ANA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA AN, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Running over 400 behind other State candidates, Hiram Johnson, in this county, received 3026 votes to 2690 for Bell, 466 for Wilson and 259 for Meads, giving Johnson a plurality of 336. Wallace, for Lieutenant Governor, also ran behind other Republican State nominees. The vote was: Wallace 3077, Spellacy 2365, Wheeler 445, Atwood 234. Several precincts for the first time in years went Republican on the head of the ticket.

Bell got 768 more votes than any other Democrat on the State ticket, Spellacy excepted. Before election Johnson leaders here counted on 1500 to 1800 plurality for their candidate.

S. C. Smith, Republican for Congress, got 3279 votes to 1820 cast for W. G. Irving, Democrat.

Out of about 8500 votes cast, the registration being 8140, but 606 found the Independent column to vote for Appellate Judge for the unexpired term. The vote on that office stands: N. P. Conrey, 311; W. P. James, 495; Clyde Bishop, Republican defeated S. H. Finley, Democrat, by 3079 to 1820.

The Republicans will hold every office in the courthouse but three, namely: Treasurer, J. C. Joplin, and two Supervisors, D. S. Lineburger, of Fullerton, and Jasper Lack, of Tustin, which were taken by the Democrats. L. A. West, Republican, defeated H. C. Head by thirty-three votes.

Theodore Lacy, who has been Sheriff for sixteen years, was defeated by C. E. Ruddock by a vote of 3037 to 2881.

JOHNSON FIGURES SURPRISE FOR SOUTHERN LEADERS.

Socialist Vote for Wilson for Governor Heavier in the Country Precincts Than in the City—Spellacy Ran Ahead of Bell—Small Precincts Still Missing.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With a majority of 1800 for Johnson over Bell the Republican victory in San Diego county was a complete surprise to the Republican leaders who had counted on less than 500. As predicted in the earlier dispatches the Socialist vote developed into unprecedented strength. The Socialist vote for Wilson for Governor in the country precincts was heavier than in the city. In the Congressional fight Garrett, a local man, ran second to Smith. With three country precincts missing, the vote is:

For Governor, Johnson 4457, Bell 2888, Wilson 1817; for Lieutenant-Govenor, Wallace 4313, Spellacy 2705; for Congress, Smith 4295, Irving 1571, Garrett 2506; for State Senator, Wright 4916, Hammond 2690.

The Republicans made a clean sweep of the county, electing candidates by majorities ranging from 1200 to 2500. With the smaller precincts reporting first last night the Republican leaders figured that Johnson would not have more than 250 over Bell. On account of the slow progress in counting the ballots the heavy city precincts did not finish until after midnight. It was then that the city vote showed immense gains for the Republican ticket.

The count of the entire city precincts was not completed until noon today. Remote sections of the county have not yet reported. On account of the distance of some of the polling places, which will prevent the returns from all being delivered for several days yet, the Board of Supervisors will not begin the canvass of votes until next Monday.

SPELLACY LOSES VOTES.

SMITH LEADS IN SAN DIEGO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Complete and partial returns from 74 out of 94 precincts in San Diego county show: Johnson, 4420; Bell, 3110; Wallace, 4108; Spellacy, 2668. For Congress: Smith, Republican, 4225; Irving, Democrat, 1628.

Garrett, the Socialist candidate for Congress, leads Irving by several hundred votes, but Smith has a clear majority over both, which the returns yet to be received will presumably increase to 1000.

Johnson's plurality is now estimated at 1800, which will be 650 more than Gillett's plurality four years ago.

An Honest Doctor
remarked to his patient who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after his efforts had failed, "Mrs. Weber, I do not believe in patent medicines, but I will say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine ever discovered for women. Continue to use it." This is another link in the long chain of evidence to prove the reliability of this standard medicine for women.

Why Salves Fail To Cure Eczema
Scientists are now agreed that the eczema germs are lodged not in the outer skin or epidermis, but in the inner skin. Hence, a penetrating liquid is required, not an outward salve that clogs the pores.
We recommend to all eczema patients the standard prescription Oil of Wintergreen as compounded in liquid form known as D. D. D. Prescription. A trial bottle of this D. D. D. Prescription, at only 25 cents, will instantly relieve the itch. We have sold and recommended this remedy for years, and know of wonderful cures from its use. We recommend it to our patrons.

SERENITY.

RACE DRIVERS ARE SATISFIED.

Protest Will Not Be Filed Against Winner.

Hamlin Believes Kissel Kar Won Race Fairly.

Much Interest in Contests Scheduled Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ralph Hamlin, winner of second place in the Los Angeles-Phoenix race, has decided to make no protest against the winner. He is satisfied that Harvey Herrick in the Kissel Kar touched each checking point and passed through every town mentioned in the rules. The Automobile Association of America is not to be asked to consider any "kicks" against the decision of Referee H. H. Stone. The Kissel wins.

There is the best of feeling among the automobile men, and C. L. Leppo, the Kissel man, is being congratulated and specially honored. The car looks fit, and is one of the favorites in its class at the races tomorrow afternoon. Herrick is in good shape and ready for another try. He has entirely recovered from the strain of the long 418-mile contest.

All is in readiness for the automobile track races on the Arizona Fair Grounds track, which promise to be the biggest events of the kind ever held in Arizona. Fast motor cars which have proven themselves over the roughest road and on the worst race course on earth are to be pitted against each other on the finest dirt track in the world.

Hamlin in the Franklin, winner of second place in the Los Angeles-Phoenix race, is picked as a likely winner in the big event. Among the high-power cars the Apperson also is a likely starter. The Kissel looks wonderfully fit, and has been washed, re-tired and is ready for work. The Abbott-Detroit is out at Vicksburg tonight, but an effort is to be made to bring the car in tomorrow morning in time for the track events. Robert Spiegel, the driver, is there with extra parts, and he will make the endeavor to get to the course in time for his race. He will start without anything having been done to the car here in Phoenix.

W. D. Tremaine, with the Pope-Hartford, is a strong favorite. The car looks to be a winner in its class with the new tires. It is fast and the motor sounds good. Tremaine placed in the desert race, and has $200 of the prize money. He may draw down another $500 tomorrow. He wishes Bert Dingley was here to handle the car in the track events. The Pope would then be an even stronger favorite.

L. M. Dull, who drove the Parry in the sand battle, is to try to redeem himself in the track events. He claims his car is fast enough to win, and the Parry looks good. With W. Horine, the Parry man from Los Angeles, the car is to be sent into the events with a dash that might bring it the victory. Horine is satisfied that he has a good chance.

Wheels have been changed, gears corrected and the speed of the machine raised. There is nothing in the rules to prevent this. The track is in perfect shape and easy for the cars.

E. Roger Stearns has changed the wheels of the Ford to four racing wheels shipped here from the factory. The car went sixty-two miles an hour on the road today, the fastest mileage ever made by a twenty-horse-power car on a road. Kulick, in a Ford, did a trifle better on a course, and Stearn's Ford should be able to move a trifle faster tomorrow.

C. H. Bigelow, with the Mercer, failed to get his new gears here in time. He must enter the track events with the car in the same shape as when it reached here in 19 hours, 3 minutes, the fourth place winner. It has a chance, but may be outclassed by the higher-geared cars on the track.

Fun for Crowd.

PHOENIX, Nov. 9.—Today might well have been termed Comedy Day at the Territorial Fair, though its official name was Elk's Day and Indian Day. There was a continuous performance of minor events, such as Indian races, freak races, foot races, Elk's parade and the major part of the large crowd present probably had the most fun of any fair day.

AVIATORS PRACTICING.

Walsh Makes Several Flights at Motordrome and Shows That He Is Ready.

Charles Walsh again made several successful flights with his biplane over the mud flats, south of the motordrome, yesterday afternoon. J. J. Slavin was slated to try out his machine, which is rigged with an automatic stability that the aviator thinks will solve one of the most difficult problems of aerial navigation, but was unable to bet his engine to work satisfactorily.

Walsh made it apparent yesterday that he is a master of his machine in the air by making four flights, getting off of the ground each time within a space of 200 feet and being able to travel in any position that he wished, although there was about a four-mile-an-hour wind blowing from the ocean. Walsh intended to make some long flights but was forced to come to earth after a few minutes flying in each attempt because of trouble with his engine.

Laskar Wins Game.

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—Dr. Emanuel Laskar, holder of the world's championship, beat C. S. Janowski, French champion, in the first game for the chess championship of the world, played at the Kerkau Palace in this city yesterday. The match is a contest of eight games up, draws not counting.

Rival of Weston.

W. W. Todd, 69 years old, of No. 600 West Vernon avenue, believes he has established a local record for a man of his age in a fast walk from Vernon avenue to Fifth and Spring streets, a distance of about six miles and a half by his route. His time was 1 hour, 15 minutes.

GEN. H. G. SHARPE, Commissary-General of the United States Army, has invented an "emergency ration" by means of which a day's food will comprise a package 4¾ inches long, less than 3 inches wide and 1¾ inches thick. Read all about it in The Times Magazine the coming Sunday.

NEW LEAGUE LAUNCHED.

Basketball Players Organize and Nine Teams Are To Play a Season of Twenty-two Weeks.

The Southern California Amateur Basketball League was organized last night and the following officers were elected: H. S. Ryerson, president; William Hart, secretary; Red Perkins, treasurer. The clubs in the league are the Monrovia Athletic Club, Pasadena Athletic Club, Los Angeles Armory, Los Angeles Cadets, Orange Athletic Club, Blair's Ponies, Spaldings, Thompson's of Pasadena and Recreation Centers of Los Angeles.

A guarantee of $10 has been put up by each team that it will finish the season and the money will be refunded to each team if it finishes. The season is to begin January 1 and is scheduled to continue for twenty-two weeks.

TOO MUCH CLASS.

VERNON BEATS STARS EASILY.

RALEIGH HOLDS DILLON'S MEN TO ONE RUN.

Castleton Heaves Fair Game but Is Given Poor Support, the Team Behind Him Making Four Errors. Big Leaguers Do Not Surprise Fans With Their Efforts.

The Vernons showed yesterday that the addition of a lot of big league stars to the Los Angeles team cuts no ice as far as losing games is concerned, for Hap's men beat the Angel-Star bunch yesterday, 4 to 1, in a fast and snappy game at Chutes Park.

About 1000 fans saw the game and got the worth of the money, for it was seen that the men the big leaguers have taken are apparently no better than the ones left behind. Raleigh flung the ball for Vernon and neither Cravath, Breen, Ellis or Bill Gill established any new records in knocking it around, the four making but three hits in the game. Castleton pitched for Los Angeles.

A hit by pitcher, an out at first, Gill's juggle of a grounder, a double steal by Carlisle and Ross and a scratch single by Coy, made two runs for Vernon in the first inning and three singles and an error by Breen made two in the ninth. Two singles, an out and a sacrifice fly accounted for the Los Angeles run.

Although the Angels made four errors, the fans saw some pretty fielding and altogether the game was just as good as the ordinary Coast League contest. There is no reason why it should not have been for nine-tenths of the players are league men and like baseball too well to toss off a game.

In the eighth inning, Breen made a beautiful assist to first base of Hosp's grounder, back of third base, and in the last half of that inning Lindsay did an equally classy piece of work in fielding Grindle's grounder to first. Bernard also shone in throwing out Fisher at the plate for a double play in the ninth inning.

The teams will play all week at the Chutes grounds, with a morning game at the Vernon grounds on Sunday.

Dozen Orders Meet in Annual Session in Honor of Territorial Festivities—Top Liner in Race Programme Proves To Be Copper Stake, Taken by Durfee Entry.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Supplemental to the Arizona Territorial Fair, the week has been featured by about a dozen conventions. Added to a session of the Territorial Supreme Court the Grand Pythian Lodge and a joint school institute, meetings are being held of the Territorial organizations of attorneys, Board of Trade, cattlemen, bankers, druggists, undertakers, doctors, dentists, postmasters and firemen.

The programme at the fair today was much on the order of a county fair, with the moral feature of several thousand Indians admitted free and participating in the track and athletic events.

The head-liner racing feature was the $3000 Copper Stake pace, won by Happy Dentist of the Durfee stable.

JACK CARSON'S CHANCE.

A Strange Meeting in the Heart of the Desert.

[By a Special Contributor.]

The red fires of the west were deepening into purple when Carson swung out of his saddle before the door of the Last Notch.

To a man who, since sunrise, had ridden under the white glare of an August sky, with only his thoughts and his horse for company, the shadowy coolness of the roadhouse was very pleasant. It was one of those long, low, rambling buildings one runs on to occasionally on the desert, the main part of the house of sod, baked and crumbling under many years of scorching sun. Across the front had been added a veranda of rough timber, a lounging place for men of all conditions. It was here that the creaking stages stopped to change horses, here that rough miners rested on their way across that pathless waste of sand which lures so many to death and now and then a very few to sudden fortune. Sometimes, in the earlier days, a horsethief or highwayman had been swung from these same rafters, according to the swift, primitive, unargumentative code of the desert justice. Once an Indian maiden known as Potklanta, Yellow Cactus Flower, had ridden miles through the pitch-black night to warn them that her tribe, the savage Yaquis, were plotting to massacre them at daybreak. Arms had been quickly mustered, and during the terrible conflict that had ensued, Yellow Cactus Flower, for love of the innkeeper's son had herself turned a musket against the barbarous redskins. That evening the pair had been wed, and the little half-breeds playing about the dooryard now were the grandchildren of Yellow Cactus Flower.

Several men, fierce-whiskered, clad in the rough corduroys of the plain, moved aside as Carson entered and called for supper. One, Chick McGuire, thrust out a bronzed paw in greeting.

"Have a see-gar, Carson," he urged, and take somethin' with us. Haven't seen you here much lately."

But Carson shook his head; he could only stop for a bite of supper; after that he must be off. No, he couldn't even have a game.

Curious eyes were turned toward Carson as he sat at the rough table, rapidly stowing away his generous portions of frijoles and coffee. He was a noticeable figure even for this part of the world, where the unusual is the usual. His clothes were rough, in keeping with his surroundings, but the blue flannel shirt, open at the throat, disclosed a neck sunburned, powerful, like a bronzed column. A heavy growth of beard could not conceal the virile strength of the chin. Despite the almost dogged hardness of the jaw, the face was kindly; despite the lines that told of battles fought with Life, the mouth had a boyish sweetness about it. But clean cut and noble as were the features, the most wonderful thing about Jack Carson's face was the eyes. Clear, cool, unflinching, intensely blue, deep-set under heavy, sun burned brows, they looked squarely into yours, the eyes of a man who plays the game to the very last, and plays fair.

"Yep, I reckon I do know Jack Carson." Chick McGuire met the query with evident pride. "He's a clear-stram gent straight through, that fellow,—not a cur hair in his head. He blew out to Seven Springs four years ago from the East. Met with hard luck there. Father lost everything in some big deal. Kid reckoned on makin' his stake out here. No, he ain't made no strike yet, but he don't ride on his spurs nor pull leather any on that account. He's bound to hit it some day. Fellow that works like he does is pretty sure to win out. He ain't workin' only for hisself, neither—there's some gurl. He never told me, but only a gurl could—what's he doin', here? Looky here, pard, you better ask him, but I could guess—" Chick's voice trailed off into knowing silence.

A little later Carson was again on the trail, headed straight for the open desert. He rode with the careless certainty of one who knows that his game is almost ended and that it is already won. There were yet a couple of hours before moonrise—plenty of time for one where over there in the hills, flatly gray against the horizon, Bennett was hiding. A bullet wound and the perilous uncertainty of the mountains would hold him there until moonrise, when he could drag himself out like a hunted animal, and into the one narrow road that led from the fastness. Then —well, everything would end for Bennett, and Carson would be richer by $5000.

In Carson's inner consciousness there was no recoil at this hunting down of a fellow creature. Bennett, who had committed one of the most coldblooded murders of desert history was not deserving of mercy, and the reward, $5000, for the body of the slayer, alive or dead, would buy a chance at life's happyness for a better man than Bennett. Carson felt he had earned a chance. He ground the words through his teeth almost fiercely now—"A chance, a chance."

With the thought he was lost to the sweeping loneliness about him, the crunch of his horse's hoofs on the sand. It was night, but the garish, blazing night of Broadway. He felt the ringing pavement beneath his feet, the brush of shoulders against his own. He smelt the dampness of the eastern sleet. All about was the clanging of bells, the long, shrill wail of siren whistles, the crash of vehicles. It was the voice of the city, the voice he had always loved. Through the barren, homesick years it had been calling to him, and he had thought he close his ears, had tried to persuade himself that home and happiness were here. To-night he was to triumph over that waste of sand and sagebrush and hard, pitiless sky. Tonight he was to wring from the desert the hoard that should buy for him a chance in his lost city, a chance at friends and home and other things that a man wants. He put spurs to his horse almost savagely. Some beast, startled, slunk from behind a clump of bushes, uttering an eerie cry. Carson's horse reared. He headed her toward the eastern range, above which the beginning of a light, faintly glowing, warned him to make haste.

The hills were brightening. Behind them the sky showed pale yellow. When Carson threw the bridle rein over a mesquite branch at the entrance to the pass, the full moon had risen, casting long, even beams across the far, still plain. Into the illimitable distance it stretched away, the shimmering whiteness of sand. Clumps of brush and gaunt arms of cactus cast black, distorted shadows. The desert slept, and it was more like death than slumber.

The ghostly loneliness struck Carson with sudden chill. Shuddering back from it, his mind reverted unbidden to another moonlight night. He had taken her away from the dancers and out into the garden, where, from the brilliantly lighted rooms within, was borne to them the faint dreaminess of music. He recalled vividly how the moonlight had touched the rich folds of her gown, the wonderful, soft tints of her high-bred face, the elegant intricacy of her hairdressing. Carson started. Had that been in another life? It was a far cry from the beautiful patrician woman in her garden beside the Hudson to the saud-grimed rider tracking a cutthroat across that illimitable waste.

And then there came to him the thought that had often impressed him before; how little one life can know of another. He wondered who of the men who had been his associates here might have a similar reminiscence tucked away somewhere, seldom recalled, perhaps,—too delicate and precious even for thought in the midst of that unbeautiful, unpolished existence. Who could know what this night meant to Carson? Not even those friends who had fought side by side with him in the battle for the price of life. He thought of the rough cabin on the claim. Some men had brought their women-folk to just such cabins. Carson laughed harshly.

Half crawling, he made his way through the brush beside the trail. Bennett would be coming along soon. At a turn in the path he halted, nerves taut-stretched, straining eyes and ears, his revolver in his hand, to listen. Here, in the scrubby growth of the desert range, birds flitted from twig to twig. He could hear the rustle of their wings, the crisp twittering notes they made to each other. Suddenly, in the jagged shadow of a rock, he saw that which told him his hunt was ended,—and there would be no need for the gun.

Dispassionately he turned the dead face to the light. As he looked into those awsome, sightless eyes, Carson dropped to his knees with a choking cry.

"It isn't you, Dick,—no, it isn't you! Why it can't be you Dick; you couldn't do a thing like that! No—no, it isn't you."

He muttered it over and over again in a voice that rasped dry in his throat, until the words choked him and he sat silent, staring at the quiet face of his college chum.

The shimmering glory of the desert faded into wan daybreak. Carson rose, and moving as one moves in sleep he broke off the ragged branches of the mesquite and covered the motionless form. Then he made his way slowly down the trail.

The Climbing Vine.

"My son," said Harker, as he pointed to the ivy in front of the cottage, "always be like the vine—climb."

The little boy was thoughtful.

"I don't think I'd care to be like that vine," he responded seriously.

"And why not, Tommy?"

"Cause if I was I'd be a porch climber."—[Chicago News.

HUMAN HAIR FABRICS.

The Abundant Supply Has Caused Its Manufacture Into Yarn and Cloth.

The market in human hair is a subject that has recently been engaging the attention of textile journals in Great Britain.

The supply of this article is undoubtedly much larger than is generally supposed; indeed, one textile manufacturer in Bradford stated that he could purchase 40 tons of it whenever he wished. It therefore becomes of interest to ascertain the uses to which this article is now being put.

Wig makers and ladies' hairdressers are apparently the principal users, especially at the present time when the prevailing fashion is for ladies to wear extensive coiffures. The bulk of the human hair used for this purpose probably comes from the Continent, Bohemia being an especially productive district, but large quantities are also received from China. The Chinese hair is usually intensely black, and as its color detracts from the value, it is bleached with hydrogen peroxide. The hair is then sorted according to its length and grade, and dyed and finished in whatever shade desired.

A British textile journal recently stated that as human hair was not of so rank and stout a growth as to lend itself for use like horsehair in haircloth weaving, it is possible that makers of interlining fabrics and of oil-press cloths, or perhaps of carpets, might find employment for the substance, but that there are no fabrics professedly made of it solely, its use being confined to a blend with other materials.

It is therefore of interest to note a manufacturer in Bradford—possibly the only one as yet in this country—is now weaving a cloth made entirely (warp and weft) of human hair. The hair, which is usually of a staple or length of from 10 to 12 inches after being thoroughly disinfected, is spun into a yarn of the required thickness, and is then woven into a fabric, either 20 or 30 inches in width and in lengths up to 90 yards. No dyeing is performed, the fabric being of the natural color of the blended hair. The fabric is intended for interlinings for men's wear, and possesses the advantages of being absolutely unbreakable, unshrinkable, and uncreasable. The sample forwarded (and filed for public inspection at the Bureau of Manufactures) is somewhat of an experimental weave, and different weights or thicknesses can be made to suit the demand. This fabric may therefore supersede the coat canvas made of linen, formerly used for interlinings, or the more modern hair canvas made of cotton warp and hair weft.

Missed the Gangplank.

A youth from Calhoun county, Illinois, which has nothing but steamboat transportation, came over to Elsberry, Mo., the other day to catch a Burlington train to St. Louis.

He had never seen a train, and when the Hannibal local came rolling in he stood there gaping, watched it hiss and steam, and finally pull out.

"I thought you was goin' to St. Louis on that train!" shouted the station agent, thrusting his head through the window.

"I was," answered the youth, "but they didn't put down no gangplank."—[Philadelphia Record.

SEES HUSBAND DIE ON STRAND.

LONG BEACH WOMAN'S AWFUL EXPERIENCE IN ARIZONA.

Spouse Accidentally Shoots Himself at Conclusion of Day's Hunting and She Has To Row Mile in Order To Get Men To Bring in the Body for Embalming.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 9.—A telegram from Phoenix, Ariz., received tonight says: A terrible experience was that of Mrs. W. B. McClure as she watched her husband die from an accidental wound Monday on a lonely shore of the Tonto Basin Lake. The couple were concluding a days' hunting on the side of the lake opposite Roosevelt. As McClure was about to step into the boat, his gun was discharged, the load tearing into his left side. A half hour later he died, despite all his frenzied wife could do. Composing his body on the sand, she summoned enough strength to row a mile or more to Roosevelt, where she fainted as she tried to tell her story. For hours she lay near death, while Reclamation Service employees rushed away in a motor boat to the scene of the accident. The body has been taken to Globe for embalming. It is probable that, as soon as Mrs. McClure is able to travel, it will be sent for interment to their old home at Long Beach.

VETO POWER IN DANGER.

The subcommittee of the joint charter committee has prepared a skeleton form of a revised city charter which it will present tomorrow night. One of the pricipal changes contemplated is the elimination of the ward system and the substitution of electing Councilmen at large. It is also proposed to take from the Mayor the power of veto.

The residence of J. Momia at No. 644 Cherry street was damaged by fire to the extent of $250 today. The blaze started from a pot of paint which was being heated on the stove. The loss is covered by insurance.

While crossing Pine avenue this morning Miss Frances Treadwell was knocked down and run over by a boy on a bicycle and pretty badly bruised though no bones were broken.

White and Gaskell have been awarded the contract for the improvement of American avenue from Anaheim to Hill street to connect with the county work on the boulevard. The distance is eight blocks and the cost will be $50,000.

A man believed to be a census agent was in the city today examining the public records of vital statistics and making inquiries about transient visitors. He consulted various officials.

Elmer Blount, an employee of the Craig ship plant, has been away since Sunday night. It has been ascertained that Monday morning he went to the bank, drew $175 of his savings, and left the same amount in his wife's name. Mrs. Blount thinks he has gone to Atchison, Kans., where he has relatives.

RANCHMAN DIES.

Pioneer Citizen of Pomona Passes Away at Ripe Age—Wedding Anniversary Celebrated.

POMONA, Nov. 9.—John Betts French died here yesterday at his home on West Pearl street, following a paralytic stroke.

Mr. French was an old resident, having a ranch in the western part of the city. He was 74 years old and a native of Connecticut. He had for years served as junior warden at St. Paul's Episcopal Church here. Funeral services will be held from the church tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Miss Mary French, and a sister, Mrs. E. D. Bowyer, of Williamsport, Ind.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

At their home at Center and Gibbs street, last evening, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Balfour entertained, forty friends in honor of their twentieth wedding anniversary. The Balfours were married in this city in 1890 and have lived here ever since. The evening was enjoyed with music, games and refreshments. The host and hostess received numerous gifts.

ENTERTAINS CLUB.

Mrs. Charles D. Baker entertained the members of the Music and Art section of the Pomona Ebell Club at her home, at Palomares and Alvarado streets this afternoon. The programme consisted principally of music by California composers. The Travel section will take up the study of California this winter.

BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Stacy W. Clapp entertained the members of the Gans Genng Bridge Club at her home in Claremont Place yesterday afternoon. The decorations were yellow and white chrysanthemums Refreshments were served. Those present were: Mmes. Hufford, Afflerbaugh, Bonham, Hopkins, Spurgeon, Parker, McCormick, and Misses Helen Martin, Frances Hinman, Mary Davis, Grace Cooper, Clara Dills and Grace Shoemaker.

MINOR NOTES.

A merry masked social was held last night at Odd Fellow's Hall followjhg the lodge meeting. The members of the local lodges of Rebekahs and Odd Fellows united in the frivolities.

Mrs. C. B. Clark, State Inspector of the Woman's Relief Corps, was here today as a guest of honor at the meeting of Vicksburg Post, W. R. C., held at K. of P. Hall this afternoon.

REDONDO BEACH.

REDONDO BEACH, Nov. 9.—Interest in the local end of the election centered in the township contest. Justice L. F. Wells won over J. P. Erickson, Democratic, by a comfortable majority. Charles Lloyd, the Socialist candidate, polled a good vote. City Marshal Lee Stanchfield was elected constable, polling 319 votes, more than double the vote cast for his opponent.

City Attorney Booked To Give Views on Consolidation Before South Pasadena Association.

SOUTH PASADENA, Nov. 9.—A meeting of the Woman's Improvement Association is planned for next Monday night and invitations have been extended to the City Trustees, the Chamber of Commerce, the Lincoln Park League and the Oneonta Improvement League to be present in the hall, Meridian avenue and Mission street. City Attorney Shenk of Los Angeles has promised to address the meeting on the advantages and disadvantages of consolidation with Los Angeles, under various systems of government for our own borough.

MONEY FOR BRIDGE.

At the meeting of the Lincoln Park League Monday evening, word was received that Mr. Cawston, who has just arrived on his annual trip of investigation of his business plants in this city, had offered to give $1500 more toward a concrete bridge over the Arroyo Seco. As South Pasadena has been the only city not agreeing to pay the additional expense, and as it originally voted $32,000, it would mean an added expenditure of $2500 to carry through its part. It is hoped by the league that it will agree to the amount.

The Educational Committee, through Mrs. D. Z. Gardner, also reported that a proper playground had been secured for the boys of the Lincoln Park school. J. H. Jacobs, who owns a lot at Palm avenue and Mission street, has agreed to allow the use of his property for that purpose.

SLUM LECTURE.

Rev. Dana W. Bartlett of Los Angeles will deliver an address before the Brotherhood of the Methodist Church Friday evening on "The Church and the Slum Problem," in the auditorium of the building. A dinner will be served in the basement of the church at 6:30.

BUYS SACKETT PROPERTY.

Wealthy Hollywood Man Acquires It and Will Erect Modern Business Block.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9.—The old Sackett property at Hollywood Boulevard and Cahuenga avenue, on which stands the oldest business block in the Cahuenga valley, was sold this week to J. P. Creque, one of the wealthiest men in Hollywood. Mr. Creque will tear down the old building and erect a handsome fireproof two-story cream brick structure to cost in the neighborhood of $30,000. The corner will be leased by the Hollywood National Bank, and there will lbe three other store rooms facing on Hollywood Boulevard. The second story will be devoted to handsome office rooms, finished in up to date manner with wide hallways and tile flooring.

Mr. Creque purchased he propery for $23,000 from Mrs. Gillig, mother of the late Henry Gillig, who bought it some five years ago from H. D. Sackett. The building now standing on the site was built by Mr. Sackett twenty-five years ago and was a general store and inn. It has recently been unoccupied except for one store room on the first floor. The new building will occupy not only the corner but will run back to the Toberman block, taking in the property now occupied by the Citizen Building.

HE PLEADS FOR THE ASIATICS.

MELVILLE STONE DISCUSSES RACE PREJUDICE.

Views the Problem in the Far East From the Political, the Commercial and the Moral Aspects—Deprecates Closing of Doors Which Look Toward Asia.

When the United States acquired the Philippine Islands it assumed the government of 8,000,000 orientals and touched elbows with Asia. This country, therefore, is greatly interested in the Far East. Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, recently visited Asia and on his return delivered an address before the Quill Club of New York. He chose as his title "Race Prejudice in the Far East."

He commenced by casting a doubt on Kipling's "East is East, and West is West, and never the twain shall meet," for he has some respect for Cicero's idea that there is a "common bond" uniting all the children of men. He went on:

"And whatever our ignorance of, or indifference for, the orientals in the past, it is well to note that conditions, both for us and for them, have entirely changed within the last decade. There is a new United States and a new Asia. The Spanish War created the one; the Russo-Japanese War the other."

The Asians have learned, through war that the man behind the gun represents power. "A handful of British with cannon could enforce obedience from hundreds of millions of people. Suddenly, the little Empire of Japan, one of the least among the Asiatic powers, challenged, fought and defeated the great European colossus, Russia. The Asian discovered then that it was not the white man, but the gun that did the business; he learned that a yellow man behind the gun was quite as effective as a white man, and he found that the Christian soldier alone was afraid of death. Then followed in travail, the birth of the new Asia. There were actual revolutions in Turkey and Persia, a startling recrudescence of unrest in India and Ceylon, and, at this moment, China is in a state of revolutionary ferment."

"Let us view the problem from the political, the commercial and the moral aspects. How long will the 6000 soldiers we have in the Philippines be able to keep our flag afloat among 8,000,000 of natives? How long will the 75,000 English soldiers in India be able to maintain British sovereignty over 300,000,000 of Asians? Believe me, these are not idle questions. They are up to us for an answer, whether we will or no, and upon our ability to make answer will depend the future of what we are pleased to call our western civilization. I would not be an alarmist, and yet I would have you feel that Macauley's suggestion of the New Zealander on a broken arch of London Bridge, sketching the ruins of St. Paul, has come to be more than an extravagant figure of speech. And I am convinced that there is real danger awaiting us unless we amend our ways. It is not the Asian who needs educating, it is the European."

SHAMEFUL RECORD.

Dealing specifically with the subject of race prejudice, Mr. Stone said: "We have spent enormous sums to establish schools in Japan for the education of the natives. Yet we now are seeking to deny them admission to this country and we are refusing to permit them to attend our schools.

"In the Philippines a ruffian American soldier, recruited from the purlieus of New York, shoves a native gentleman from the sidewalk of Manila with an oath, calling him a 'Nigger.' Yet that 'Nigger' is very likely a cultivated gentleman, educated at the Sorbonne, in Paris.

"The infamous opium war upon China, and the equally infamous existent compulsion of China to receive Indian opium, are outrages no whit worse than our own extortion of absurdly exorbitant damages for losses of American ships to Chinese pirates in the Yellow Sea. For many years there was no more profitable undertaking for the owner of an American clipper ship than to sell it and its cargo to the Chinese Government after it had been looted by the pirates.

"Such, my friends, is something of the shameful record of our relations with the Far East. In India, in China and in Japan, we have been the guests who have enjoyed their hospitality, only to rise in the morning and say to our hosts, 'You must not sit at table with us.' Believe me, this condition cannot endure. Politically we are in grave danger. Commercially, with their industry and their frugality, they are fast outstripping us.

"We are related to them politically and commercially. Socially they are all saying to us: 'Stop cheating us, stop swindling us, stop your treating us as your inferiors who are to be beaten and robbed.' Japan is crying out, 'Treat us fairly and we will go more than halfway. Leave to us the question whether Japanese laborers shall go to America to annoy you, and we will stop them. But do not say that you will admit the lazaroni of Hungary and Italy and Russia, simply because they are white, and shut us out because we are yellow.'"

Mr. Stone concluded thus:

"In smug complacency, you may close your doors which look toward Asia, while you open wide those which look towards Europe; you may refuse the Oriental admission to your schools, while you accord the privilege to any child of a European; you may pile import duties mountain high, and raise our standards of living to any pitch of extravagance; you may build warships without limit, and you may continue to treat the Asiatic as legitimate prey. But I am confident that it will not avail.

As a soldier, whether at Omdurman, in the Sudan, or on 203-Metre Hill, at Port Arthur, the man of color has shown himself a right good fighting man; in commerce, he has by his industry, perseverance, ingenuity and frugality, given us pause; and before the eternal throne his temporal and his spiritual welfare are worth as much as yours or mine."

COTTMAN IS REAR ADMIRAL.

Retirement of Rear-Admiral Phelps Raises San Franciscan to High Naval Honor.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Capt. Y. L. Cottman, whose home is regarded as San Francisco because of his family connections there, has become a Rear-Admiral as a result of the retirement of Rear-Admiral Thomas S. Phelps. He is at present commandant of the Puget Sound Navy Yard.

Rear-Admiral Cottman was born in Louisiana and was graduated from Annapolis in 1872. At various times he has served as nautical instructor in the school he established in Manila. He commanded the Brutus on the trip from Monterey to Manila in 1898 and subsequently was in command of the monitor Wyoming in San Francisco Bay. Later, he commanded the cruiser California. He has also served on the Colorado, New York, supply ship Alliance, Richmond, Monacacy, Concord, Marion and Monterey.

ESCONDIDO.

ESCONDIDO, Nov. 8.—Twenty-five or thirty men are working on the reconstruction of the telephone line of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company between this city and Oceanside. New poles carrying pins for ten wires, which will permit of additional circuits, are being installed. Eucalyptus trees of the Pratt Eucalyptus plantation, north of the city, have made remarkable growths in the nineteen months since they were planted. One of them on the Over ranch, is 35 feet high. Many are 25 feet high.

HUNTER ESCAPES CAPTURE BUT SPOIL IS SEIZED.

Slaughters Wild Game in Bear Valley In and Out of Season, It Is Charged, and Ships It to Los Angeles—San Bernardino Compromises Eikelman Claim.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 9.—Game Warden Pritchard, of Los Angeles county, is after a "game hog," who for years, in season and out of season, has been shooting wild game in the Bear Valley county and shipping it to Los Angeles and other sections.

Word has been received here that the warden has seized eleven sacks of wild ducks shipped by the accused to Los Angeles. It is charged among other things that the shipment was improperly labeled.

For years local game authorities have tried to catch the pot hunter, but for some reason their efforts have always fizzled out, despite the clamoring of gun clubs in this valley that the pot hunting be stopped.

CLAIM COMPROMISED.

The city has comprised the damage suit brought four years ago by the late John G. Eikelman, on account of the damage to his property, resulting in lowering the grade along Third street, on Chinatown Hill, east of the business section. The lowering of the grade was done in order to allow the Traction Company to lay double tracks. It left the Eikelman property four feet or more in the air, and made it impossible for him to have access to his warehouse. He sued for $3000, and the estate has now settled the claim with the city for $500. The Traction Company pays half of this settlement.

A. H. Morgan has bought the John Anderson, Jr., orange grove of twenty acres, at Rialto, for $30,000. The deal carries with it twenty-five shares of water stock in the Lytle Creek Water and Improvement Company.

FALLS DOWNSTAIRS.

Fullerton Man Makes Misstep and Leg Is Broken Lacy Defeated for Sheriff.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FULLERTON, Nov. 9.—While starting home from the Masonic Hall at 3 o'clock this morning, where he had been watching the counting of the votes of the second precinct, Robert Boswell, about 50 years of age, miscalculated where the top step was and fell downstairs, breaking a leg in three places. He was picked up by friends and taken to the City Hospital.

Charles E. Ruddock was elected Sheriff over Theodore Lacy, who has held the office sixteen years. D. S. Linebarger was re-elected County Supervisor.

ELSINORE.

ELSINORE, Nov. 9.—J. A. Crane, candidate for Supervisor of the Fourth District, carried his home precincts with a tremendous majority. Elsinore, Crane 98, Kimball 15; Lake, Crane 62, Kimball 11; Wildomar, Crane 20, Kimball 6. Charles Carter won for Justice of the Peace of Elsinore Judicial Township over two opponents, L. H. Young and James Stewart.

Chet Condon of Santa Ana was seriously injured on the head and body yesterday morning by an accident to his motorcycle while speeding on Washington street with a number of other motorists. He was able later in the day to go home.

Something.

Briggs: I have made a will leaving my brain to the hospital, and just got an acknowledgment from the authorities."

Lotty: Were they pleased?

BEAUTIFUL, LUXURIOUS HOME IN WILSHIRE DISTRICT.

A short description of this complete and beautiful residence will greatly interest you. It is conveniently situated in a very exclusive section of the Wilshire district. Just a short distance north of Wilshire Boulevard you reach the house with its broad lawn sloping up to the very wide cement veranda which extends full width of house with steps to porte cochere at one end; the lower front of house and trimmings are of solid grey granite; through tiled vestibuled entrance with large oak door you enter a reception hall paneled almost to the ceiling in oak with border to brown velour and gilt braid; wide archway to a perfectly beautiful living-room paneled high in Peruvian mahogany with imported green silk velour above and touches of ebony on the woodwork; there is a rich brown Gruby tile mantel and elaborate cluster light; on the other side of reception hall double doors open to den or library, handsomely decorated and paneled in Tobasco mahogany, built-in writing desk and bookcases with cut glass knobs, big circular bay window at one end and large front windows; the dining-room is beautifully decorated, oak panelling to plate rail, brown velour panels above that and a hand decorated frieze of grape design done in oils; there is a circle bay window one side with five casement windows and windows either side of the fine large buffet; buffet kitchen lined with cupboards, woodstone sink, broom closet, laundry tube and cement basement; servant's room opens off screen porch; rear hall; dainty breakfast room in white enamel, hand decorated, mahogany buffet and casement windows. Upstairs you will find five beautiful bedrooms all in white enamel with mahogany doors and cut glass knobs, dainty rose bordered papers and with from three to seven big windows in each; sun room or sleeping porch has 32 feet of windows; bathroom is tile, has shower bath, built-in dressing case with full length mirror, and standard lavatory and finest fittings throughout; stairway to attic finished off for billiard room; splendid hardwood floors throughout house; in the rear yard is a complete Japanese peace garden all in miniature with miniature lake and mountains and Japanese dwarfed pines, firs and shrubs. The house with grounds laid out complete has just been finished and is all ready to move into.

The price is extremely reasonable and will no doubt suit you as well as does the house itself.

FOR SALE—
Lemon or Orange Groves.

FOR SALE—

AND

$200 Cash and $25 Monthly.

Will carry a 5-acre planted orange grove. You can buy the choicest planted groves on terms as easy as for unimproved land. The Fontana lands are near Rialto, in the very heart of the citrus fruit belt. Profitable groves surrounding the lands are netting big returns.

Water rights are unexcelled. Gravity irrigating system furnishes abundant and permanent supply. Fontana lands are in the frostless belt. Two railroads cross lands.

Fontana lands grow Washington navels or Valencias. After full investigation, you will find that a 5-acre planted orange grove in the Fontana tract is the best orange land investment you can make. 5 acres mean independence and ultimately, wealth.

Call, phone or write

FONTANA DEVELOPMENT CO.,
Home phone A7527.

FOR SALE—
A 40 acre grove in full bearing, in very excellent district, crop of 10,000 boxes at least, house, barn, horses, close to town, $40,000. Want a clear L. A. property in exchange up to $20,000.

A 25-acre Valencia grove with immense crop, fine soil and water right, all expenses paid for this year. $1200 an acre.

Ten acres all navels, near Pomona, with best water right; will located, $13,500.

An eight year Valencia grove, in the finest Valencia district—fourteen acres. Prettiest little grove you ever saw, chuck full of fruit. $2000 an acre.

In the northern early fruit district we have a ten-acre navel grove in full bearing, good crop ready to pick now, good house on the place, absolutely a first-class place, near fine town, for only $11,000 and half cash; this place is a good paying one, and will quickly pay itself out.

We have some choice groves in the most favored districts only. We sell them—that's our business—and can locate you right.

THE HOLME CO.,
425 Chs. Nat. Bank Bldg., 3rd and Main.

FOR SALE—SIERRA MADRE, THE FINEST citrus orchard in Los Angeles county. Sixteen acres in oranges and lemons, with 8-room house, two cottages, barn, garage, irrigating and fine sprinkling plant. What stands alone worth $30,000. Seller will guarantee present crop at a minimum of $6000. This orchard will stand the most rigid investigation. Trees are in perfect condition, the soil is 100 feet deep and the location both for convenience and beauty absolutely unsurpassed. This is a gilt-edged investment for a party that knows citrus values. Price $27,500; can give terms or trade. Not shown Sundays. A. H. MEAD, Sierra Madre.

FOR SALE—DO YOU WANT TO BUY AN orange grove that has one of the heaviest crops of fruit to be found on any 5-acre piece in Southern California? Estimate of crop 4800 boxes. It is a sight to see this grove, about 90 trees, good soil, plenty of water, grove in first-class condition; a bargain at $5000; it ought to be worth more money, but owner wants to sell now, hence this ridiculously low price. Many other orange and lemon groves for sale. Call for exclusive list.

SOCIETY'S NEW DRINK.

Barley Water Has Become Favorite Beverage in Fashionable London Circles.

Whether it is due to the budget, or to society repenting of its sins, the curious fact is now established that in the clubs of St. James street and Mayfair the favorite drink is—barley water, says the London Chronicle.

A well known wine shipper, discussing this with a Daily Chronicle representative yesterday, was filled with sorrow at this extraordinary change creeping over the aristocracy of England, as he expressed it.

"Some time ago," he said, "the clubs used to provide barley water for a few club men who asked for it, free of charge. But now that it has become such an established habit, they make a charge of 2d for a glass of barley water, with a dash of lemon in it. It is not old fellows with gout and indigestion who drink this poor stuff, but what I ma ycall the 'young bloods' of society."

The wine shipper became philosophical in his conversation on what is, to him, a lamentable state of affairs.

"The peninsular war," he said, "was not fought on barley water. The stamina of our old stock is not likely to be kept strong and sturdy by drinking gruel fit for old maids."

On the other hand philosophers, who are not wine shippers, may well ask if a sober and temperate young manhood is not a fine asset to the nation, and if this barley water habit does not indicate that young men of today are more fit in brain and body for the great adventures of life than those who took early morning nips, prepandial cocktails, and afterdinner stimulants. Now that our "young bloods" are drinking barley water, their brains may begin to work. That may lead to astonishing results!

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "I have been informing myself on current affairs."

"Have you, indeed?"

"Yes, I know the difference between a standpatter and a progressive."

"I should like to have your idea of it."

"A standpatter is a person who comes to a stop and can't be started, and a progressive is one who gets started and can't be stopped."—[Washington Star.

ABOUT YOUR OWN FIRST NAME.

Its Origin and the Famous Folk Who Have Borne It.

SAMUEL

Besides Enough Famous Men Named Samuel to Bring Fame to Any Name, a Group of Authors Make Sure Its Claim to Celebrity—Samuel Butler, Whose "Hudibras" Was King Charles II's Favorite Poem—Richardson, the Son of a Joiner, Who Was the First English Novelist, and Mark Twain, Both of Them Printers in Early Life—The Literary Dictator Who Liked to Roll Down Hill, and the Great Poet Whose Schoolmasters Would Not Let Him Use Flowery Language—Means "Asked of God."

By FRANCES MARSHALL.

Samuel, prophet and judge, whose place in Old Testament history ranks with that of Moses and David; Samuel Colt, American inventor, who patented the revolver in 1835; Samuel Morse, artist and inventor, whose model of the electric telegraph was first exhibited in the same year, 1835; Samuel Wilberforce, bishop of Winchester in the middle of the last century, called Soapy Sam because, as he put it, he "was often in hot water, and always came out with clean hands"; Samuel Adams, American patriot, a leader of the Revolutionary War, and one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence; Samuel, first Viscount Hood, English admiral, commander-in-chief in North America from 1767 to 1771; Sam Houston, born in 1793, president of Texas in 1836, United States Senator from Texas in 1845, and Governor of Texas in 1859; and Samuel Jones Tilden, statesman, lawyer, Democratic candidate for President in 1876, who was defeated by Hayes—a group of men like these would bring fame to any name they bore. Although the name Samuel does owe much of its popularity in America to some of these men, and some of its world-wide fame to them, it owes even more to a group of some half dozen noted men of letters.

Samuel Richardson, founder of the English domestic novel; Dr. Johnson, famous tea-drinking literary dictator of western Europe; Samuel Pepys, clever and picturesque diarist; Samuel Butler, author of "Hudibras"; Samuel Coleridge, the poet, and Samuel Clemens—these men stand out boldly in the history of English letters.

Of the earlist of these men—one of the most famous of the secondary poets of England—it was once said that "poverty is the only thing in Butler's life that one is certain of." However, it is known that he was born in 1612, and received part of his education at Worcester Grammar school. There is a tradition that he went to one of the universities, supposedly Cambridge; but this is one of the things in Butler's life that are uncertain.

As a young man Butler entered the service of the Countess of Kent, and later served as attendant to a number of country gentlemen, one after the other. Thus he gained a wide acquaintance with the life of the time, which later served to make his famous poem popular.

The first part of "Hudibras," on which Butler's fame rests, appeared in 1663, and created almost a sensation in court circles. It was a poetical satire against Puritanism, and Sir Hudibras, the hero, really one of Butler's masters—with an attendant, set forth like Don Quixote to reform the world. Among Puritans Butler's poem was naturally out of favor; but Charles II, and his gay court revelled in its biting sarcasm and its witty descriptions. A couplet tells of the King's fondness for the work:

"He never ate, nor drank, nor slept,
But 'Hudibras' still near him kept."

One of Butler's literary contemporaries, whose work also reflects the life of the reign of Charles II, was Samuel Pepys. He was born in 1633, the son of a tailor. He was well educated, and took his degree at Cambridge. In his lifetime Pepys was known as a man of public affairs. He was clerk of the navy, was sent to the Tower of London when the Popish plot was unearthed, was later again imprisoned, and was known as a collector of books.

But nowadays Pepys is known for his diary, which he wrote almost every day for some nine years, and which was deciphered after his death from the shorthand notes found among his books. This diary throws an interesting light on the everyday life of a middle class English citizen in the days of Charles II. Pepys tells of public men and stirring events, of his wife's clothes and his neighbors' puddings in the same familiar and picturesque style.

Samuel Richardson ,the first great English novelist, was born in 1689, and was fourteen years old when Pepys died. His father was a joiner, and although he wanted to educate his son for the church, he could not afford to. So when he was sixteen Richardson, with such education as country schools and wide reading could give, went up to London, and became a printer's apprentice.

He was a careful worker. When his term of apprenticeship was ended, he became a foreman, and in 1719 went into business for himself. Until he was fifty years old Richardson took an active part in the literary life of the day only through his printing press.

Then, happily, some one suggested to him that he write a volume of letters "in common style, on such subjects as might be of use to those country readers who were unable to indite for themselves." Richardson hit upon the idea of telling in letter form an interesting story he had heard years before; and the result was the first great English novel, "Pamela, or Virtue Rewarded."

Judged by modern standards, "Pamela" is cumbersome. But it is the first English novel whose characters seem to be real men and women.

When Richardson was still a struggling young printer, in 1709, Dr. Samuel Johnson, one of the most picturesque of all English men of letters, was born. His father was a well-to-do bookseller and Johnson, who, although fond of exercise, as a boy, was too indolent to excel in his studies, spent much of his time lounging at home, reading whenever he could find books to read, and writing a little verse now and then.

Johnson's fortunes soon changed, and for many years he struggled with poverty. His father died in 1731, leaving his son only a hundred dollars. Johnson found himself, without any training for the work, forced to take care of himself. He tried various devices; he ushered at a school, lived with a friend, wrote for the newspapers, and finally married a widow, twenty years older than himself, with several thousand dollars of her own.

Even with this small fortune at his command, Johnson soon found himself in hard luck again. It is said he sometimes walked the streets of London for want of a lodging; and when his mother died, he sat up nights for a week to write "Rassalas," which brought in enough money to pay the cost of her funeral. Finally he accepted a small pension from the government, became acquainted with his faithful biographer, Boswell, and thereafter lived in comparative ease.

For over a quarter of a century Johnson was the central figure in English literature. It was not so much his work as an author—although his Dictionary and "Lives of the Poets" will always be remembered—but as the center of the literary life of England, as a critic and as a brilliant conversationalist Johnson was supreme.

Personally he was always eccentric. Once, it is said, he came to the top of a hill. "I haven't had a roll for a long time," he said; and thereupon, emptying his pockets, he rolled over and over until he reached the bottom of the hill. He was huge, physically, and used to walk the streets with a lumbersome, rolling walk, touching every post as he passed along. He was near-sighted; but on this subject he was apparently a little sensitive. Once he said to Sir Joshua Reynolds, who had painted him with a pen held close to his eye: "I don't want to descend to posterity as 'Blinking Sam.'"

Samuel Taylor Coleridge, like the rest of these famous literary Samuels, was an omnivorous reader as a boy. He was born in 1772, the son of a clergyman and schoolmaster. Coleridge remembered his father with great fondness and affection. "The image of my father," he once wrote, "my reverend, kind, simple-hearted father, is a religion to me."

Coleridge's education was thorough. His masters took the greatest pains to correct and purify his style of writing. "Harp? Harp? Lyre?" one of them once queried. "Pen and ink, boy, you mean. Muse, boy Muse? Your nurse's daughter, you mean! Pierian spring? Oh, aye, the cloister-pump, I suppose!"

Perhaps this early training accounts for some of Coleridge's later power. Not only is he known as a poet of great charm—for "Kubla Khan," "Christabel" and the "Rhyme of the Ancient Mariner," especially—but, like Johnson, he shone as a talker. He was a critic, too, of unusual force, and moreover, he introduced German philosophical thinking into England.

Last, but not least, comes the great American humorist whose pen name, the calls used in making soundings in the Mississippi, is famous all over the world. Mark Twain, born Samuel Clements in 1835, besides his genius, had something else in common with most of the other great literary Samuels. He was poor, and had to work his own way up in the world. Like Richardson, he began in a printing office.

Samuel is of Hebrew derivation, and means "asked of God." It comes from the word "schama," to hear, and the word signifying Diety. This same word "schama" gives Simeon, which means obedient. Simon, which is sometimes confused with Simeon, is really a name of Greek derivation, and means "snub-nosed."

THE POWER OF KRUPPS.

Dictate All German Military News and Have Agents in All Leading Countries.

In a small street leading to the Krupp works stands the old hotel in which the firm used to receive its guests, the "Alter Essoner Hof," and this modest building contains the most wonderful Press bureau that has ever existed, says a German correspondent of the London Daily News. Every week the offices in the Essener Hof receive about a thousand newspapers and numerous cuttings. Not only papers of a technical kind are received, but the ordinary dailies, provincial papers, newssheets from small frontier towns and from seaports are collected, read, digested, and the information carefully classified. The reason for getting the seaport journals is self-evident. The big papers will not publish news that may endanger the safety of the nation. Not so the small papers. In its cramped pages the arrival of new guns in a local fort, the building of fresh fortifications are items of interest, and the editor at his desk is not aware that careful eyes will scan its pages, and that he is giving information to a possible enemy of his country.

Technical papers are translated, the illustrations copied, and a monthly paper is printed and illustrated by the firm, circulating only among its members, as a proof of the accuracy with which information is gathered and collated, I may state that the German Army Staff, particularly during General von Beruhardi's regime, is in the habit of writing for information to the Krupp firm, and, of course, receives it readily.

The system of filing is so perfect that at the time of the Boxer campaign, when, as the author remembers well, a question was raised by one of the managers as to the origin and identity of the two Maxim-Nordenfeldt guns that were being mentioned in several correspondents' telegrams as in the hands of the Chinese, it was discovered immediately from the files that these guns had been sent out some years ago to China, shown to a Viceroy, and ordered, but were not yet "paid for." When the Krupp firm has such accurate information about Chinese artillery, it may be asked what it does not know about things in this country and in the factories and yards of other nations. The store of information that this firm holds is so enormous that they liberally supply half a dozen "military" and "naval" experts with the necessary facts, and of course these hacks do not "run their patrons down." This part of the work, moreover, is done so skilfully that newspapers in the United States, Argentina, or Capetown may publish articles which really emanate from Essen. In addition the Krupp firm owns and runs the "Neueste Nachrichten," a Berlin daily, and a monthly magazine, the Internationale Revue ueber die gesammten Heere und Flotten," the "International Review of all the Armies and Navies." An editor of both papers is always present at Essen, and collaborates in the composition of the articles in the Krupp office.

Independent military authors who have not the Krunpp firm to draw on as a source of information are ridiculed and contradicted in the Press until they are eventually forced to knuckle under to the "military news trust." The manager of the Krupp Press bureau once informed me that he intended to establish a branch office in London, "the fountain head of all news." I do not know whether this has been done. But I have met his agents in different corners of the world, from Japan to the United States of America.

Essen also produces a military and naval "Almanach." It contains similar information to Brassey's "Naval Annual," and also the famous Krupp's "graphic tables" giving ballistic properties of guns which often cannot be said to exist save in paper calculations, but which are of, of course, much superior to those of all competitors. For example, a 50-caliber twelve-inch gun did not exist in the German works up to 1903, but by looking at the graphic tables one would imagine that it was first manufactured in 1896. Enormous harm is done yearly by this firm, not only to British manufacturers, but to the cause of peace.

Philosophic.

"Were you angry when that man sat on your new silk hat?"

"No," replied Senator Sorghum. "It was to modern and shiny, anyhow. A silk hat doesn't look as if it belonged to a real statesman until it has been blocked and ironed a few times."—[Washington Star.

BRITISH TRAIN CHANGE

Railroads Are Abolishing the Second and Third Class Carriages of the "Tubes."

A very few years hence there will no such thing as a second class department on any English railway. The Chicago Examiner, The Western company, which recently ished the second class on its has now decided to do away with its suburban routes. The Metropolitan company no longer runs second class departments, nor does the Great Northern, and it is only a question of time when all other railways will follow suit.

The old idea was that the rich traveled first class, the middle class second, and the lower classes third. The underground railways or "tubes" have had a remarkable democratic effect on Londoners.

On several of the tubes the trains are all alike and it is a common sight on the mornings nowadays to see a man who is on the board of some company traveling downtown in the morning between two dusty bricklayers, while his employer glaring across the aisle from at one of his own unpunctual workmen.

The district underground railway still clings to first and third class, but it has abolished the second class. The first-class is only moderately patronized, and this company is already beginning to consider the advisability of abolishing the first-class system. For many years it has been the custom for wealthy people to send their butlers, footmen and valets second class, and this has done more than anything, so the railway officials say, to kill this particular luxury.

One of the more recent contributions to medical literature deals with a rational method of treating chronic alcoholism. The writer, Dr. J. W. In proof of his contention he cites a series of cases on which he has operated, asserting that in a number of them a cure was effected. His article, entitled "The Alcoholic Case and Its Surgical Operation for the Cure of Chronic Alcoholism," appears in the current issue of The Texas Medical Journal.

Dr Kenney's method is to make an artificial opening in the stomach and draw up the jejunum (a part of the small intestine) to make an artificial opening in the stomach, and unite the two openings. The operation is called

DISTRICT. TO THE TIMES.] 9.—[Exclusive returns from the indicate has been re-elected by about 500 majority over Noah Allen (Rep.) It is the only Congress district in Texas in which there was a contest. O. B. Colquitt (Dem.) is elected Governor by about 120,000 majority over J. O. Terroll (Rep.) who received about 70,000. Two-thirds of the members of the Legislature are instructed to vote for the submission of a State-wide prohibition amendment to the Constitution to the vote of the people. The Legislature is Democratic except two members who are Republicans. All Democratic Senators and Representatives were instructed in the primary to vote for the election of Charles A. Culberson to the United States Senate.

First Socialist in Congress.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 9.—The Social-Democrat party appears to have achieved a notable victory yesterday by electing Victor L. Berger fifth Congressional District. He will be the first Social-Democrat to sit in Congress. His plurality will be between 200 and 300. In addition to this, the party swept Milwaukee county by pluralities ranging from 3000 to 7000. The Socialists elected thirteen members to the Legislature, one Senator, and twelve Assemblymen.

Some Ohio Republicans Win.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 9.—Final unofficial figures on the Ohio election show that the Democrats have elected 15 out of 21 Congressmen. Full reports tonight from the 19th district show that Representative W. Aubray Thomas, Republican, was defeated by A. R. Barthrick, Democrat, by 1800. In the 20th district, Paul Howland, Republican, wins on the unofficial figures over William Gordon, Democrat, only 54 votes and the Democratic committee claims that the official canvass will show Gordon elected.

McLean Strong in Connecticut.

HARTFORD (Conn.) Nov. 9.—The "Courant" will give tomorrow morning its figures showing 119 of the 180 Republican members elected favorable to ex-Gov. McLean for United States Senator, 51 for Senator Bulkley, and 10 unrecorded. Senator Bulkley, however, claims 104 votes, and gives 77 to McLean. The Legislature will be Republican by 69.

Stubbs Wins Hard Fight.

TOPEKA, Nov. 9.—Gov. W. R. Stubbs, Republican, is leading George R. Hodges, Democrat, for Governor by a 9433 majority on practically complete returns. Stubbs' majority over Hodges probably will exceed 10,000. Definite figures have not been received on the rest of the ticket, but the Republican candidates have won by about 25,000.

South Dakota Returns.

SIOUX FALLS (S. D.) Nov. 9.—Late returns today increased the majority by which Gov. Vessey and other candidates on the State and Congressional tickets swept the State to 20,000. It is believed that county option and woman suffrage were defeated.

NO DEMOCRAT IS SUCCESSFUL.

SOLID FRONT PRESENTED BY THE REPUBLICANS.

Contrary to Betting Odds Smith for Congress Leads Irving—Covarrubias, Who Was Sheriff Thirty Years Ago, Fails To Come Back, Losing to the Incumbent.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Santa Barbara county showed a solid Republican front yesterday when the entire county ticket was elected and the State and district candidates were all given good majorities or pluralities.

Johnson carried the county by 338, which was just slightly under the estimates of the Republican leaders. The total vote was: Johnson, 2285; Bell, 1944. For Lieut.-Gov., Wallace was the favorite by 328 over Spellacy. Contrary to the betting odds Smith carried this county by 250 and reversed public opinion which had caused the odds to favor Irvine to poll the largest number of votes. Total vote: Smith, 1882; Irvine, 1637.

Leo Preisker had the hardest fight of the day in defeating his Democratic rival, Dr. Bagby. At no time was either sure of election and tonight when all but two precincts are in Preisker is ahead by 110 votes.

"Don Nicolas de Portola" Covarrubias failed to come back in his attempt to secure the office of Sheriff. This picturesque character, who thirty years ago occupied the Sheriff's office, was beaten by Nat Stewart, incumbent, by over 1600.

VENTURA COUNTY.

JOHNSON FELL BEHIND OTHERS.

HIS MAJORITY IS BELOW THE TWO HUNDRED MARK.

Entire State Republican Ticket Leads Him—Congressman Smith Gets Greatest Support He Ever Received in the District—County Offices Are Divided.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Practically complete election figures in this county show some surprising results. Though Johnson carried the county, it was by a majority of but 163 where his friends counted confidentially on 500. The big slump is due to efforts of the Bell people in the past few weeks. Even this city, which has always been at least 100 to the good for the Republicans, went for Bell. Wallace ran ahead of Johnson, securing 279 majority, largely through the lining up of the anti-saloon vote in his favor. The entire State Republican ticket leads Johnson.

Melvin was scratched a little but most of the vote against him went to Bledsoe and not Lawlor. Jordan and Shannon ran along with the ticket, which will average 200 majority. Smith wins for Congress over Irving. It was thought this contest would be close but returns nearly completed give Smith 558 majority, the biggest he ever received in the county.

Every successful county official received a huge majority. Sheriff McMartin, Republican, over Kelly 1100; Clerk McCloskey, Democrat, over Hobart, 484; Argabright, Democrat, over Viles, 603; Tax Collector McGlinchey, Democrat, over Webb, 892; District Attorney Bowker, Republican, over Shepherd, 614; Assessor Barry, Republican, over O'Reilly, 1029; Gibson, Republican, over Bellah, 453; Peck for treasurer, Reynolds for superintendent of schools, Everett for surveyor and Mott for the Assembly, all Republicans, had no opposition.

The amendments were voted on generally and it is believed most of them carried, but no figures are available until the official count.

Wisconsin Educator Sends Obscenity to Girl.

Names of Students and Ohio Women Are Found.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MADISON (Wis.) Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Prof. Irwin Billman, aged 40, lecturer on American history in the University of Wisconsin extension today confessed that he had sent obscene matter through the mails. The charge under which Federal officers arrested him was that he had mailed obscene letters and pictures to a young woman student of the university.

In his confession Billman also declared that he had sent some of the same sort of correspondence to his own wife, mailing it under an assumed name. She was arrested as accessory after she had attempted to destroy a number of documents found in the Billman home but both she and her husband insist that she knows nothing about the correspondence.

The name of the young woman who first gave the officials a clew is being withheld. It is known, however, that she is a member of the upper class and a sorority member. She was known personally to the accused man and his wife.

In the pack of literature found in the Billman home was a list of the names of women in many States, but most of them residents of Ohio, Billman's former home. There was another list containing the names of twenty-one University of Wisconsin students, eleven men and ten young women.

Billman is a native of Pennsylvania. He took a master's degree last June and has been working for a doctor's degree. He is a graduate of Ohio Northern College, Ada, Ohio, and came here from Buena Vista College, Storm Lake, Iowa, where he taught history.

REVOLT LEADERS EXPELLED.

Departure of Bonilla and Christmas From Honduras Presages Revolution, It Is Feared.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GUATEMALA CITY (Guatemala) Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Cabrara yesterday issued a decree expelling Manuel Bonilla, former president of Honduras and Gen. Lee Christmas, Bonilla's chief lieutenant, from Guatemala soil. Bonilla and Christmas were taken to Port Barrios where they were today placed on board the steamer Cartago bound for New Orleans.

Lee Christmas is a famous soldier of fortune and has been mixed up in every revolution in Honduras during the past fifteen years. His home is at Memphis, Tenn., where his wife and children reside.

Ever since the failure of the revolutionary movement started by Bonilla and Christmas, when they sought refuge in Port Barrios and were taken to Guatemala City under arrest, they have been in the capital of Guatemala.

It became known some time ago that a decree of expulsion would be issued against them, and it is generally believed that this signifies another revolutionary movement against the government of President Davila.

Some predict that the two revolutionary leaders will not remain on board the Cartago very long but will make their way to some rendezvous where they may meet some of their followers and resume the campaign which came to such sudden grief last summer through the premature outbreak of one of Bonilla's generals.

WEDS LOS ANGELES MAID.

Barney Oldfield's Manager and Fair Racing Enthusiast, Are Married at Chicago Hotel.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A romance that had its inception at an automobile race meeting in California last summer had its "curtain" at the Stratford Hotel tonight when W. H. Pickens, manager for Barney Oldfield, the racer, and Miss Lottie Greenbaum of Los Angeles were married by Rev. Dr. Abel M. White, in the parlor of the hotel, with Percy Tyrrel, manager of the hotel, as master of ceremonies.

The groom came to Chicago today from New York by way of Atlanta, Ga., where automobile racing has been in progress, and was joined at the hotel in the evening by his bride, who reached Chicago from the Pacific Coast.

"Yes, it was a romance," said the groom, "and had its start while Barney was tearing holes out of the track in a race at Los Angeles last summer, my bride being one of the fairest of the many enthusiastic spectators. We concluded to come to Chicago as 'neutral ground' and marry and escape fuss and feathers in California. We will go South and then East for a little trip.

PIT TRAPS ESCAPED PRISONER.

Jail Inmate After Digging Through Wall Lands in Deep Place at Gallows Site.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WOODLAND (Cal.) Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thomas Dale, prisoner in the County Jail, succeeded in digging through the brick wall and sliding down a blanket rope to the ground some time last night, but he had not taken ten steps when the ground sank beneath him, hurling him forty feet downward into a pit used many years ago in connection with the scaffold when condemned men were executed.

In his descent Dale crashed through a wooden platform twenty feet from the surface, which broke his fall and saved him from fatal injuries.

Jailor Murphy missed Dale this morning and saw the manner of his going. Outside he found a hole in the ground and through it could see Dale at the bottom of the pit. He brought the escaped prisoner out of the pit with a rope. Dale was only slightly injured. The pit had been sealed years ago and its existence had been forgotten.

DEAD AND LIVING TAKEN FROM ILL-FATED COLORADO MINE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DELAGUA (Colo.) Nov. 9.—Through two openings scarcely 200 yards apart, the dead and living were taken from the Delagua mines of the Victor American Fuel Company at the same time today, but the dead far outnumbered the living.

Tonight fifty-one are known to be dead while eighteen have escaped alive. One of the imprisoned miners, staggering out of Number 2 mine unaided, brought the news that others were alive. The rescue crew brought thirteen others to the surface.

Carpenters were called to Number 3 entry to make rough stretchers and it became known that thirty-five bodies had been found piled in "four entry north." Later other bodies were found in the same section of the mine, which brought the total to fifty-one.

At 10 o'clock tonight thirty-five bodies had been brought out.

Both living and dead found today were foreigners. Twenty-nine Mexicans were found in one heap. Seven of the department heads of the mine are known to be buried in a cave-in, 400 feet long. It may be many days before the bodies are uncovered.

The death of Willis Evans, the young engineer who lost his life in rescuing four miners taken out last night, cast a gloom over the whole camp. When he gave up his oxygen helmet to one of the rescued men he told his companions he felt so strong that he was confident he could wait their return without danger. Undoubtedly he wandered away from the rooms in which they had left him in search of the others missing and was found unconscious and dying in an abandoned chamber.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BATON ROUGE (La.) Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The police believe they have made an important capture in taking J. T. Burnes, a shrewd young man who tried yesterday to work a land swindle in Placquemine, La., with a check drawn on a Los Angeles bank. It is not believed the fellow's name is Burns, because he holds Carpenter Joiner's Union cards from Local No. 213 of Houston, Tex., made out in the name of W. H. Carlisle, and had also in his possession a card from Hotel Woodlawn, Los Angeles.

In Placquemine, yesterday, Burnes tried to purchase a place from an Italian. He tendered a check on a Los Angeles bank for the amount and about $1000 over the price, the Italian agreeing to pay him the difference in cash.

While the owner was getting out his savings the bank quietly wired Los Angeles, to discover that the check was a forgery. The sheriff was notified, but while the officers were watching the hotel lobby, Burnes escaped by a back door. He again tried to escape today through the rear of his hotel, but was caught. He is being held pending information from Los Angeles and Houston.

FRENCH REVIEW ELECTIONS.

Paris Newspapers Attribute Result to Roosevelt and the High Cost of Living.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The French press gives prominence today to the American elections. The writers generally agree that the high cost of living was the fundamental cause of the Republican losses.

The Temps thinks the outcome was due partly to a split in the Republican party for which Roosevelt was largely responsible and in a measure to the vengeance of the political bosses and the trusts upon Roosevelt.

However, the paper adds that it is difficult to foresee the future, particularly whether Mr. Roosevelt's chances for the Presidency have been blighted.

The Siecle concludes that the Republican party was hit as hard as Mr. Roosevelt was, and attributes its overthrow to the unpopularity of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law and the opposition of the financial interests. It does not think the results indicate the end of the former President's political influence.

GEN. H. G. SHARPE, Commissary-General of the United States Army, has invented an "emergency ration" by means of which a day's food will comprise a package 4¾ inches long, less than 3 inches wide and 1¼ inches thick. Read all about it in The Times Magazine the coming Sunday.

German Press Sees Passing of "New Nationalism" and Political Death of Originator.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—Today's newspapers give much space to reports of editorial comment upon the American elections, which are viewed as very important.

Nearly all of the papers discuss the probable effect upon Col. Roosevelt's future political influence. Some express the opinion that the "new nationalism" will not figure in party platforms for the present. Others comment adversely on Roosevelt's chances of securing the Republican Presidential nomination in 1912.

GEN. H. G. SHARPE, Commissary-General of the United States Army, has invented an "emergency ration" by means of which a day's food will comprise a package 4¾ inches long, less than 3 inches wide and 1¼ inches thick. Read all about it in The Times Magazine the coming Sunday.

MEXICAN MOBS.

Federal District; Felix Diaz, chief of police, and Joaquin Casasus, former Ambassador to the United States, followed in automobiles.

At the Municipal Palace, Gov. Landa addressed words of approval of the students' protest, but cautioned them against violence.

Ambassador Wilson, in his note to the Foreign Office, described the occurrence as a disgrace to the Mexican people, and expressed surprise that, inasmuch as his office had warning in advance of the demonstration, the Mexican authorities had none, or having it, took no action.

Foreign Minister Creel this evening said every effort would be made to punish those guilty of offering insult to the flag.

SEEKS REPARATION FOR TEXAS BURNING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Protesting vigorously on behalf of the Mexican government, Senor De La Barra, Ambassador to the United States from Mexico, presented a claim for reparation to the State Department today because of the lynching of Antonio Rodrigues, at Rock Springs, Texas, on November 3.

Rodrigues, who was a Mexican citizen, confessed to the murder of Mrs. Lem Henderson at Rock Springs and was burned at the stake.

The Mexican Ambassador tonight said that he felt confident that the American government would administer justice and had communicated this information to Mexico in the hope of allaying the ill-feeling toward the United States, which seems to have arisen there because of the affair.

POLICE SLAY THREE. AMERICAN IS BEATEN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 9.—Quiet was restored tonight only after squads of mounted police with drawn sabers had repeatedly charged the mob, killing three of the disturbers, roughly handling scores of others and arresting more than 200.

Late tonight scores of mounted police were stationed in every block, and hundreds of gendarmes were patroling the streets. The demonstrations were confined to the business portions of the city, no disturbance having been reported in the residence districts.

An American, whose name could not be learned, was reported to have been captured by the rioters. His clothes were torn from him and a beating was administered.

Of the fatalities, one occurred in front of the offices of El Imparcial, and two during a charge of police near the Alameda, a public park near the center of the city.

The only explanation for the coming of the attack upon El Imparcial was that political malcontents, fired by the student activity over the Texas lynching, seized upon the opportunity to wreak vengeance upon the government organ.

CHRISTMAS MEET ARRANGED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—That the Southern California Coast will become an active center of aviation in this country in the coming winter, is indicated by the announcement here today that a meet of international proportions at Los Angeles is being arranged for Christmas.

It is said that McCurday, Ely, Mars, Curtiss, Radley and Latham will take part.

LONDON FEARS SOUDAN REVOLT.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There is apprehension in official circles of a revolt in the Soudan. The movement is promoted by the Egyptian Nationalists, who promised a simultaneous rising in Egypt. Field Marshal Lord Kitchener's present trip to Egypt is reported to be in anticipation of trouble, and arrangements have been made to augment the military forces in that country by troops from England and India.

B'NAI B'RITH DEDICATES.

The increased membership and prosperity of the Order of B'nai B'rith showed its cumulative effect yesterday evening in the opening and dedication of the new clubhouse, at No. 711 West Seventeenth street. Grand officers of the western jurisdiction assisted in the ceremonies of dedication, which were prefaced by the initiation of a class of fifty candidates. Grand President Swett of Portland was one of the speakers. He addressed the members of the order on fraternalism and the growth of the B'nai B'rith on the Pacific Coast. Dawson Myer, editor of the Jewish World, San Francisco, was also one of the speakers. Dr. Madison C. Peters was the speaker of the evening.

HOW TO MAKE A PINT OF THE BEST COUGH SYRUP AND SAVE $2.

This recipe for home-made cough remedy is used and prized in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. It costs little but it is splendid. Even whooping cough yields to it quickly.

Mix 1 pint of granulated sugar and ½ pint of warm water and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle and add the Sugar Syrup. This makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Take a teaspoonful every one two or three hours.

This simple remedy will usually stop a deep-seated cough in less than 24 hours. It tones up the appetite, has a pleasant taste and is slightly laxative which is helpful. You will also find it splendid for bronchial troubles, lung and throat affections, asthma, etc.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is so popular that it is often imitated, though never successfully. In trying it, use only the pure, genuine Pinex, which contains guaiacol and all the natural healing elements of Norwegian white pine extract, in concentrated compound.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Pawns Kodak; Goes to Jail.

Pierce Fitch must pass thirty days in the City Jail for his failure to return a kodak which he borowed from a woman friend. The reason he did not return the kodak is that he pawned it for $1.50, with no intention of redeeming it. When the woman learned this she charged Fitch with petty embezzlement, and Police Judge Chambers sent him to jail.

There will be music and the presentation of the scroll.

Receives High Honor.

Edward Cray Taylor, who graduated in architecture from Columbia University, leaves for his home in this city Saturday. He has the distinction of being awarded honorable mention in engineering option for the most complete thesis, the judges declared, ever turned in on that subject, namely, big steel construction. Mr. Taylor was in the Los Angeles High School winter class of 1905. He expects to go into business in this city.

Discuss Boulevard.

Members of the Vermont Square Improvement Association enjoyed a fine programme of music at the meeting last night in Buck's Hall, Vermont avenue and Forth-eighth street. There was a large attendance, which enthusiastically applauded the efforts of the artists, who included Ralph Wiley, violin; Augustin Calvo, basso, and Homer Drumm, piano. The artists are members of the faculty of the College of Musicians. Capt. Hansen of San Pedro discussed the Vermont avenue boulevard and its relations to the Port of Los Angeles. He went thoroughly into the subject, showed the great advantage which will be derived from this thoroughfare, and the tremendous importance of the port.

Col. P. T. McGrath, copper mine operator, came back yesterday from New York, where he had been on business. He is at home at the Lankershim.

S. T. Roberts, a leather broker of St. Louis, and William Enrick, are among the recent arrivals at the Hollenbeck. Enrick is a mining man of Searchlight.

B. Olcovich, a coffee exporter of Salvador, accompanied by E. H. O'Brien, a tea and coffee importer of San Francisco, arrived at the Van Nuys yesterday. Olcovich reports everything serene in the little Central American republic, and a large increase in coffee production.

Paul Harvey and wife, of Chicago, arrived at the Van Nuys yesterday and took apartments for the week. Harvey is a stock and bond broker who has been dealing extensively in irrigation bonds the past few years. He is making a tour of the West to acquaint himself with irrigation affairs.

BRIDGE UNDER WAY.

Oceanside Citizens Interested in New Reinforced Concrete Structure. Road Grading Begins.

OCEANSIDE, Nov. 8.—The first arch beam of reinforced concrete for the 600-foot bridge over the San Luis Rey River at Oceanside, was placed in position yesterday and was an event of interest to the people of this locality. Each beam is fifty-seven feet long, forty-two inches wide and sixteen inches deep, and weighs twenty tons. There are four beams to each of the six spans. They are made upon the ground and hoisted by a huge derrick and crane. Sixty men are at work upon the bridge, which is being installed for the County Highway Commission.

BEGIN GRADING.

Thirty men and fifty mules, in the employ of the County Highway Commission, are in camp on the north and south sides of the San Luis Rey River at Oceanside, for the grading operations connected with the county bond issue for roads. H. P. Johnson is in charge.

The approach of the reinforced concrete bridge on the south side will be through a cut extending back toward Hill street, a distance of 400 feet. It will have a depth of about twenty-eight feet and about a 4 per cent. grade. On the north side, the approach will be 1000 feet through a cut and over a hill, with an easy grade.

The second camp has been pitched at Las Flores. The grading of the road through the twenty-one miles of the big Santa Margarita ranch, from Oceanside to the Orange county line, is well under way.

The Oceanside Board of Health has organized with Dr. R. S. Reid as chairman and health officer, and W. M. Mebah, secretary. The other members are H. E. Harrington, A. M. Mathews and F. L. Martin.

FIND BODY IN WATER.

Decomposed Remains in Canal, El Centro, Raise Suspicion Man Was Strangled and Robbed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL CENTRO, Nov. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The badly decomposed remains of an unknown man was found yesterday in the shallow water of Hawthorne canal, about 200 yards south of the international boundary line in Mexico. The body was lying face downward. On the bank was found a No. 7 straw hat, with the initials "E. W. B." in the sweatband. The hat was from Bryan Brothers, El Paso. No coat was discovered and the trouser's pockets were empty. It is believed that the man may possibly have been strangled for the purpose of robbery.

CAN'T EXHIBIT FILMS SUNDAY.

ONTARIO MUST FOREGO MOVING PICTURES SOON.

City Trustees Order Ordinance Framed Which Prohibits Show for Profit on the Sabbath, but It Will Not Interfere With Church Entertainments—To Enlarge Foundry.

ONTARIO, Nov. 9.—The City Trustees have ordered the City Attorney to draw up an ordinance that will prohibit the showing of moving pictures in Ontario on Sundays. This is the result of several reels shown here on a recent Sunday evening. The ordinance will permit church entertainments in which there is no profit.

The action is the result of agitation started by the Ministerial Association. Secretary Howard R. Gaines, of the local Y. M. C. A., is partly responsible for the ordinance, as he appeared before the Trustees bearing a strong protest. The ordinance will be very similar to one now in force in Redlands. It will cut out picture shows from 12 o'clock Saturday night to 12 o'clock Sunday night.

WILL ENLARGE FOUNDRY.

A large contract has been closed by the Pacific Electric Heating Company of this city with the Kellar Thompson Company, of Los Angeles, that will necessitate the enlargement of the present foundry of the Pacific Electric plant on East Main street. This concern recently removed from Covina to Los Angeles, and manufactures irrigation supplies and cement tools. The local company has for the last year supplied them with the bulk of their castings. The new contract calls for supplying the entire amount needed.

Only one bid was received by the City Trustees for putting in sewers between Lemon avenue and Cherry avenue. The bid was that of the Dedrich Hardware Company. Being unaccompanied by a check for a certain per cent. of the amount of the contract, the bid was turned down. A new set of bids will be advertised for, and the Dedrich Company will be allowed to put in another.

At the same meeting the attorney was instructed to prepare an ordinance calling for the laying of cement sidewalks from Main street to the right-of-way of the Salt Lake Railway.

A communication was received from the North Ontario Improvement Association requesting that the streets leading west from Euclid avenue from Fifth street to Ninth street be given attention. It was pointed out by the residents of this section that they are heavy taxpayers. The Trustees, recognizing the truth of this, promised to give the streets attention.

POLITICAL HOBBLE SKIRT.

CHARMING WOMEN IN SUFFRAGETTE LOBBY.

Champions of Lady Voters Believe They Hold Next Legislature in Strangle Grip---Arguments for Female Franchise Set Forth.

NOW that California has a new Legislature completely to their liking, members of the Political Equality League are planning an electric campaign which they hope will land the question of woman's suffrage squarely before the people of the State in the form of a constitutional amendment.

"We know that every member of the Legislature from the South is for the amendment and we believe that all of the North is for it," said J. H. Braly, member of the league, yesterday, "but we will take nothing for granted. We are prepared to take any measure that is necessary to convince every member of the Legislature of the popularity as well as the justice of our cause. If the southern members of California's law-making body think that it would help them in their fight for the constitutional amendment measure, we will send to the Legislature the largest and most brilliant lobby that ever championed a great cause before any Legislature."

"Under any circumstances," said Mrs. Charles Farwell Edson, organizer of the league, "I think we will send a number of brilliant representative women, who are terribly in earnest in this matter, and who will be on hand to express themselves in behalf of the women of the South before any committee which may have the question under consideration.

"We think ourselves most happy in the fact that the new Lieutenant-Governor is heart and soul in favor of woman's suffrage, since he has in hand the appointment of the committee of the upper house. We know that we can count on the influence of the new Governor in favor of the measure. But then there was absolutely no danger of our losing this fight, no matter how the election went.

THINK IT CINCHED.

The Republicans have put the woman's suffrage plank in their platform, and while the Democrats had not gone this far, a very large majority of the Democratic candidates for both houses had written us letters saying that their party stood for a representation of the whole people and for this reason alone they would be glad to vote for a measure that would bring suffrage to the women of California.

"I think the Republicans have a clear majority in both houses and, of course, they will live up to their platform and submit the question to the people. After that, we will have two years in which to conduct a big campaign of education. I doubt if we need to convince very many women in California, but we want all of the men, and especially the men of the North, to understand the many reasons why we should be enfranchised.

"I know that we have lots of work ahead of us, but I do not for a minute doubt the outcome of the issue when it is put to a public vote. As organizer of the league, I visited every city in Southern California and we have a nucleus for a strong organization in every one of them. The feeling of the people everywhere is strongly in our favor and required only a touch to be stimulated into positive and effectual endeavor.

"In the North, the women are organized, but not the men, and if they need any assistance from the Political Equality League in the matter of organizing the men, Mr. Braly, Ex-Judge Waldo M. York, Ex-Judge W. G. Harbert, and Senators-elect Charles W. Bell and Lee C. Gates will be more than glad to help them."

"Right now," said Mr. Braly, "we will concentrate our entire forces upon the Legislature. Mr. Gates and Mr. Bell are both members of our Board of Governors. They will originate and introduce the right measure for the constitutional amendment and we will simply be on hand to lend them our moral support."

BRILLIANT WOMEN.

Nor will the Political Equality League be alone for a moment in its representations to the next general assembly. Backed by the Votes for Women Club, of which she is the president, Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz will go before the Assembly with all her force and brilliance, presenting strong arguments in favor of the cause which she has championed for so many years.

"One point alone ought to convince any sane man of our rights in this matter," said Mrs. Foltz. "If a man dies, his wife is entitled to half of his estate while the other half goes to any near or distant relative who cares to claim it. The whole matter has to go through the hands of the Probate Court and the woman has to prove her rights every step of the way. If a woman dies, her husband takes all she has without a word and that's the end of it.

"If a man goes insane, he is straightway sent to the hospital for mental maladies, but if a woman is so afflicted, her nearest male relatives must be served with process, and if she has neither a male guardian or kinsman, she can get no relief until the Public Administrator is served. Our laws are full of just such injustices and woman's suffrage will correct them.

"While I am very glad to see our cause secured by any measure, I am firmly convinced that our Legislature could give us suffrage direct without any amendment to the Constitution. It is true that our Constitution prohibits native Chinese idiots, insane persons and persons convicted of infamous crimes from voting, but I do not think that women as a whole come under any of these classifications."

TRAINING LOBBYISTS.

If it need be, Mrs. Foltz can take with her the most remarkable lobby ever sent from any one city, because she is the teacher of a class of seventy-five Los Angeles women who are studying law. If seventy-five Portias can not convince a Legislature Mrs. Foltz will find some line of attack that will be effectual, for she is not accustomed to defeat.

Political Equality League is doing big things to advance its cause almost every day. Tuesday, when the rest of the people in the United States were in a stew about the election, Mr. Braly was entertaining a brilliant party at the Angelus Hotel at a suffragette luncheon, where suffragette arguments and other delicious viands were served in abundance. Among the guests were Dr. Robert J. Burdette, Rev. A. C. Smither, Rev. Horace Day, Rev. Hugh K. Walker, Dr. Charles E. Locke, Rev. Baker P. Lee, Dr. J. W. Brougher, Rev. L. M. Hughes and Attorneys Waldo M. York, Lee C. Gates and Sewards Simonds.

It is understood that these gentlemen are all enthusiastic for suffrage. In a brilliant address delivered Tuesday evening before the Governing Board of the League, Mrs. Seward A. Simons, in part, said:

SUFFRAGETTE ARGUMENTS.

"Until women really have the suffrage, which most intelligent persons believe they will have before long, it will always be possible to evade a discussion of the question by saying as some Legislators have said: 'When the majority of women want the vote they will get it.' Just why they feel so sure of that position they have never undertaken to prove, but it is a very easy way of evading a direct discussion.

"That many women do want the right to vote is shown by the activity of the suffrage societies all over the world. There are suffrage organizations in twenty-one different nations of the world, and the status of the question in many countries not ordinarily considered as progressive as the United States, demands that every voter in this country and every woman should give intelligent consideration of the merits of the case.

"It is a fact that more women in proportion to their numbers have asked for the ballot than have men of any disenfranchised class in the history of the world. Then the question was a moral one, at the foundation of political liberty; men supposedly unfit, and for centuries denied the right to be heard in matters of their personal rights, received the ballot under the broad principle of representation.

"That women want to vote is shown by the fact that in half the States in the Union women have the school ballot, and their votes occasionally turn the scale in a school election. In England, Scotland, Ireland, Canada, Kansas, Norway, Sweden and elsewhere, women have the municipal ballot, and their votes have effectively influenced a municipal election. In Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Finland, Norway, Australia and New Zealand, women vote for all elective officers, including the highest. Statistics show that in the various places where women have equal suffrage with men, as large a percentage of women vote as of men, and a recent census in New Zealand showed that in the last general election a trifle larger percentage of women voted than did the men.

Mrs. Edson presented arguments in support of votes for women at recent meeting, and Mrs. Foltz will lead the feminine cohorts to Sacramento to impress the lawmakers. Mr. Braly is president of the Political Equality League.

RIGHT AHEAD.

SET LINES FOR CONDEMNATION.

ACTION FOR ADDING LAND TO AGRICULTURAL PARK.

City Council Defines Boundary to Thirteen Acres and Now Fight by Residents of District Must Be Governed by Majority—Not Believed Assessments Will Be Excessive.

For a time, the City Council will have a rest from arguments concerning the condemnation of the thirteen-acre strip of land to be added to Agricultural Park.

For weeks and weeks it has gone on, until everybody was tired of it, yet there seemed no relief, but the last thing done before adjournment by the council yesterday, was to finally fix the assessment district as follows: Jefferson street on the north, Main street on the east, Manchester avenue on the south and the city limits on the west. The intention to condemn the property will now be posted by the city, and the only way to stop it will be by a majority protest from the property holders within the proposed assessment district.

It has been positively asserted by those who are in a position to know, that the assessment on a fifty-foot lot, as the district is now fixed, will not exceed $5, and it has not been disputed. The wonder is how it is possible to work people up to a strenuous protest, to save so small an assessment for such apparently large benefits. A city official yesterday said:

"There is no reason for the people making such a fuss about it, for the cost will be but a trifle, and those of us who have watched it, are satisfied that the entire opposition has been inspired by the street railway, which does not want to lose the land. That corporation is behind the opposition, but many of the people who have been induced to fight it do not know this.

"It is a plain business proposition for the railroad, and some of those who are working hardest to defeat the condemnation proceedings, but I trust the mass of the people will get their eyes open before it is too late. The success of this proceeding involves to a great extent, the other proposition of having the State Normal School removed to a ten-acre tract just south of this land in question, and the whole section will be so vastly benefited by both, that the day will come when they will wonder how they were ever induced to oppose the improvement."

FURNISHED BAIL.

Realty Man Appears in Police Court To Answer Charge of Felony Embezzlement.

L. A. Stewart, charged with selling to Mrs. Gertrude Noble as his property a hotel which he did not own, appeared in police court before Police Judge Chambers yesterday afternoon in answer to a charge of felony embezzlement, and furnished $5000 bail bond. The date of Stewart's preliminary examination was set for November 23.

A short time ago an investigation on the part of local attorneys caused the Superior Court to declare Mrs. Noble, who is an elderly woman, incompetent of managing her business affairs. She recently inherited $50,000, and, it is said, lost about $40,000 in a little time.

Stewart is charged with inducing Mrs. Noble to purchase from him the Santa Rita hotel at Eleventh and Main streets for $8000, in addition to which she was to assume a mortgage for about $2000.

The detectives who arrested Stewart say that he did not own the hotel, but that after she had agreed to purchase it, he bought the property for about $5000 and then installed himself as manager for Mrs. Noble.

POLITICAL PUZZLE.

MAYBE FLINT WILL STAY IN.

Senatorial Quandary Is Not Solved by Election.

Not a Ghost of a Show for Candidate Works.

Lissner Said To Have an Eye on the Main Chance.

The election seems to have settled all things save one. That one is the United States Senatorship—and the judgment of most of the politicians is that it will not be settled until the thirty-ninth session of the Legislature settles it. The "advisory vote" primary, which was provided to illuminate the legislators and resolve all doubts, seems to have proven a farce; and today, after exhausting all the resources of the law, the delegation from South of the Tehachepi confessedly does not know "where it is at."

In the judgment of the "insurgent" leaders the contest is still an open one, and settling it may be in the hands of the twenty hold-over Senators representing the odd-numbered districts.

Confessedly, too, the insurgents, as they term themselves, have no hope that John D. Works (their choice for the toga now worn by Senator Flint) will receive more than a prefunctory first-ballot vote at Sacramento next year. But they also say that his chances are as good as those of A. G. Spalding of San Diego, who disputed with Works and E. A. Meserve for the advistory nomination in the primary election last August.

At this election Spalding received a plurality in a majority of the Assembly and Senatorial districts. But Works received a plurality of all votes cast at the primary. As near as may be determined it is the intent of the law that, having gained the will of the people in a majority of the districts, the San Diego man must get the support of the members of his party elected from those districts.

It happens that some of the districts that Spalding carried have returned Democrats to the Legislature. Some of them have hold-over Senators who are not for him. It is a fine problem to figure out just what moral of legal standing Spalding will have with a Republican Legislature.

If the "insurgents" control enough members to have their way, there is still nothing binding them to Works, except in the Los Angeles districts. Works carried all the Senatorial districts and Assembly districts of this county except two, which were carried by Meserve. Because of this he has a claim on a majority of the delegation from this county. One of those elected Tuesday said yesterday that undoubtedly Works would get the support of the representatives of the districts he carried "as long as there is a chance for him."

If Works insists on the support, it may be only to hold the votes together until a new deal is made by which both he and Spalding will be eliminated.

This "new deal" talk began when it was found that the Republicans had surely made a clean sweep in Southern California. In its discussion the names of Works and Spalding are omitted, except as a matter of historical reference, while those of Lissner, Lee C. Gates, Senator Flint and Gov. Gillett are used. That Lissner has a Senatorial bee in his bonnet is a secret known to many and it is expected that he will make use of the first and best opportunity to put himself in a position to enter the campaign. Gates was in line for the indorsement of the Ink-Roosters last spring when the choice fell on Works, and there is still a belief that he may become a formidable participant in the contest.

The newly-elected members from this district, and some other counties south of the Tehachepi, expect to make a stand for a Southern California man, at all events. They say the division of political honors makes this absolute. Hence they eliminate the possibility of Gov. Gillett, George S. Knight or any others from the North.

If it must be a southerner then the present field of probable candidates seems to include Lissner, Gates, Senator Flint and possibly Marshall Stimson, though the mention of the latter is not because he has a "look-in" while Lissner has a chance.

Out of 120 votes in the Legislature Southern California will have 25—16 Assemblymen and 9 Senators—and of the number four are hold-overs. Just what majority the Republicans will have in the next Legislature remains to be shown by the election returns, but absolute control seems assured.

But the problem is not one of strict party control for the "primary advisory vote" and the election results and the hold-over members present a complication that will require deep thought to elucidate.

There is an insistent belief that, after all, the toga of Senator Flint may remain on his shoulders after the Legislature has assembled and caucussed.

Of course Theodore Bell is expected to be the Democratic aspirant. In his ambition he had two strings to play on. One was the Governorship which has broken. Now he will seek Senatorial indorsement and go as far as he can as his ultimate ambition is to become a candidate for the Vice-Presidency in 1912.

HAS IRON SKULL.

Workman Struck on Head by Wooden Beam Says It Don't Bother Him.

Peter Johnson, 27 years old, only recently in this country, narrowly escaped death yesterday afternoon when a wooden beam fell fifty feet from the top of a building at the corner of Second and Hill streets and struck him on the top of his head.

He was picked up by fellow-workmen but told them it didn't "bother" him much and he would walk. With the aid of two workmen he walked to the Receiving Hospital.

Dr. Kidder, police surgeon, bandaged the wound, after which Johnson said he "guessed" he would go and he did. His condition is not serious.

BURGLARS IN A STORE.

W. J. Johnson, proprietor of a store at No. 611 North State street, notified the detective bureau yesterday that his place of business was entered Tuesday night and $7, a revolver, $2 in stamps, and about $25 worth of merchandise taken.

Chief Milk Inspector.

The Board of Health yesterday elected Dr. George A. Hart as city veterinarian and chief milk inspector, at a salary of $150 per month. He was formerly in the employ of the United States government.

SHERIFF GIVES THANKS.

Hammel Expresses His Appreciation to His Friends for Support—No Changes in Staff.

Sheriff Hammel yesterday announced that there will be no change in his staff, the men who have served under him for four years being considered by him to have performed their duties in such manner as to merit reappointment for the new term.

It is understood that there will be a few changes in the force about the first of next year. Several men have been tendered positions which will reward them more munificently than does the county and they will seek new fields. The change will be of their own accord.

The Sheriff's office was thronged yesterday with his friends, who stopped in the congratulate him on being able to succeed himself, a feat which is ordinarily considered impossible in this county.

His friends declare that his election was due solely to his strong personality and the great number of men of affairs who took up his battle for him. Automobiles by the score were placed at his service and for the labor a volunteer army was at his command.

The official is attempting to thank everyone personally who gave him more than ordinary support, but has already found that this is a difficult task and that the only manner in which he can express his feelings is to issue a general expression of gratitude.

ABNORMAL.

NO AFFINITYISM IN HIS LOVES.

ARTIST REPUDIATES ANYTHING LIKE SOUL LURE.

Marital Troubles of Illustrator, Which Led to His Arrest, Not Due to Any Artistic Sentiments—Jail Doors Open for Payne and He Departs With Second Wife.

"None of the higher artistic sentiments, heart throbs, soul pulsations, or any of the fifty-seven varieties of affinityism, lured me from the path of righteousness into this marital mess. It was merely damn-fool-headedness of a most material nature. I suppose the outcroppings of the brute."

Thus C. M. Payne, artist, illustrator and literateur, arrested several days ago for wife abandonment and for availing himself of more wives than the present law of society permits, rated that portion of his abnormal nature yesterday, that had urged him to propose marriage to two women, and revel in the affections of the third. He did not deny that he responded to the attentions and affection that each had showered upon him, and admitted that he loved the children that were borne him by his two wives. But he refused to take advantage of the various mitigating and beautifully scented phrases to explain his state of being, which soul-lovers and others of the frenzied class do.

Payne was arrested several days ago by Detectives Hosick and Ziegler on a warrant sworn out by his common-law wife, who resides at No. 1893 Sunset boulevard, alleging non-support and abandonment of herself, and their two golden-haired tots. The detectives found Payne occupying a room in an apartment rented by Mrs. C. Markgraf and her daughter, Chrystal, at the Hotel Inda, No. 912 West Sixth street. According to the detectives Payne had become enamoured of Miss Markgraf and they found several stubs in his check book adorned by the name of Markgraf. Miss Markgraf was registered as Mrs. Payne, but according to the landlady this was an error committed by herself while preparing her hotel register for inspection. Miss Markgraf and her mother both deny there were any improper relations between the former and Payne.

The detectives say that when the second Mrs. Payne called up Miss Markgraf to inquire for her husband, she was informed that Payne had married her. It was this that induced the issuing of the abandonment complaint, and the airing of Payne's abnormal domestic nature.

On investigating the case the detectives were given serveral surprises. Eastern inquiries proved that Payne had a wife in Pittsburgh, and a daughter 15 years old. And considerable surprise was caused when it was also learned that he had been sending her $20 each week for the support of herself and child. For seven years, the entire period that he had been living with wife No. 2, Payne had been financing the home of wife No. 1 to the extent of $80 a month.

Payne was residing in Pittsburgh when he met his second wife. She was a member of the chorus of a comic opera that was showing in that city, and from the moment of their introduction they became enamoured of each other. Carried away on the wings of his latest romance, Payne proposed and was accepted. Before the time for the ceremony arrived Payne told of his marital state to the girl.

Over a year ago they came to Los Angeles, when it appeared that their true relations were about to become known. Shortly after this a slight estrangement occurred, but they continued to live together. Five months ago Payne was introduced to Miss Markgraf by a friend, identified with the mining game.

It was the old abnormal part of his nature that rose to the surface again, and shortly, he secured a room from Miss Markgraf's mother at the Hotel Inda, giving as his excuse to wife No. 2, that his physicians demanded that he live away from home. The latter's suspicions became aroused some time later, however, and this lead by consecutive stages, to Payne's arrest and incarceration in the City Jail.

The case was due to be called for arraignment tomorrow, but upon Payne's promise to return to wife No. 2, and care for her as a husband should, the matter was dropped. Yesterday, he was given his liberty, and arm in arm, with a golden haired tot on either side, the couple wended their way down First street to catch a car for Sunset Boulevard and their home.

CHOKED AND ROBBED.

While on his way home from down town Tuesday evening about 6 o'clock, W. I. McInturff, No. 1838 East Thirty-sixth street, was held up in a vacant lot near Thirty-sixth street and Long Beach avenue, choked, and robbed of $50, according to his report to the police yesterday. McInturff could not give a very definite description of the highwayman except that he was large and very powerful.

Too Fast on Street.

W. T. Brown, the only speeder before Police Judge Chambers yesterday morning, was fined the usual $25. Brown was arrested yesterday morning.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The City Attorney yesterday decided that the street railway is responsible for the repairs to West Sixth street, and the Board of Public Works will move in the matter.

The building of a fine bridge over the Arroyo Seco, bids for which were authorized yesterday, has started a movement for the annexation of the arroyo to the city.

The City Council authorized the Supply Committee to advertise for an extensive equipment of motor vehicles for the fire department.

An interesting point as to the payment of inheritance tax was presented to Judge Rives, yesterday, in the Clara Elliot estate case.

Joseph Dersch, a brewery worker picket, was sent to jail yesterday for ten days for contempt of court in refusing to pay his wife $10 a week for the support of herself and their four children.

Newton J. Skinner, former president of the All Night and Day Bank, pleaded yesterday in Judge McCormick's court for more time to answer a complaint for the recovery of $14,000 alleged to be due on that stock deal.

AT THE CITY HALL.

BALLAST FALLS IN THE DITCH.

CITY ATTORNEY SAYS RAILWAY IS RESPONSIBLE.

Complaints About West Sixth Street Bring Action—Arroyo Seco May Be Annexed to City—Bids To Be Asked for Bridge—Motor Equipment for Fire Department.

The contest between the City Water Department and the Pacific Electric Railway as to which party shall make certain repairs on Sixth street, between Olive and Figueroa, was the subject of an opinion delivered to the City Council by the City Attorney yesterday. He decides that the railway is responsible, and recommends that the Board of Public Works take action in the matter at once. The case is unusual, inasmuch as the tearing up of the pavement was done by the Water Department, to replace a water main. The railway, in laying its third rail on Sixth street, placed the ends of the ties immediately over the water main, so that when the new one was put in, the ballast, in some places, fell into the trench, and the contest has been, who should repair this damage. The City Attorney holds that when a franchise is granted to a corporation the city does not surrender its right to use the street wherever necessary or convenient, so long as diligence is used in protecting the property of the holdre of the franchise. This he claims was done, and the railway is therefore responsible for the care of the street two feet outside its rails, and must replace the ballast at its own expense. The street has been torn up for many months and has been the subject of much complaint.

ARROYO ANNEXATION.

COME WITH BUILDING BRIDGE.

Yesterday, in connection with the order of the City Council that bids be advertised at once for the erection of a six-span concrete bridge across the Arroyo Seco, at Pasadena avenue and Avenue 60, Councilman Betkouski stated that a petition will be filed in a short time, asking that the arroyo at that point be annexed to the city for park purposes. It is now outside the city limits and is the property of the county. The city has agreed to pay one-fourth the cost of a handsome bridge across the arroyo, but only the western approach is in the city. The proposed bridge will have six spans of 100 feet each, but this is exactly one-half the width of the arroyo, so that each approach will be 300 feet long.

MOTOR FIRE EQUIPMENT.

MORE MEN FOR DEPARTMENT.

The Council ordered the Supply Committee to advertise for bids for the following motor-operated fire apparatus for the local fire department: One 80-horse-power combination chemical and hose wagon; four 54-horse-power hose wagons; two 80-horse power ladder trucks; one 90-horse-power chassis for aerial truck. The appointment of fifteen additional firemen and two lieutenants for the business district, was also authorized. It was shown, by figures in the hands of the Councilmen, that San Francisco has an average of thirteen men to each company; Detroit, thirteen; Rochester, twelve; Baltimore, twelve; Milwaukee, twelve; Los Angeles, nine. This increase will raise the number in the local business district to twelve.

PIEDMONT PARK.

PROTEST IS QUESTIONED.

Such a mix-up of signatures came to light, when the protest against the acceptance of Piedmont Park was being considered by the City Council yesterday, that the matter was put over for two weeks, to give the protestants a chance to show that their protest is good. Some frontage was signed by agents of non-residents, some by officers of corporations, and some, it was alleged, was signed without any authority whatever from owners of the property. The petitioners for the acceptance of the park by the city also had in the hands of the clerk a petition signed by frontage amounting to 10,000 feet, which had at first been signed to the protest, but the owners had afterward changed their mind, and gone over to those who are asking for the park. The whole question will be taken up two weeks hence, and it would not be surprising if the whole thing was thrown back on the people for new proceedings.

ROSE HILL TROUBLED.

WANT SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS.

Recently the Pacific Electric Railway, which formerly stopped all cars at Rose Hill, a community divided on both sides of the city line, on the Pasadena Short-line, cut out all stops except by local cars running to South Pasadena. A delegation of women appeared before the City Council yesterday, praying the intervention of the authorities to restore, at least in a measure, the three-minute schedule instead of the fifteen-minute schedule in force at present.

Not satisfied with pressing the one point, the petitioners asked that the railway be not permitted to collect fare from any passenger who is not furnished with a seat, and be compelled to give transfers to all city lines. The Public Welfare Committee will wrestle with the problem and hear the plea of the ladies this afternoon.

TRANSFER QUESTION.

A REST RECOMMENDED.

In response to a demand that the Pacific Electric Railway restore transfers on the Edendale line, members of the Board of Public Utilities yesterday reported to the City Council that they consider it a matter of wisdom on the part of the people to let the transfer question rest for the present. Realizing that it would be impossible to please every individual citizen, the board says that while the people have lost the advantage of transfers on the broad-gauge lines, they have gained much more in practically securing universal transfers within the city, and recommends that the matter be left to rest there until the practical workings of the new system are thoroughly tried out.

HILL-STREET WIDENING.

PROTEST VAIN, WORK GOES ON.

After a long hearing of the protestants against the assessment district for the widening of Hill street, from Pico to Washington, the City Council yesterday afternoon voted unanimously to deny the protest. It is said that those who are dissatisfied with the decision of the city authorities will take the matter into the courts, and that long delays are yet ahead.

CITY HALL BRIEFS.

AQUEDUCT BOND SALE.

The Finance Committee asked that an adjourned meeting of the Council be held today to approve the sale of bonds of the Los Angeles Aqueduct, to the amount of $2,250,000, as word from the syndicate in New York is hourly expected.

The Park Commission gave notice to the City Council that it would no longer care for what is known as Cemetery Park, west of the Los Angeles High School, as the same has never been dedicated for park purposes. This has been a bone of contention for a long time, and for several years the Park Department has been paying a watchman $75 a month to look after it. The Public Welfare Committee will consider the communication today at 3 o'clock.

The Board of Public Works was given discretion to use natural soil for the improvement of streets in Wilmington, San Pedro and the Shoestring Strip, with a small portion of oil. The reason is that no gravel is available, without hauling it many miles.

The Legislative Committee has changed its weekly meeting to 9 o'clock on each Saturday morning.

The railway franchise on Olive street, from Sixth to Seventh, was ordered vacated, and the Pacific Electric Railway agrees to put the street into good condition at once.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

TWO STATES IN CONTROVERSY.

INHERITANCE TAX CASE WILL BE A PRECEDENT.

Question Involving Payment in Home County Where Death Occurs, or in District Where Corporations Have Headquarters, Whose Stock Is Part of Estate.

An interesting question, involving the issue whether the inheritance tax is payable at the domicile of the testator, or at the place where the investment that it is sought to tax is held, has been presented to Judge Rives, in connection with the estate of Mrs. Clara Elliott, who died recently in this city, leaving an estate valued at several hundred thousand dollars.

It appeared from a brief filed in the case yesterday by a firm of Milwaukee attorneys, that at the time of the death of Mrs. Elliott she had no property in California other than her jewelry and personal effects. Her real estate is situated in Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois, principally in Wisconsin.

Her personal property consisted of stock in several Eastern corporations, also in Wisconsin. These corporations did no business in California, and they had no office in the State. The executor took out letters testamentary in Wisconsin, and filed an account of his administration of the estate there. Wisconsin claimed there was an inheritance tax due that State and it was paid.

It was alleged that for California to exact an inheritance tax, would mean double taxation; that Wisconsin was the situs of the corporations; that the property must be held to exist and have its domicile wherever it is located. It has been held in California that when so-called "ancillary administrations" is had in this State it is principally for the purpose of causing debts to be paid; but that the estate will then be directed to be sent to the place of previous administration, according to the law of the latter place.

The authorities of Wisconsin held that the corporation stock and the corporation being in that State, the property was there and that the fiction that the situs of the property was in California, where Mrs. Elliott died, would not apply to the matter of the inheritance tax, but would apply to distribution.

The question involved is a new one in the local Probate Court, and there will be considerable interest in the opinion of the court in its disposition.

PICKET IN JAIL.

WILL NOT SUPPORT FAMILY.

Joseph Dersch, a striking brewery worker, who according to the complaint of his wife, Bertha Dersch, has been too busy beating and mistreating her to take a job where he might support his family, was sent to jail yesterday by Judge Rector, of Merced, who is presiding in Department Four, on the charge of contempt of court.

The wife of Dersch filed an action for separate maintenance against him, and pending the hearing of the action, an order was made compelling him to pay her $10 a week for the support of herself and their four children.

This order he insultingly evaded, and refused to obey, so the picket was haled into court to show cause why he should not be committed for contempt. There was no defense and the judgment of the court followed. A number of other fellow strikers were in the courtroom.

The couple were married in Los Angeles in 1893, and the complaint of the wife sets out a number of cases of cruelty on the part of the husband at their home, No. 448 South Avenue 20. He struck her with his fist, knocked her down and choked her, according to the wife's complaint.

DAM-CUTTING CHARGED.

NOT GUILTY, SAY ACCUSED.

In Judge Willis' court yesterday, Frank and Matt Snyder, Roy Martin and Albert Miller, charged with having cut the dam of the Long View Land and Water Company, in the Antelope Valley, June 3, pleaded not guilty to the information and the trial of the cause was set for January 23. They will be tried together.

The same court and a jury are hearing the testimony in the case against Joseph J. Fleming, who is accused of having seduced Agnes Zimmerman, in May, 1909. Fleming was tried on the same charge in Department Eleven, during the summer and the jury disagreed. The woman in the case, after keeping company with Fleming, married a Ramona man whom she afterward divorced.

SKINNER REDIVIVUS.

NOW PLEADS FOR DELAY.

Newton J. Skinner, former president of the All Night and Day Bank, was in Judge McCormick's court yesterday asking for delay of a week or more in the preparation of his defense in the action brought by the Law Credit Company, as assignee, for the recovery of $14,000 alleged to be due as a sort of deficiency judgment, involving the hypothecation of stock that finally culminated in a change in the management and control of the bank.

The original loan to Skinner and other officers of the concern was about $120,000, and the sale of the pawned stock of the institution, bid in by Hugh Blue, trustee, amounted to but $106,000, leaving about $14,000 still due. Action has been brought against Skinner, and his property has been attached to secure the payment of the deficiency.

Skinner stated in open court that he had not so far secured an attorney to defend him in the case or to prepare his defense. It was stated that the allegation in the Skinner reply that the stock in question had been fraudulently disposed of, had been determined in the decisions given in several other cases involving the sale of the shares and the shift of the management from Skinner and his friends to L. C. Brand.

HONORING COLLEAGUE.

ACTION OF TRIAL JURY.

The trial jury in Judge McCormick's department yesterday, paid proper tribute to the memory of H. J. Woollacott, a member of that body, in the Superior Court, who died a few days ago.

The matter was called to the attention of the court by R. E. Wirsching, a member of the jury, and Judge McCormick ordered that the court take a recess for ten minutes until the jury could prepare and act upon suitable resolutions, copies of which were ordered sent to the bereaved family and spread upon the minutes of the court in Department One.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

AGAIN EXTENDED. Judge McCormick yesterday extended the date when the garbage unloading plant must be removed from the Macy street site until Saturday, at noon. It was represented on the part of Charles Alexander, the contractor, that the spur tracks had not been run in to the proposed new site along the line of the Pacific Electric Railway, and that several more days were absolutely necessary. There was no opposition to the extent of the time on the part of the plaintiff, R. L. Alderman.

RELIGIOUS LEGALITIES. Judge Bordwell yesterday granted the prayer of the petition of the Southern California and Arizona Missionary Society of the Christian Church, to change its name to "The Christian Missionary Society of Southern California." The First Presbyterian Church was allowed to mortgage its premises at San Fernando for $1000.

FAMILY ALLOWANCE. In Judge Rives's Court, yesterday, an order was made allowing Mrs. Annie Stewart, widow of Colvin Stewart, who died in Pasadena, August 4, $500 a month for the support of herself and their son, Colvin Stewart, Jr. The estate amounts to $100,200, according to the appraisment figures.

WIDOW HIS ADMINISTRATOR. Mrs. Leola M. Harvey-Elder, widow of A. Churchill Harvey-Elder, who perished in the Times disaster, October 1, was yesterday appointed administrator of his estate, valued at $1000, in Judge Rives's court. It appeared from the petition that the testator had some time previous to his death deeded three lots in Whittier to his wife, but that the deed had never been recorded.

MARRIAGE ANNULLED. In Department Five, yesterday, the marriage of Henry W. Wulze and Hallie Naomi Hill Wulze was annulled by the court. It appeared that on November 27, 1907, Mrs. Wulze entered into a matrimonial alliance with Francis McCrea, in Phoenix, and that the relation had not been dissolved by death or divorce at the time of the second union.

PLEADS GUILTY. Frank C. Howard, charged with forgery, withdrew his plea of not guilty in Judge Davis' court, yesterday, and entered a plea of guilty. He will be sentenced Friday. Howard forged a check for $25 on the Bank of Santa Monica, July 22, signing the name of S. N. Pethick, and countersigned by himself.

INCORPORATIONS.—Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by Hotel Balboa Company, capital stock, $50,000, incorporators, L. W. Rolleston, Frank L. Taylor, J. M. Taylor, M. S. Rolleston and S. F. McFarlane, subscribed, $5; Diamond Petroleum Company, capital stock, $50,000, incorporators J. J. Rutledge, J. P. Tyree, F. A. Rutledge, George H. Heath and J. D. Bowler, subscribed, $5; Builders' Co-Operative Company, capital stock, $75,000, incorporators, P. I. Murphy, J. H. Taylor, R. W. Snell, W. F. Hunter, W. K. Reidel, F. L. Mowder and F. R. Williams, subscribed, $7; B. W. Marks Company, capital stock, $50,000, incorporators, B. W. Marks, Inez B. Marks and William P. Marks, subscribed, $30.

NEW CITIZENS.—The following persons qualified for American citizenship before Judge Bordwell and special agent Jones, in Department Nine, yesterday. It is the largest single class ever disposed of by the local courts: Miss Welhelmina G. Logan, A. G. Anderson, D. L. Tidlund, P. J. Feeley, John Schlitzkus, Janke Papac, James Benares, G. J. Urevalich, John H. Valley, George C. Kriste, Albert E. J. Tate, Edward M. Trapnell, Thomas Yglesias, John H. Ellison, John Seth, Erik W. Johnson, George Blundell, George Y. Payne, Rudolph Jungl, Giovanni Verna and Frank Hutchinson.

NEW JUDGE IN TOWN.—Superior Judge E. N. Rector, of Merced, presided in Department Four yesterday, and will remain during the week caring for the business in Judge Hutton's court. The latter is still sick.

PETITION TO SELL.—The Nazarene University and Deets Pacific Bible College of the Church of the Nazarene, filed a petition in the Superior Court yesterday to be allowed to sell four lots belonging to the corporation for $15,000. The Church of the Nazarene also filed a petition for leave to sell lot No. 48, Melrose Hill, for $1000.

SPECIAL LETTERS.—Judge Rives yesterday granted special letters of administration to Susana Beyer, surviving widow of John Beyer, who died at Altadena, July 31. At the time of his death the testator conducted the Hotel Ingraham, of this city, and his estate, valued at $15,000, consists for the most part of the leasehold and furniture of that establishment.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

NO "PREACHING" FOR SOME TIME.

POLICE JUDGE STOPS A RED ON THE STREET.

"Born Socialist" Who Ridicules Bible and Tries to Justify His Course, Sentenced—Police Don't Need Name of Gambling Games to Make Arrest.

Charles W. Gaston, the self-styled "born socialist," who works as a sign painter, was sent to jail for sixty days by Police Judge Chambers yesterday morning after pleading guilty to disturbing the peace.

Gaston was arrested last Sunday afternoon at First and Los Angeles streets when he attempted to ridicule verses he was reading from the Bible. Gaston pleaded guilty and tried to get the sanction of the court to let him repeat some of his remarks in the courtroom, but was stopped.

In sentencing him yesterday morning, Police Judge Chambers would not allow the option of a fine.

"I have a right to preach on the streets all I want to," Gaston declared, when asked if he was ready for sentence. "I understand that a woman heard my remarks and caused my arrest. I want that woman produced in court so I can see her."

Judge Chambers reminded the man that he had already pleaded guilty, and had said he was ready for sentence, and it was not necessary to have the woman appear.

"You have said that you have a right to preach on the streets," Judge Chambers said. "That is true, but there is a difference in the opinion of this court between what is commonly called 'preaching' and what you were doing, and you are on the wrong side."

"I have been 'preaching' down there for weeks and I will continue to do so," he said defiantly.

"Well, you won't for about eight weeks anyway," the court answered, in closing the case.

NOTHING IN NAME.

GAMBLING JUST THE SAME.

It is not necessary to know the name of the game being played to make an arrest on a charge of gambling. So ruled Police Judge Chambers yesterday morning when several Japanese were before him, charged with gambling.

The Japanese had secured an attorney, himself a Japanese, and he framed a defense on "ignorance of the game" on the part of the officers.

"It was just a little sociable game of cards, Your Honor," the Japanese attorney told the court. "I just want to ask these officers if they know the name of that game."

Sergt. Toolen and Officer Cornwall admitted that they did not, and that they probably couldn't pronounce the name if they did know it.

"There, Your Honor, it is as I thought," the Japanese attorney said. "They do not know the game, and yet they insist my clients were gambling."

"He is right, we don't know the name of the game, but we know money when we see it," interrupted Sergt. Toolen, and the court then declared the name was not essential.

The culprits are Y. Kanamori, who paid a fine of $25, and I. Iwaki, George Sehiro, T. Okumura, M. Kikkawo and R. Okomaka, who paid $5 each. They were found gambling in a clubroom on East First street yesterday morning.

WATERLESS OASIS.

"Bill Blots, Bill Blots, Bill Blots, come to court. Tom Jones, Tom Jones, Tom Jones, come to court. John Smith, John Smith, John Smith, come to court." These are three verses of the solo sung by Bailiff Vignes in the hallway of the Police Court yesterday morning. There were eighteen verses in all, and were intended for eighteen different persons who fell into the hands of the police Tuesday after they had found and indulged themselves in a waterless oasis.

Arrested in different parts of the city election day they were taken to the Central Police Station, where they gave the names which formed the main part of the bailiff's song. Later they were released on their own recognizance, after having promised to appear in the Police Court yesterday morning.

When Police Judge Chambers called the list not one was in the courtroom, and the bailiff was sent on the regular red-tape mission of singing the names in the hallway. Yesterday morning the hallway was forsaken, but that did not deter the bailiff at all and he did not even moderate his voice.

Had any of the men been present they probably would not have known the bailiff was making the effort for their sake as it is quite customary for tipplers to have special names for the occasion.

Much Ado About a Steak.

Charles Martinez, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, appeared in the Police Court yesterday morning and his preliminary examination was set for this morning. Martinez is charged with having stabbed Suey Yuen, a Chinese restaurant keeper, in an altercation over the price of a beefsteak.

Benjamin Clothes

—EXCLUSIVELY—

Exclusive in Style

but not prohibitive in price, let's prove it

Benjamin clothes—while exclusive in model, material and Custom-tailorish in workmanship — are still within your means, as the following price-range will prove. You can certainly afford these distinguished garments, can't you.

Business Suits	$18.50 to $40.00
Semi Dress Suits	20.00 to 35.00
Tuxedo Suits . . .	35.00 to 45.00
Full Dress Suits .	55.00 to 60.00
Overcoats	15.00 to 50.00
Fancy Vests . . .	2.50 to 15.00
Trousers, Big Val's	$4. $5. and $6

Benjamin Clothes

We are not bragging when we tell you that you cannot match the value in anything short of exclusive Custom tailoring at $10.00 to $20.00 a suit more.

This broad claim is borne out by the clothes themselves. If it were not so, we could not afford to even suggest it.

These are clothes-facts you must be mightily interested in when you go to spend your money, and overwhelming proof will be forthcoming whenever you say the word.

HANAN SHOES for Men and Women. Best In the World.

A Shoe Combination That Wins

There are many stores selling Quality shoes and many others selling Low Priced shoes, —but that winning combination of Quality and Low Prices—peculiar to the Baker stores —gives Baker Shoes the preference over all others.

In buying shoes we consider first of all, quality. We then price them lower than any other shoe house on the Pacific Coast can possibly price shoes of equal grade.

Every pair of shoes we sell—whatever the price—is supposed to contain the quality essential to complete satisfaction. If any of them fail, we are only too glad of an opportunity to "make good."

A very popular shoe for young men—in patent, gun metal and tan elk. Has high military heel, high arch, short, stubby forepart. $4

A Baker "Big Value" in patent and gun metal. Has military heel, high arch, short vamp and swing toe. $3½

THE POLITICAL UPHEAVAL.

If the insurgent Republicans in Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Indiana had not been so obstinately bent on having their own self-conceited way, we would have been spared the humiliation and disaster of witnessing the defeat of the grand old party in those Eastern and Middle West States.

And all for what? What reform has been promoted by placing Democracy in power? What good results can possibly flow from the landslide? Nothing but the fact that the great jurist and statesman who is now in the Presidential chair will stand like a rock and stop the dashings of the Democratic wave against the prosperity of the country, and the further fact that in two years from now insurgency will have subsided into nothingness, will save us from a repetition of the disaster of 1893, when the "revolt of the people against their own prosperity" shrunk values billions of dollars, and closed factories, and extinguished the fires of furnaces, and put railroads into the hands of receivers, and caused bankruptcy to brood over shops and fields, and plastered courthouse doors with notices of Sheriffs' sales, and sent capital into hiding in safe-deposit vaults, and placed the red flag of the auctioneer in front of the homes, and encouraged the red flag of the anarchists to flaunt along the highway.

All that saved the country then from utter ruin was because Democratic Congressmen and Senators were wise enough and patriotic enough to jump away from the platforms on which they had been elected, and make a bonfire of their discarded party principles. To their eternal credit be it said that for once Democrats sank their partisanship in their patriotism.

The Democratic victories of Tuesday were not achieved by Democrats making converts of Republicans; they were accomplished by disgusted Republicans staying away from the polls. This is evidenced by a scrutiny of the returns in New York. The Democratic vote there was only about 3 per cent. greater than that which was cast two years ago, while the Republican vote was 30 per cent. less than that of 1908. One hundred and twenty-seven thousand regular Republicans in New York State refused to be chained as satraps at the chariot wheels of insurgency. They could not conscientiously vote the Democratic ticket, but they could stay away from the polls, and they did, and, as a consequence, Dix was elected.

In California the Republicans have taken into their mouths for the time being the dose of initiative, referendum, recall and withdrawal of oil lands, mineral lands and homesteads from location. The olla podrida was prepared by the co-operation of the central committees of both parties, so that the voters were compelled to vote "heads I lose, tails you win." But between mouth reception and deglutition of the poisonous mess, there will be an opportunity to spew it forth. It will require, first, a two-thirds vote of both houses of the Legislature and next a majority of the people to formulate those fads of Populism into law, and there is time for the sober second thought.

At last all that insurgency has gained in California is an opportunity to witness with composure, if not with satisfaction, the swing of the gubernatorial leg as it reasons with Herrin, after the formula of the Baconian philosophy—a posteriori. Just at present the elected kicker seems to be busy superintending the investment of a hundred millions of dollars in Los Angeles public utilities.

Before the next election insurgency will be only an unpleasant memory of a disagreeable antic in politics, and God's sun will shine, and His rains will fall, and the gold of harvests will gleam, and the anvils will ring, and the turbines will revolve, and the song of toil will sound the diapason of a nation's prosperity, and we shall all find shelter, and food, and health, and happiness, and growth in knowledge and in grace.

GOES INTO RETIREMENT.

As a result of the elections in this country several men more or less favorably known to the public will be obliged to efface themselves for the time being. Some will come back. Across the Atlantic, however, a man of world-wide fame has just taken a move which practically signalizes his retirement into private life. Lord Morley has given up his post as Secretary of State for India.

To the younger generation Morley is little more than a name. In his time, however, he has played many parts, and whether as editor, writer or statesman he has shed luster on England. Clever, painstaking, always a hard worker, honest, conscientious, Morley has never been a popular idol, yet he has been in the forefront of British affairs for several decades and has won a peculiar position as a man too austere to be loved but of a character to command reverence and the highest respect.

In the heyday of the Victorian era he was a great man among giants. When Gladstone, Harcourt, Salisbury, Hartington and Chamberlain were dominant, Morley stood among them as one on an equal plane of greatness. He first came into prominence in a sphere which has given several other remarkable men to the service of the British nation, namely, as editor of the Pall Mall Gazette. This was before the Astor days, when the Pall Mall was a power in England. He seemed a man eminently fitted for the sphere of letters, but he attracted the leaders of Liberalism who induced him, somewhat against his will, to become actively interested in politics.

From the first, Gladstone took to him. That somewhat volatile statesman found in him a rock of strength, which nothing could shake; always calm, logical and impressive. When Gladstone started on his Home Rule campaign and Hartington and Chamberlain fell away, Morley remained faithful and useful. When the House of Lords aroused the wrath of the grand old man it was Morley who coined the famous phrase, "mend or end them."

"GET THEE BEHIND ME!"

And when at last, in the fullness of years, Gladstone died, to Morley was left the supreme task of editing the three wonderful volumes which tell the story not only of the life of Gladstone but give a political history of Great Britain covering almost half a century.

The mantle of Gladstone fell upon Rosebery. Morley, perhaps, was among the minority of the Liberals who thought that Sir William Harcourt should have played the role of Elisha, but he gave his services as freely to the younger man as he would have done to the descendant of the Plantagenets.

In view of his pronouncement against the House of Lords, great surprise was caused in England when he was elevated to the peerage two years ago. That a democrat of the democrats, a radical of radicals, should join the house he had condemned gave offense to the extremists of his own party. It is known, however, that Morley yielded his own personal views to forward the desires of Premier Asquith. He would gladly have remained plain John Morley, but political considerations required his transfer to the upper house so that another might occupy his seat in the Commons. No man ever became so unwillingly a peer as "Honest John" Morley.

RELIC OF BARBARISM.

The United States has declared for no more prize fights; now come prominent Mexicans who say, "No more bullfights." The one is no worse than the other, but both are bad, and it is a good sign of the progress made in the sister republic that so distinguished a man as Benito Juarez, son of the late President Juarez of Mexico, should be among those who inveigh against the bullfight as a brutal and craven institution of barbarism.

Many Americans in this section have seen a bullfight in Old Mexico and have been disgusted at the spectacle. They will entirely agree with the remarks of the Mexican Congressman published in The Times last Tuesday. With him they can say that the gaudily dressed men in the ring possess not bravery but cruelty; they can see nothing to praise, nothing to enjoy in the spectacle of a dumb animal doomed to be first tortured and then put to death by an agile and bespangled persecutor.

No more sensible a demand has been made by any Mexican than that of Juarez—"let every bullring be closed and every schoolroom be kept wide open." If Mexico carries out that splendid suggestion it will arrive the more quickly at the summit of greatness to which it is traveling under the enlightened President Diaz.

THE REAL OWNERS OF THE RAILROADS.

In all this clamor against railroads the unthinking lose sight of several pertinent features of the case. All know that the steam railroads employ a great many people, but how many is not generally known. On July 1, 1907, the number was 1,672,074; on July 1, 1908, after the panic, the number was 1,436,275. At the present time, after two years of expansion and activity in the railroad industry, reflecting in this the industrial advance of the whole country, the number of employees must closely approach 2,000,000. Assuming that each one of these supports an average family of five, we have 10,000,000 people (more than a tenth of our entire population) who derive their sustenance and support directly from the railroads, not to speak of the hosts who are engaged in the manufacture of materials and supplies which the railroads use in their ordinary daily operations. All these armies of people are directly concerned in the welfare and prosperity of the railroads, and anything that hurts the one more seriously hurts the other. In a sense, these millions of direct and indirect employees are part owners of the railroads.

Still other millions, outside of the hundreds of thousands of stockholders, are part owners, our leading savings institutions, for instance, hold large amounts of railroad bonds, and in that way every depositor in those institutions is a part owner of the roads. "Six years ago," says the Financial Chronicle, "a statement was prepared which showed that in the six States chiefly distinguished for their savings deposits, the aggregate of railroad securities of steam railroads owned by the saving institutions of those States, was no less than $442,354,086. The aggregate deposits in the six States then amounted to $2,177,859,256, so that over 20 per cent. of the entire total was invested in railroad securities. There were 5,174,718 depositors in these six States at that time. In other words, over five million persons were interested as depositors in the savings institutions in these States, and these institutions had one-fifth their entire funds out in investments in railroad bonds. The savings banks in thirty other States, according to incomplete private returns, at that time showed $128,677,191 more of railroad securities owned, this constituting over 26 per cent. of the deposits as represented by over a million depositors.

"The life insurance companies at that time had $668,262,896 invested in railroad bonds and railroad shares, this forming over 31 per cent. of their aggregate assets of $2,128,131,253. The fire insurance companies then held $113,702,892 of railroad stocks and bonds, and the accident and guaranty companies held $15,756,249. Altogether the three classes of insurance companies owned outright $797,722,038 of railroad bonds and stock, and held $48,167,000 more as collateral, making no less than $845,889,038 together.

"It was also found that certain educational institutions held $47,468,327 worth of railroad securities, this forming a little over 33 per cent. of the total endowments of such institutions. Combining the railroad investments of insurance companies and educational institutions with those of the savings banks, it is found that the aggregate of railroad securities so held is $1,464,388,642. Roughly speaking it is probably safe to say that if the figures were brought down to date, the total would be in the neighborhood of $1,750,000,000."

Thus we see that every one of these millions of savings of these railroad employees, of these banks depositors, of these insurance policy holders, of these participants in higher education, to say nothing of the army of large and small (particularly the latter) railroad bond and stockholders, is vitally interested in seeing that the prosperity of our great railroad properties is not killed by vindictive legislation, urged on by popular clamor.

MUNICIPAL TELEPHONES.

Los Angeles is burdened with two systems of telephones. This is such a nuisance that people who are opposed, as a rule, to municipal ownership would almost be reconciled to this public utility being taken under civic control. So far there has been no important municipalization of the telephone. Soon, however, we shall be able to see what sort of success can be made by a State as owner in this line. The British Postal Department has notified the National Telephone Company of London, that when its license expires at the end of next year the State will acquire the property at a valuation to be fixed by arbitrators.

The announcement has created a good deal of interest not only in Great Britain but in this country. Some Liberal newspapers which support the Asquith government fail to favor this, its latest move. They are spoken of not as violent but passive opponents. The reason is that government-owned and operated projects, as is well known, are not, generally speaking, conducted either as efficiently or economically as private enterprises.

The British experiment will be watched with great interest everywhere. But even if it succeeds it will not prove that a like result could be obtained in this country. The United States is so vast compared with the British Isles, its people use so many more telephones than the British, that comparisons will not be fair. In this country it is probable each city will have to wrestle with its own telephone problem and there will always be trouble when there are two or more systems which must be subscribed to.

WE NEED OUR TROPICAL POSSESSIONS.

That we need our tropical possessions—the Philippines, Hawaii and Porto Rico—appears from the fact that 40 per cent. of our merchandise imports last year was of tropical production. With the growing demand of our manufacturers for tropical products for use in their great industries and the increasing requirement of our population for foodstuffs produced only in tropical and subtropical climates, the dependence of the United States upon the tropics steadily and rapidly increases. Our imports of this character in 1910 fiscal year reached a value of $636,000,000, against $235,000,000 in 1900, $298,000,000 in 1890, and $242,000,000 in 1880, or an increase of $294,000,000 in thirty years, according to figures on record in the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

Nearly $100,000,000 worth of these imports in 1910 came from our own island possessions, but still leaving $540,000,000 worth of tropical material drawn by us from foreign countries. Ten years ago the share of such imports drawn from tropical islands under the American flag was but $30,000,000, so that in that brief period our own tropical islands more than trebled their contributions of these necessities—$96,000,000 worth in 1910, to be exact. But the advantage in trade increase is not all one-sided. In the decade our exports (almost entirely manufactures) to these needed tropical possessions of ours increased from $20,000,000 to $64,000,000, having thus also more than trebled in the period in question.

Chief among the articles making up this immense importation of tropical products are sugar, coffee, India rubber, tobacco, silk, fruits and nuts, fibers, cotton, cocoa, gums and tea. In each of these articles the total exceeds $10,000,000 per annum, ranging from $12,000,000 in the case of cocoa and its manufactures to $172,000,000 for sugar. Other articles of tropical production whose annual importations range from $750,000 to nearly $10,000,000, include cinchona bark, cabinet woods, cork, dyewoods, feathers, indigo, ivory, licorice root, olive oil, opium, rice, sago and tapioca, spices, sponges, vanilla beans and vegetable oils.

The point in question is made more emphatic by noting the increase in only ten years—1900 to 1910—in our imports of some tropical productions:

	Imported, 1910.	Increase over 1900.
Sugar	$172,000,000	$86,500,000
India rubber	101,250,000	69,500,000
Coffee	90,000,000	17,000,000
Fruits and Nuts	41,000,000	21,750,000
Silk, raw	40,000,000	23,000,000
Tobacco and manufactures	29,250,000	24,000,000
Fibers	32,500,000	8,250,000
Cocoa and chocolate	12,000,000	6,000,000
Cotton, raw	17,500,000	15,500,000
Gums	13,000,000	8,000,000

In the sugar supply of the United States, Hawaii plays an important part, that Territory having sent us in 1910 fiscal year, 1,073,000,000 pounds (not above 16 Dutch standard,) followed by Porto Rico with 549,000,000 pounds, and the Philippines with 176,000,000 pounds. That there is large need by us of much more sugar from our island possessions is very evident from the fact that in 1910 fiscal year, Cuba sent us 3,510,000,000 pounds, the Dutch East Indies 815,000,000 pounds, besides smaller quantities from South America and the West Indies. Nearly one-third of the $32,500,000 worth of fibers imported came from the Philippine Islands. As yet Brazil and other foreign countries practically monopolize our coffee supply—$74,000,000 pounds in 1910—only 2,250,000 pounds having come from Hawaii and but 163,250 pounds from Porto Rico. Of the $29,250,000 worth of tobacco and its manufactures, $1,680,000 worth was from the Philippines and $5,660,000 worth came from Porto Rico. Though in 1910 we imported $41,000,000 worth of fruits and nuts, all we brought from our islands was about $500,000 worth from the Philippines, $1,750,000 worth from Hawaii and $1,060,000 worth from Porto Rico.

As American and other capital enters Hawaii, Porto Rico, and the Philippines their productions will increase in quantity and variety, and naturally, their contributions towards our great need of tropical products will also increase, to the benefit of our family treasury.

UNCLE WALT

Last eve I sought the church and heard a gifted pastor preach the Word. He talked of men whose days were o'er two thousand years ago or more. He talked of kings whose bones were dust, whose scepters were reduced to rust so long ago their stories seem like fragments of a summer dream. He said no word of those who strive in this old world, intense, alive, who fight their battles every day, obscurely, in their feeble way. I'd just as soon be in the dark concerning Father Noah's ark; I care not for the tents of Baal, or Joseph's corn, or Jonah's whale; I want to hear my pastor talk about the people on this block, whose lives are full of stings and smarts, whose problems often break their hearts. I'd rather learn some way to cheer some hopeless toiler struggling here, than learn how Pharaoh blew his dough about five thousand years ago. The dust of kings in ancient ground is worth a half a cent a pound; and Ashur's widows' tears were dried before old Julius Caesar died; the things of which my pastor talks are dead as Adam's brindled ox, but all around us there are cries, and wringing hands and weeping eyes. He'll have to get his text on straight, and bring his gospel up to date.—[Walt Mason.

HUMOROUS INTENTIONS.

Could Be Worse.

Nodd—I can tell you, old man, I am feeling pretty good this morning; we just got word that my wife's family is coming to spend Christmas with us.

Todd—Good! Why feel good over such a calimity?

Nodd—Well, you see, if they weren't coming to us, we should have to visit them.—[Life.

Got Out of the Habit.

"I see you have got a young man stenographer?"

"Yes."

"Don't you think a pretty girl stenographer adds a great deal to the attractiveness of an office?"

"I suppose she does, but I can't dictate to a woman somehow. I s'pose it's because I have been married so long."—[Houston Post.

No Danger.

Mrs. Rhymer (at telephone)—Come quickly, doctor! Baby has swallowed one of his father's poems.

Couldn't Tell a Lie.

Kind Lady—Aren't you the man I gave a piece of cake to last spring?

The Hobo—I'm dat same, ma'am.

Kind Lady—I suppose you have been at work ever since?

The Hobo—I can't tell er lie, ma'am. I've been in de horspittle ever since.—[Chicago News.

An Optical Illusion.

At a recent G. A. R. campfire one of the veterans told the following story:

The regiment was marching from one southern town to another when a brief halt was called at one end of a long covered bridge.

The bass drummer of the little fife and drum band shaded his eyes with his hand and peered through the tunnel-like opening of the bridge toward the opening at the other end.

"Hold on!" he exclaimed. "We've got to stop right here!"

"What's the trouble?" inquired the sergeant.

"There's no use trying," replied the musician. "I never could get through that little hole with this big drum."—[Youngstown Telegram.

Building in China.

The Chinese are intensely superstitious and when a Chinaman starts in to build a house, he does not go first to an architect, but to a wizard. This gifted person goes to the site and marks the exact spot on which the house shall stand, and also marks the exact location of the windows and doors. Only the doors of the houses of high officials in China may slant due south. The wizard also locates the fireplace, and this must not face south, because the south represents fire, and it might invite disaster to have the fireplace face south. The wizard also goes through the strange process of figuring out the day on which work on the house may begin with safety. It must be on one of the "lucky days" of the Chinaman who is to build the house. The front door must also be hung on a "lucky day," and the "lucky days" of all members of John Chinaman's family must be considered when he is about to build a house. When it is built a screen of wood or bricks must be erected about three yards from the door and in front of it. This is to keep out any evil breath. Not human breath, not malaria, nor bad odors, nor damp night air, but a mysterious and fatal something the Chinaman himself could hardly define, but something that would work evil in the house if the screens were not there to keep it away.

The wizard locates the spot from which the first soil must be taken in preparing to build the house. It would be very bad luck indeed to take the first soil from the wrong place. There is a kind of a "psychological moment" when it is safest and best to put the front door in place, and it must not be put in place at any other time, or ill-luck might follow.—[Boy's World.

A Cool Comforter.

Dr. G. Herbert Richards, president of the Orange Board of Health, tells this one:

"A very bashful young man was driving with his best girl one cool Sunday. The young lady used all of her arts to make him 'spoon,' but failed, and, despairing, became silent and preoccupied.

"'What's the matter?' asked the young man, when the silence became oppressive.

"'Nobody loves me,' said the young lady, tearfully, 'and my hands are cold.'

"'I'm surprised to hear you say that,' said the young man. 'God loves you and your mother loves you, and as for your hands being cold, you can sit on them.'"—[Newark Star.

A Good Loser.

Smiley—Why, we've called it "The Bulldog." It's the bravest little mine you ever heard of.

Riley (puzzled)—Bravest?

Convalescent.

Thou hast come back from deserts vast and wild,
From twilight wanderings by a shadowy sea,
From the far glory of the Undefiled—
Thou hast come back to home and love and me.

Tho' heavenly meadows stretched before thy gaze,
Thick flecked with amaranth and asphodel;
Were palpitant with music as a bell,

Yet wouldst thou choose these low cloud-shadowed skies—
These tranquil hours with my hand in thine,
Gazing forever into answering eyes:
What sphere could be thy heaven that was not mine?

Suits to Measure

The continuous success which has attended this Tailoring Section of ours ever since its inception can be due to but one cause—our ability to produce stylish, satisfactory suits at prices within the reach of every woman:

SUITS FOR AS LITTLE AS THIRTY-FIVE DOLLARS—Carefully tailored, made of choice materials in newest fashion; linings of the most durable sort.

SUITS AT FORTY-FIVE DOLLARS may be had in practically any of the new rough or smooth weaves—including broadcloth—coats lined with Skinner's guaranteed satin; newest fashionable styles.

SKIRTS TO MEASURE for as little as $7.50, complete in every detail. We've operators who do nothing but make skirts.

Initial Handkerchiefs

Nobody ought to need to be told that it's wise to select initialed handkerchiefs as early as possible—but most of us are procrastinators. Right now we are carrying in stock absolutely complete assortments of initials at the following prices:

SIX STYLES AT 20c; 6 for $1.00: Initialed in pretty scroll and wreath effects, or singly, without ornamentation.

TEN STYLES AT 25c; 6 for $1.35: Many of them embroidered by hand, in exquisite fashion.

FOUR STYLES AT 35c; 3 for $1.00: New patterns, most painstakingly done on fine pure linen.

OTHERS AT 50c AND HIGHER. Truly beautiful hand work on these, and designs many of which are ours alone.

Dolls by the Thousand

Literally—we've dolls enough in this collection to supply every little girl in town with at least one. And there is such a charming variety—for example:

DOLLS OF ALL NATIONS. Dutch, Spanish, German, Oriental, negro—all dressed in characteristic garb, complete, ready to present.

DOLLS TO BE GOWNED in any style you fancy, from tiny five-cent babies up to beauties at twenty-five dollars apiece.

AT ONE DOLLAR we show a 24-inch full jointed bisque body doll; with real eyelashes and hair—blond or brunette—sleeping eyes and attractive face; a noteworthy value at the price.

TOYS AND GAMES of every sort in this brand-new Toy Section—mechanical toys, practical toys like carpenter and tool sets; California coasters—sleds on wheels—boxing gloves, air guns, etc., and games of all the new sorts, with children's books selected very carefully from best makers—all most reasonably priced.

Art Section Suggestions

Women who like to make for their friends quaint and uncommon gift-things, will best appreciate the possibilities in these daintily-fashioned waste baskets:

FITTED ONES serve to show you hints of how to arrange your own, or will be sold outright, at $2.00 and higher.

ODD BASKETS in really novel shapes, which you haven't heretofore seen, woven out of soft, raffia, straw or reeds in natural and colored designs, are here in the largest assortment that we, or any other store hereabouts, has ever carried. Ten cents and higher.

SPECIAL—Fancy baskets and waste paper baskets, in different sizes and styles; values to $1, on sale at 50c

THE ART NEEDLEWORK SECTION is showing hundreds of suggestions for useful and decorative gift articles—stamped novelties and finished pieces of needlework; bric-a-brac, brass articles, vases, art linens, etc.

Silk Hose $1.00 Pair

A window full of silk hosiery gives you just a little idea of the extent of our stocks; and also a notion of what splendid silk stockings are on sale today at a dollar a pair:

BROKEN LINES OF SILK HOSE AT A DOLLAR. Black and nearly all colors; in certain shades every size, in others, only broken assortments; in all, values out of the common, because their former prices run all the way from $1.25 to $2 a pair; now $1.00

OUR REGULAR LINES comprise what we honestly know to be the largest and most carefully-selected collection of silk hosiery in Los Angeles; black and every color, at $1.50 and higher; styles that we can confidently recommend for good, satisfactory wear.

HOSIERY DYED TO ORDER. If, by any chance, we are unable from regular stock to match any given shade you may wish us to, we will, upon short notice, have hose dyed to order; guaranteeing, in every instance, an absolutely perfect match. This is a feature which we have been carrying out for our customers for a number of years, and we have never had a single instance of dissatisfaction. Kindly bring a sample of the shade you wish matched.

Winter Dress Goods of Quality

We were unusually fortunate to secure such seasonable dress goods as these to sell even a little bit below regular worth; for they are exactly the weaves for which most fashionable women are inquiring:

NOVELTY WEAVES in widths from 50 to 54 inches; good, seasonable shades; materials conservatively worth $2 to $2.50 a yard, on special sale at ..... $1.50 yd.

NEW GREY FLANNELS which have an established demand; these are washable, and come in three shades; 54 inch width $1.00

GYMNASIUM SUIT SERGES—Close-woven, firm weaves, in navy blue and black; we purchased them particularly for gymnasium suit wear; 56 inches wide; extra value at $1.00

NEW POPLINS the famous Kilarneen brand, in full color range $1.50
Coleen poplins, all shades, at $1.75

BLOOD DISEASES
CONTAGIOUS TROUBLES

Contagious Blood Poison more thoroughly permeates the system than any other disease. Its infectious virus contaminates every corpuscle and tissue of the circulation, and for this reason its symptoms are of a varied nature. When it enters the blood it is but a short time until the mouth and throat begin to ulcerate, the skin becomes spotted, rashes and eruptions appear on the body, sores and ulcers break out, the hair falls, and frequently nails on hands and feet thicken and come off. Mineral medicines which simply shut the poison up in the system should be avoided, for when such treatment is left off the old disease will break out again, often worse than before. S. S. S. cures Contagious Blood Poison permanently, and it does so because it thoroughly purifies the blood. S. S. S. goes into the circulation, and drives out the last trace of the destructive germs, adds richness and vigor to the circulation and allows it to nourish the diseased portions of the body back to health. S. S. S. is purely vegetable, being made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, without a particle of mineral, and its vegetable ingredients always hasten the cure by toning up the stomach and digestive members. Home Treatment book and any medical advice free to all who write.

Events in Local Society

THE tea party given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. John H. Norton of No. 534 West Twenty-eighth street to introduce her daughter, Miss Amy Marie, was among the largest and most brilliant of the season. The decorations were in charge of the Rosary Floral Company and were especially beautiful. In the green drawing room, yards and yards of pink tulle and ropes of smilax were combined in erecting a canopy in the bay window, while gold baskets filled with "My Maryland" roses covered the mantle. The library and den were done entirely in red carnations, and in the dining-room, 200 long stemmed American beauties were utilized. As many yellow chrysanthemums were effective in the hall and on the stairway and in the tea-room Japanese decorations were effective. Refreshments were served in the parlors, which was covered with curtains of smilax, studded with electric lights. In the receiving line with Mrs. Norton and her daughter were Mrs. I. N. WOMEN'S CLUBS.

W. C. T. U. Address.

"In Prison and Ye Visited Me," will be the subject of addresses by C. H. Fitzgerald and Leonard Mordaunt before the W. C. T. U. today at 2 p. m. in the First M. E. Church. These will be followed by a discussion.

New Day Nursery.

The new Day Nursery of the First-street school was formally opened yesterday afternoon. The programme opened with a short talk by Supt. of Schools Francis, followed by an address by Mrs. Chalmers-Smith, president of the Federation of Parent-Teachers' Associations, in which the object of the nursery was explained. The nursery is located at No. 2836 East First street, and will be open to children from walking age up to 14 years. A fee of ten cents will be charged for the care of the children during the day. It is intended as a convenience for working mothers, and also to relieve small elder brothers and sisters of the care of the little ones in order that they may attend school. The children of the nursery will be under the care of Mrs. Baker, a capable matron. They will be provided daily with a wholesome lunch. A committee of teachers of the First-street school will have supervision of the nursery.

Parent-Teacher Association.

An interesting story of the News and Working Boys' Home was told by Mrs. C. S. Vance, who is in charge of this home, before the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Hoover-street school yesterday afternoon. Mrs. J. S. Norvell also addressed the members, telling of the object of the recently organized mutual benefit department, in connection with the Parent-Teachers' Federation. Special requests were made at the meeting by Mrs. L. W. Fruhling and Mrs. E. M. Elliott for Thanksgiving Day contributions, which will be distributed through the federation to the needy. Collections for the emergency department will be made Monday and Tuesday under the direction of Mrs. Oscar Trippett.

Friday Morning Club.

A song recital by E. Templer Allen, with Mrs. Gertrude Ross as accompanist, will be the offering of the Friday Morning Club, at its meeting tomorrow.

The largest battleship in the world is being built in England for the Brazilian government. It will be 655 feet long and turbine driven.

FACTS — FEATURES AND FANCIES — FOR WOMEN.

By Olive Gray.

BEAUTY HINT: Gray hairs when it is time for them are all right, but let each woman be the judge of when the time is ripe and how she would choose them before the age of sixty? Time was when it considered distinguished to have gray hair with a young face, but that time is past. A local beauty specialist has compounded a preparation which will, it is said, restore the hair to its original color and without any injurious substances.

Fashion's Latest.

I noticed in a Hill-street furrier's a set of ermine combined with royal purple satin which was most "fetching." It consisted of a broad, long stole and a pillow muff, together with a hat trimmed in a very unique manner with several of the entire ermines.

Satin gowns are frequently faced up on the inside with chiffon of the same shade.

Barbaric effects in bead work are sought for and very striking results are often obtained.

For street wear in shoes the light suede top with patent-leather vamp is the correct thing.

Velveteens, corduroys and whipcords will be much in demand for the street costume.

Each year is heralded as a season of fur. This year the prophecy will surely come true.

Crepe is now lavishly used on "first mourning frocks." Deep bands finish the lower parts of skirts.

A black tulle bow held in place by a square buckle ornaments a slipper that needs a touch of black.

Nets both plain and beaded are extensively used for over corsages and tunics worn over velvet gowns.

The tunic effect is still in vogue, and the models show the two sides of the skirt widely different in design.

KIND HEARTS— GOOD DEEDS.

"How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

The 1200 employees in the factory of the late Isaac Smith Remsen, a New York manufacturer, will hold his memory in fond remembrance. When his will was probated it was found that a large proportion of his estate goes to his workmen. The employees are to share according to length of service. Those who have been employed five years will receive about $500 each.

The people of Denver practically demonstrated their interest in the Woman's Club Nursery and Settlement Home, by attending a bazaar held in its favor in such numbers that a net profit of about $14,000 was cleared.

None of those interested in the fair expected anything like such a profit.

John Booth, 87 years old, a retired farmer of Manhattan, Kan., surprised his friends recently by making Manhattan's proposed children's playground a possibility by a gift of $1000. His reason for making the donation is that he has no children of his own to spend his money on and he wishes to make other children happy before he dies. For over thirty-five years he lived on a farm north of Manhattan, where he accumulated a large fortune. He moved to Manhattan four years ago. The playground will be a reality next spring.

Thirty-two years ago James Cummings of Custer, Mich., was engineer on the government harbor tug boat, when it went to the rescue of the crew of the wrecked grain barge J. H. Rutler. For the brave rescue performed on that day the captain of the tug boat promptly received a medal, but the engineer below was forgotten. Recently Representative James McLaughlin heard of the case and brought it to the attention of the Treasury Department. Engineer Cummings received his gold medal without further delay.

An automobile ambulance given by Mrs. Russell Sage to the S. P. C. A. of New York for the transportation of animals went into commission in this city recently. It has three decks and can carry 200 dogs and cats.

The society reports that in the year ended September 30 it called for, picked up and received at its shelters and receiving stations more than 300,600 small animals. In the early summer when people were leaving the city it was not unusual for the society to handle 1200 to 1300 dogs and cats daily.

Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, is appealing for $12,500 for the reconstruction of the Heritage School of Arts and Crafts for Crippled Boys at Chailey, Sussex.

Twenty-five thousand dollars is required but $12,500 already has been promised on condition that the balance is raised.

"The late Charles Rolls" (son of one of the treasurers, Lord Llangattock,) says the Princess, in an eloquent appeal, "whose tragic fate at Bournemouth is still in every one's mind, had this work very much at heart, and in making an appeal for funds on June 4 he said: 'Among these cripples are some of the pluckiest boys in the country, and I hope they will get the chance they deserve.

"The new gymnasium," continues the Princess, "is to be named after him, and all who wish will be able to pay respect to his memory and at the same time get for the cripple boys 'the chance they deserve.'"

POLICY TO BE LIBERAL.

Southern Pacific's Attitude in Trolley Line Construction and Operation—Transfer Conference.

The conference between H. E. Huntington and W. E. Dunn on the one hand and the Southern Pacific officials on the other, arranging for the transfer of the Southern Pacific stock in the Los Angeles Railway Corporation to Huntington, and of the Huntington stock in the Pacific Electric to the Southern Pacific, was continued all day yesterday.

It seems definitely decided that the Los Angeles and Redondo will be cut in two at Hawthorne, the outside city lines being turned over to the Southern Pacific, and the downtown lines to become part of the Los Angeles Railway.

"Good progress is being made," said Dunn last night, "and the Southern Pacific attitude seems to be even to extend the Huntington liberal policies in future construction and operation. This will mean much for Southern California. We may know tomorrow upon what basis the transfer may be made. The decisions, however, may not come for some time."

"The work is progressing as rapidly as possible under the circumstances," said H. E. Huntington, "but nothing definite has been accomplished. I believe, however, that the deal when completed will be under terms that will be even more advantageous for Southern California and Los Angeles than what has been accomplished in the past. One thing is assured—the Southern Pacific policy in regard to the lines will be a liberal one."

LET GO WITHOUT TRIAL.

Ygnacio Rivera, charged with passing fictitious checks in a clothing store on South Main street, was released yesterday afternoon. The checks were passed, the police say, about two years ago, and before he was arrested, Rivera left the city. He returned a few weeks ago, and a detective recognizing him and remembering that there was an old charge against Rivera, made the arrest. Considerable difficulty was experienced by the police in securing witnesses.

CLARA BELLE'S CHATTER ABOUT WOMEN AND WOMEN'S WAYS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The keen American sense of humor is as keen in one sex as in the other. You may depend on it, therefore, you men who make love in flights of passionate oratory, or indulge in extravagant antics of action in declaring your love, that the listeners quiver with inward laughter even when they vibrate with reciprocal ardor. For don't you know that women can be nice and graceful in doing things that men are ridiculous at? She can say "I love you" like the cooing of a dove or the purring of a kitten, while from him it sounds foolish and looks foolisher.

"Oh, my darling," an awkward suitor said to a girl—so she tells me—"how I love you. I shall never be able to live without you.

"And with me," she began in reply, but didn't finish the question with, "Would you live forever?"

For he was already old and awfully ugly, and even for his big fortune she didn't like to think of phenomenal longevity in his case as the penalty of carrying him. So smiled internally and was muto.

The things that we women think but dare not say to fond men would astonish them. A still very pretty widow at 40 caught the heart of a dreadfully gouty fellow of 20.

"He told me last night that he loved me," she said to me, "but he regarded the disparity in our ages as a bar to marriage.

"And what did you reply?" I asked.

"Nothing at all, but as I gazed into the young scrapegrace's face and saw the lines of dissipation already furrowing the boyish smoothness, I remarked sadly to myself: 'Go on at the pace you've struck, my dear young Baron Chevrial and when I'm 50 you'll look 70.'"

And that's the way she got an internal laugh on him.

In the moonlight of a coatswise voyage from Florida, I observed that a New York veteran was struck foolish by a flimsy, wispy, big-eyed little daughter of the South. I knew he was making love to her for all he was worth, while her child-like gaze into his face seemed to say: "I am scared of you—for what do I know about men, and you may be a wicked one."

I told her so next day and she said: "I was really wondering how it would have struck him—as he was calling me a 'babe' who'd be frightened into fits if he were to make me, an 'infant in arms'—meaning his own arms—if I told him I'd had three husbands and broken up homes to get two of them."

So she had her silent laugh.

Another slenderly ethereal creature was being told, in the family parlor by a poetic admirer, how much she was like a wraith of celestial loveliness—so slight—so unfleshly.

"And that protrait of your mother," he went on, indicating a painting of an equally ideal young woman on the wall, "proves that you will never become gross with fat."

By the time she told me of the chap's praise I had in mind the subject on which I am now writing and was watching out for illustrations. So I asked her what she had thought but hadn't said.

"I thought," she answered, "what a joke 'twould be to get out the family album and show him the last photograph of mamma before her death. You remember her? She weighed five pounds for every one of the 50 years she'd lived, had a terrace of double chins and had a belt line like a suburban railway circling a city."

So she kept her laugh out of sight and didn't let him in on it.

I once knew a human bird as downy as a cooing dove while in fact she was an owl for worldly wisdom and a hawk for pouncing down on anything she fixed her eyes of an eagle on, especially if the thing was a man desirable for a beautiful but impecunious young widow to marry. A rich husband was essential to such a luxurious life as she had thus far contrived to live. She came across an Englishman in London who belonged to an aristocratic family, had wealth in plenty and was a good-natured fellow. Besides all that, he was uncommonly handsome. Incidentally, also, she loved him; but if she hadn't doted on him it wouldn't have made any difference with her determination to land him at the altar. As it was, she bent every energy and resorted to every charm to bring him to the point of betrothal. I was interested in her affair because she was a straight and square sort of a woman despite her feminine tricks of enchantment.

Upon her return from London, she had a ring on her engagement finger and society journals items announcing her betrothal. Yet she wasn't quite at ease in her mind, so she confided to me, and wouldn't be until after the wedding.

"The darling fellow," she explained, "is foolish about me. He insists on the delusion that I am as ignorant of the world's ways as I look to be, and at first I tried to open his eyes to the fact that I was a widow with an accumulation of sophistication gained from matrimonial experience.

"'But you were a wife only a week,' said he.

"'That's true,' said I.

"'And your husband died?'

"'That's so, too.'

"'Your wife-time was so transient, therefore, that I may regard you passing with me from maiden to bride.'

"That was nice of him; and I couldn't bear—or didn't dare—to tell him that my husband had been so jealous of my former lovers—although he had no cause for a suspicion that I had ever been otherwise than proper in my conduct—he whipped me, quit me, and I got a divorce a year before his death."

"Did you laugh in your sleeve as you kept mum?"

"Did I? Not a silent snigger. Why, my sleeves held armfuls of tremulous gooseflesh; and I had a chill of fright when he went on with: 'I know your ignorant innocence so well that I needn't ask about your former life. Of course, men loved you and wanted to marry you—how could they help it?—but not one of them ever touched your heart.'

"As he didn't ask, I didn't tell him that I was engaged four times to men I concluded not to marry; or that I did marry two besides the one he knew of; or that I divorced one, while the other divorced me—on false circumstantial evidence, that I broke up a happy home—for it was no fault of mine that a jealous woman's husband got silly crazy over me and misled his wife to name me as a co-respondent.

"And you didn't giggle a little bit under your shivering hide at your lover's notion that you lived in a nunnery until you went to your own and only wedding?"

"On the contrary, my gooseflesh threatened to extend into the numbness of paralysis; and I shall have no laugh on my fiance until he is my husband."

So there's no laughter coming in this case, I fear, for since her return to England the engagement has been broken. Evidently the man found out about her multi-marriage record. Poor, pure, misunderstood little woman!

Well, I will round up my anecdotes of wooed-women's reticence with an instance told to me by my cousin Jack, of a girl who made explanations instead. She wasn't quite a nice maiden so Jack says, while the suitor's love was tingled with suspicion. She pretended to be frank and free in answering his questions, but all the while was alert and defensive.

Gowns for formal functions are still cut extremely low at the back, with the opening running down to a point nearly at the belt line, and this girl wore such a corsage at a public ball to which her fiance took her. There he overhead a man remark: "If that young lady's dress were an inch or two lower 'twould expose a birthmark that she has on her back."

"How do you know?" his companion asked.

"I have seen it."

"I asked because I happen to know that she has a birthmark on one ankle. I have seen it."

They laughed, and without listening further the jealous fiance went to the girl to jealously demand an explanation.

"It is true that I have a birthmark on my back; also, one on an ankle, and another where it doesn't show even in decollete evening dress. Do you mind?"

"I wouldn't mind if you were spotted with them, so long as they're covered to everybody except me—your husband; but I do mind it a whole lot when I hear two men say they've seen 'em."

The girl quaked so that she couldn't keep her voice steady as she asked what men had said it.

"Those two standing by themselves over there under the balcony." And when, after looking at them, she laughed unconcernedly, he added, angrily: "So you think it is funny? Well, I don't. It's serious."

"So it is; but we take the risk of encountering men who are not gentlemen when we go to a public ball. These are two examples of the type of loafer that makes free with woman's private affairs."

"They may be loafers, and if so it makes the matter worse; for you say they tell the truth about the marks, and what I demand to know is how they found out. Have they seen them?"

"Yes."

"How, when and where?"

"Go right and ask them. If they don't tell you I will."

He went straight to the two men and broke into their conversation with: "By chance I heard you say you had seen birthmarks on a lady in whom I am deeply interested, and in places where you ought not to have known of them. You must explain to me here and now."

They looked at each other, not scared at all, but hesitating which to answer first. The inquirer, exasperated by a suggestion of a smile on the face of the one who had located the mark on the girl's ankle, faced him with: "You, sir, speak out."

"There's no reason why I shouldn't give you the information," was the cool reply, "and you'd have heard it if you'd listened a minute longer. I am a chiropodist and saw the lady's ankle in a proper, professional way—while treating a corn on her foot."

"I am a tailor for women in a dressmaking establishment," said the other, "and I saw the mark on her back while fitting the very same gown that she is wearing tonight."

The mood of the jealous fiance changed from wrath to sheepiness, and he went to the girl with an apology. So here was another member of my sex who probably (I can't be sure, as I am not acquainted with her and my cousin Jack didn't find out) had the laugh on her lover, but didn't think it judicious to let him see or hear it.

A glimpse into the philosophy and phenomena of love was given to me by a young woman who, a year after divorcing one husband and taking another, reverted to the first by re-divorce and remarriage. I asked her if she was happy.

"Both happy and sad," she replied. "I am glad to be back with Jack, but sorry to be away from Jim. The truth is that I want Jack and Jim both; but there's no duplicity about me and I'll be loyal to the one that I happen to be a wife to. When I bade Jim good-by he turned white, but not an angry word passed his lips. As I was leaving he said gently: 'I ask your pardon for the ridiculous scene I made when you decided to return to Jim. I was very unhappy and lost my head. You, who love, can understand the folly that a man can be guilty of when he is losing all he cares for. Despair made me cruel. Don't be angry with me. I am suffering so much.'

"I looked at him. In one week his hair was gray around the temples, tears, were in his cheeks. I held out my two hands. His lips trembled, his eyes were discolored with tears. That upset me.

"'Don't let us be enemies.' I begged. 'We will meet again; I love you as much as ever.'

"He pushed me gently toward the door. The cab was waiting. I got in and wept all the way to my new home. Jack welcomed me fondly; and how I loved him! Jack talked enthusiastically of the journeys we would take how I was his again. He beamed with happiness, and not a cloud obscured his gayety. Why was I secretely irritated by his too satisfied air? Why? I know quite well and am afraid to think of it. I am thinking of the poor fellow left alone and weeping his heart out.

"I am a little ashamed at what I have discovered in myself. In reality I love two men equally well. I don't want to give either up. And if I told them neither would understand me. But if I told them that a man can love two women they wouldn't be surprised."—[Clara Belle, in Cincinnati Inquirer.

Offended the Committeeman.

The late Senator Vest related this story at the expense of one of his Senatorial associates. In some way, he said, this Senator, who was usually good at remembering names, had forgotten that of a country chairman, and so bluntly asked it.

"Why," said the young chairman, in offended dignity, "I'm Jones. I thought you knew me."

"Of course I do," replied the Senator, quickly; "but which one of Mr. Jones's sons are you? I knew your father well for years."

"And he had only one son," was the unsympathetic reply.—[The Spectator.

One May Overcome

constipation permanently by proper personal co-operation with the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, when required. The forming of regular habits is most important and while endeavoring to form them the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is most valuable, as it is the only laxative which acts without disturbing the natural functions and without debilitating and it is the one laxative which leaves the internal organs in a naturally healthy condition, thereby really aiding one in that way. To get its beneficial effects, buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is never classed by the well-informed with medicines which make extravagant and unfounded claims to cure habitual constipation without personal co-operation.

Land Is Safe

Land ownership is safe if the land is in a growing community and bought right. It may be acres, vacant lots, or improved lots—anything in the shape of land, if bought right, is safe, because Los Angeles is growing and must continue to grow. Mutual Home Building Corporation's land has been bought right—at the right price [only $166 a lot]—in the right location [only 20 minutes from the center of Los Angeles,]—and will yield immence profits under development. Watch it work out. If a stockholder, you will watch it with greater interest and with satisfying dividends and profit.

Until the close of business Saturday, November 12, 1910, you can purchase shares at $1.20 and thereafter at $1.30 each on terms of 10% down and 5% monthly, or all cash. These shares are worth $1.50 each because of the location and steady improvement in value of the property.

You are invited to call or address and obtain copies of Mutual Investor and The Right Way---both truthful and free.

NOTES FROM ABROAD.

In the year 1909, $181,463,848 of new British capital was invested in Canada.

The yearly value of Canadian manufactures is estimated in the official Canada Year Book for 1909 at $1,000,000,000.

About 17,000 square miles of Siamese territory came within the sphere of British influence by the treaty signed at Bangkok in March, 1909. Great Britain made concessions respecting extraterritorial rights over certain proteges of Siam, and the Federated Malay States (British controlled) agreed to loan Siam $20,000,000 at 4 per cent. to be used in building a railroad linking the Siamese and Malay systems, thus giving a railroad 600 miles in length, connecting Bangkok and Singapore. The construction contracts are now being awarded, says a consular report.

Plans are being made for a direct line of railway between Genoa and Piacenza, Italy, to be extended as far as Cremona, passing through the valley of Bisagno and Trebbia. The line will place the rich agricultural region of the Department of Emilia in much closer connection with Genoa, the most important seaport of Italy, than at present. According to a circular issued by the Deutsche Bank, the Turkish railways, in both Europe and Asia Minor, are rapidly increasing in value.

The National Railways of Mexico will build a road, 155 miles long, from Durango to Gutierrez, a station in Zacatecas on the old Mexican Central. This will make an outlet for several important mining towns and camps. State and private subsidies amounting to $710,000 have been granted. Durango is one of the most interesting old cities of Mexico. The line will open up a new market for American goods.

The chief mineral products of Quebec Province, Canada, are, in order as named, asbestos, cement, bricks, limestone, copper and sulphur, granite, marble and lime. The value of the output in 1909 was $5,552,062 (nearly half being asbestos), an increase of more than 100 per cent. in nine years.

For the West Indies, Commercial Agent John M. Turner advises continuance of the American policy of short credits, because of ample local bank resources.

The report of the Russian Inspector of Factories for 1909 shows that business, trade and factory production in general improved greatly over 1908. There was a concentration of Russian industries by less factories and more work people—14,710 factories, employing 1,821,296.

It is a surprise to learn that India is the greatest cane-sugar producing country in the world, the country's crop varying between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 tons. Notwithstanding this fact, its sugar market has been captured first by beet sugar and later by cane sugar from Mauritius and Java, because of the lack of modern machinery.

Argentina has 2409 wine-making establishments, of which 1601 are owned by foreigners. The capital in use, exclusive of the value of the vineyards, is $27,758,368, with a yearly production of 380,000,000 liters (3.7 liters-1 gallon).

Argentina has 37 sugar mills, employing $21,594,832 capital, with yearly sales of $19,841,855. Foreigners own 11 of the mills.

Large cargoes of corn are being sent from Durban, Africa, to England and Mexico—some shiploads.

The Westinghouse Company is building for the concession for the electric lighting of Constantinople and its suburbs. There are seven bidders.

Great Britain's import of wool in 1909 was 209,000,000 pounds, the highest ever reported. Of this 291,000,000 pounds were re-exported.

American exporters continue to ship merchandise for Greece via Genoa or Hamburg, in spite of the existing direct service. In 1909 the direct line brought 20,000 tons from Greece, but only 2800 tons were carried back.

The Straits Settlements in 1909 had imports of $179,844,922 and exports of $151,661,114, an increase of about $2,700,000 each way over 1908. Extensive harbor improvements under way will increase Singapore's commercial facilities.

England's first beet-sugar factory is to be built in the county of Essex, at a cost of $1,000,000; a second factory is projected near Kidderminster, in the County of Yorkshire.

Siam is increasing its opium imports—$202,284 worth in June, an increase of $152,289.

In the last two years Spanish capitalists have invested $50,000,000 in foreign stocks and bonds. South American issues are favored.

German exporters are to make a trade study trip through Canada. That is one of the ways in which Germany so successfully opens markets abroad.

PECULIAR NEWS STORIES.

New Use for Fertilizers.

Robert Wonwood, a colored man, living in the country south of Youngstown, O., is said to be turning white. Several spots on his body are spreading with remarkable rapidity, and bid fair in time to envelop all traces of his dark skin.

It is claimed that Wonwood worked in a fertilizer plant at Chicago, and that constant breathing of the dust therein generated has had a peculiar effect on his system. White spots on his face recently appeared and are growing larger daily.

Wonwood has suffered no ill effects since the transformation began several months ago.

Boy Killed by Dropping Bullet.

Ralph Lisman, 8 years old, was recently killed at Paxson, Ind., in a most remarkable way. His playmate, Lawrence Farcus, was trying out a new rifle, and fired it into the air. Both boys stared upward, hoping to see the bullet. Descending, it struck the Lisman boy in the right eye, and he dropped dead.

Reads Upside Down.

Charles W. Searles of Millbury, Mass., reads newspapers and magazines upside down from choice, having acquired the habit when he was a boy. He is now nearly 80 years of age, and reads from his upside down paper in a clear and rapid flow of words.

"When I was a schoolboy," says Mr. Searles, "the parents of all the school children couldn't afford to buy books for the youngsters. Consequently those who did not have books were forced to look over the shoulders of their more fortunate brethren.

"I was a near-sighted youngster, and in addition to that, it made me nervous to have anyone looking over my shoulder. When anyone else was looking on I had to hold the book a long way from my face and then I couldn't see the pages.

"I told my father and he told me to refuse to let anyone look on with me. The first day I refused the teacher gave me a whipping. So then I learned to read everything upside down. Then no one could look over my shoulder. I've kept it up ever since."

War on Powder Puffs.

There is trouble in the public schools of Washington, D. C.

Teachers, both men and women, of the McKinlay Manual Training High School, combined forces a few days ago, and complained to the principal, Dr. George W. Myers, that powder puffs kept the girls of their classes from study. Here are a few of the charges they made:

"Girls drop their great bags on the floor and then a boy must pick it up. This diverts his mind from his study and annoys the boy.

"Between recitations girls hie to a secluded corner and get busy with their powder puffs. Sometimes their noses look just awful when they get through.

"Instead of studying the girls spend their time in study hall in toying with those atrocious puffs and in manicuring their nails."

these things "officially," but would inthes things "officially," but would investigate the cause of complaint.

Halloween Joke on Minister.

Rev. George I. Foster, of Cleveland, O., was the victim of an original Halloween joke. At dinner time his wife told him a couple would call upon him during the evening to be married. After dark a timid rap was heard at the door, and a short young man told the clergyman he had come to be married.

"To whom?" asked the minister.

"To her," said the young man, and he pointed into the gloom of the porch to a rather tall young woman whose features were hid under a heavy dotted veil. It was chilly out, and there wasn't much time for parley.

"Won't you step in?" asked the minister.

In the front parlor Rev. Mr. Foster began conversation with, "You are the couple of whom my wife spoke at dinner?"

"I suppose we are," replied the prospective groom. "I called up this afternoon."

So the two stood up, and Rev. Mr. Foster began the ceremony.

The young woman was very modest. She answered the questions in her turn, but she couldn't talk loud. She kept her hat and veil on, and perhaps that hindered her, or else it was all new to her, or she had a cold. Anyway she managed to make herself heard, and when the ceremony was ended the little husband asked what the fee was. He was laboriously pulling a pocketbook out of his trousers' pocket.

"Now, where is the license?" asked Rev. Mr. Foster, according to rule.

"Why, we had no license," said the young man as he tendered a bill.

"Then you're not married."

"What, not married?" came from the astonished bride and groom together.

The minister said that was the case.

"Very well," said the young couple.

The young woman lifted her veil, the young man tore a tiny mustache off his lip, and there stood Mrs. Foster, the pastor's wife, and Mrs. Alfred Shaw, a near neighbor and friend.

It was Halloween. Rev. Mr. Foster said it was very skillfully done.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The last car of walnuts grown in Southern California will leave tomorrow for the East, making a total of 834 cars shipped—just about a hundred short of the shipments of last year. Prices this year, on that account, were practically 2½ cents higher than those existing last year. The demand has been excellent and the nuts have continued of very fine quality right along. There have been very few reports of poor stock. One of the reasons also for the higher shipments out is the heavier demand for the nuts right at home. The local trade took twenty-five more cars this year than last, and these nuts are being distributed as rapidly as possible among the retail traders. Almond receipts here are of good size. The prices on all nuts have been very firm during the week, and at present the demand is the best of the year.

The egg market was exceedingly firm. There was a number of small sales at 41 cents on case count. I cent above the prevailing quotations. Demand for storage eggs is very good. For once the retail dealers are labeling their eggs properly and there have been very few cases of improper branding reported. The consensus of opinion is beginning to realize that the storage egg is not such a bad commodity after all. Arrivals of eggs were only 72 cases.

The demand for butter was of very normal proportions. Receipts were only 14,000 pounds. The New York market was reported at 32 cents.

Edam cheese was one of the good trading varieties of yesterday morning. Other good sellers were Eastern Twins, Longhorns and Daisy, as well as Northern fresh, all at unchanged prices. Receipts of cheese were 2353 pounds.

Potato arrivals were 2485 sacks. A good call for spuds was noticeable and the price on Highlands was advanced to $1.65 on average basis.

There were no arrivals of beans reported and the offerings were good. Pinks, small white and black eyes were the varieties in best call. Onion receipts were not reported. With the lighter arrivals of the past week prevalent, the market on Yellow Danvers, Australian Brown and other varieties advanced to $1.75 on wholesale quotations.

Sweet potatoes were down to an average of $1.85 per hundred. Receipts of sweets were 324 sacks.

Apple receipts were 7259 boxes. Langford seedlings have been an important item of trade in this line during the week. Bellefleurs are moving well, and there is a brace in quotations on them.

Fish arrivals were of good size. Kingfish and sandablas were the small varieties obtainable. Cockels and clams were shellfish that were in good supply and sold well.

WORLD'S WHEAT STAGGERS BULLS.

WEAKENED PRICES GO BACK TO SHADES LOWER.

May Figures Fluctuate to Easy Close, Corn Drops Slightly at End of Day's Session—Early Oats Are Sold at Advance, Later Prices Sag. Pork Is Unchanged.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—With the world's stock of wheat showing a big increase today, the market here weakened. The close was, however, at a slight recovery, though ¾@⅞ net lower. May wheat fluctuated from 94¼@95, closing easy, ¾ net lower at 94⅝@94¾. May corn ranged from 48¼@48⅝, and finished at 48⅝@48¾, a net loss of ⅛. No. 2 yellow closed at 50¼@50⅝. In the oats pit the feature was the buying of December and the selling of May at 3 cents spread. The distant months sold from 34¼@34½, with last transactions a shade off at 34⅛@34½. Pork closed unchanged to 50¢½ higher; lard, 2½ lower to 5 gain, and ribs strung out from 2½@5 loss to an advance of 2½@.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour—Quiet; No. 2 red, 77; feed or mixing barley, 69@70; fair to choice malting, 77@81; flax seed, No. 1 southwestern, 2.53½; No. 1 northwestern, 2.63½; timothy seed, 2.50@9.25; clover, 11.30; meas pork, per barrel, 17.75@18.00; lard, per 100 pounds, 11.75; short ribs, sides, (loose,) 9.75@10.75; short clear sides, (boxed,) 10.75@11.00.

NEW YORK COTTON MARKET.

[Special service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members of New York Stock Exchange, 112 West Third street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Fair and comparatively moderate weather has continued throughout the Mississippi Basin and the South Atlantic States, and the same kind of weather is expected for today and tomorrow. The census report showing amount of cotton ginned to November 1 will be issued at the opening this morning. For a week past, it has been claimed that the report would show about 7,300,000 bales, and such figures would be very bullish. It is, of course, impossible to estimate a crop by the ginning up to November 1, for there have been very small ginning figures to October 31, in bumper crop years. As the price has been recently very close to the level at which cotton was trading at this time last year, it is interesting to note what effect the report of last year had on the market. The report last year showed 7,017,000 bales ginned and the market considered this so bearish that it broke 32 to 42 points on the opening call upon which the report was announced. May cotton, which had sold as high as 14.87 the day before, sold as low as 14.19 on the day of the report. It was reported yesterday that Neill Bros. of London estimate the crop at 11,600,000 bales, while R. L. Armour Neill of New York issued his annual report this morning calling for 11,425,000 bales. Mr. Neill has been remarkably correct in the past and his estimate will undoubtedly be considered as very bullish in Europe and spinning circles. Liverpool shows an advance of about 19 points better than due on our close Monday night.

Logan & Bryan's letter says:

"Liverpool was so much better than expected that in spite of selling orders were placed at our opening, upon the expectation that it would be twenty points higher. This immense amount of selling found insufficient buying power to absorb it, and the resulting figure afforded little suggestion to either bull or bear. The fact that the ginning was very liberal during the month, being fixed as a bearish argument, and the fact that we are only about 300,000 ahead of last year's very small figures to date being used by the bulls. The ginning operations between any two objective dates are hardly worthy of comparison except to show the kind of weather and the incentive in the way of price to pick up. Too much stress is being laid upon the size of the crop, and too much expended on that factor in the price shaping. With the ginning records showing 7,329,000 bales ginned the farmer has already sold over six million, and for this he has received approximately one-half billion dollars, which is so much money that he really enjoys the sport of demanding and securing his own figures for the balance of the crop. The spinner of the world, even though American crop were twelve and a half million, will not find more than enough cotton to run ten months of full time; will be close down or continue business. The world's short crop will pay the price."

EXPECTED STIMULATION FAILS TO MATERIALIZE.

Threatened Strike of Engineers and Other Railroad Embarrassments Engage Speculators on Wall Street. Call Money Rate Drops but Time Rates Remain Firm.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The stock market demand, which is was hoped would be stimulated by the passing of the elections, failed to materialize today, and selling to take profits had to be done on a descending scale of prices. The taking of a strike vote by locomotive engineers of western railroads directed renewed attention to another source of embarrassment confronting the railroads. The expiration of the term of agreements with railroad employees of various classes within the next month will precipitate this subject into the field of active factors. Call money went no higher than 4⅜ per cent., and yielded to below 4 per cent., but the time money rates were firmly held. The foreign exchange market was firmer at higher rates. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,137,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—In sympathy with the big market which closed with a loss ranging from 1 to 2 points on the active stocks, the curb market closed at the low prices of the day, with losses ranging from fractions to a full point on the most active issues. The Boston copper was the most pronounced tendency with declines running from one to two points throughout the entire list, and while the volume of trading has not been large, there is more pressure against the market than there has been for some time. A careful analysis of the producers' report published last Monday is not as favorable as was generally expected. The following were the closing bid and asked quotations:

PERSISTENT.

SAYS ARRESTS TOO FREQUENT.

HOTEL CLERK THINKS MAN IS PERSECUTING HIM.

Now in Custody for the Third Time on a Charge of Embezzlement and Declares He Is Innocent—Will Sue for False Imprisonment, if Acquitted, He Asserts.

Charged with having embezzled $25 from Frank Smith, a display advertising man of San Francisco, at present residing at Sixth and Figueroa streets, S. J. Messing, a clerk at the Hotel Fremont, Fourth and Olive streets, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Dennison and placed in the County Jail pending removal to San Francisco for trial.

According to Messing he is absolutely innocent of the charge, and is persecuted by Smith, because he refused to carry out the terms of an advertising business partnership which they formed in San Francisco over a year ago.

Messing alleges that this is the third time that he has been arrested on the embezzlement charge. The first time, he says, was while he was a patient in a hospital in Napa, suffering from malarial fever. The warrant was served upon him, but upon the hospital official's refusal to sanction his removal, the matter was dropped. The second, according to Messing, was several months ago, when he was taken by a local police detective while attending a performance at the Orpheum. Messing related his story to Capt. Flammer, and his release followed.

Messing says he thought the matter was at an end then, but yesterday he was taken from his bed at the Fremont Hotel and jailed. The warrant alleging embezzlement was issued the day previous by Police Judge Weller of San Francisco. Messing insists that he never took the $25. He says he is willing to go to San Francisco for trial, and if declared innocent will charge Smith with false arrest.

Messing is a veteran of the Spanish War, and is understood to have wealthy connections in New York.

WALKS RIGHT IN.

QUERY LEADS TO HIS ARREST.

MESSENGER BOYS' BLOW MAY HAVE FATAL END.

Inquiries at Receiving Hospital Result in His Apprehension, Following Altercation at Moving Picture Theater Where Janitor Is Seriously Injured.

William E. Spencer, a messenger boy, aged 20 years, was arrested late yesterday afternoon on a charge of assault. He is being held to await the outcome of the injuries of William E. Elwood, 28 years old, the janitor of the moving picture show theater at No. 466 South Spring street, who was knocked down and perhaps fatally injured early yesterday morning.

Elwood is now in the County Hospital, unconscious, having sustained a fractured skull.

The attack on Elwood, the police say, was the outcome of four messenger boys throwing each other's hats away. One hat was thrown into the theater. Elwood returned it to the boy and told them to move on down the street.

The boys did so, but later three are said to have returned and engaged in an altercation with Elwood, the outcome of which was that one of the messengers was struck on the head with a broom handle and Elwood was knocked down.

Elwood was rushed to the Receiving Hospital, but the surgeons were unable to revive him. He was sent to the County Hospital and last night showed no signs of recovering.

After taking Elwood to the hospital the police were called to get Faulkner, who was bleeding from the cut on his head made by the broom handle. In the Receiving Hospital he was questioned about his injury but did not say much.

Yesterday morning another messenger, employed by the same agency that Faulkner was connected with, called at the Receiving Hospital and asked to see Faulkner. On leaving the hospital the visitor casually asked: "How's the man who was struck last night?" and Dr. Kidder, police surgeon, immediately summoned the detectives.

Both young men were closely questioned and the police then arrested Spencer. Spencer is said to be the one who knocked Elwood down, but the charge against him will not be determined until Elwood's condition is learned. Faulkner will also be held on a charge of suspicion of felony, when discharged from the hospital.

NOW IT'S BURGLARY.

Man Who Winked at Weights, Admits, Detective States, To Stealing Money.

A charge of petty embezzlement was changed to burglary in the case of Walter Hester, in police court yesterday afternoon, after it was stated by the police that Hester had confessed to taking $53 from a store at No. 2111 East Ninth street, July 5.

Hester was arrested on a charge of allowing excessive weight to butchers, from whom he purchased bones and other products. It is said he collected from his employer for the excessive amount, and put the money into his pocket.

When Hester was suspected by his employer a private detective was hired to work with Hester. Hester admitted to the sleuth that he stole money from the store.

CHARGE IS MANSLAUGHTER.

Moocher, Who Struck Rueppel, Held Under Heavy Bail in Police Court.

The preliminary examination of Thomas Johnson Dunn, the beggar, who confessed to striking the blow which resulted in the death of Oscar Rueppel, October 30, was set for November 11 by Police Judge Chambers yesterday afternoon.

Dunn was first charged with murder, but yesterday afternoon Detective Hosick, who has been investigating the case, made a new complaint, changing the charge to manslaughter.

Dunn was not represented by an attorney, and when bail was fixed at $5000 he said he would go back to jail.

York he was much criticised for openly discussing the subject of prostitution in that city. He said: "This subject has got to be discussed, before women and by women, and until it is and they understand the situation nothing will be done to remedy it. If women could have a voice in choosing who should make the laws, and in suggesting some of the laws to be made, this subject of the social evil and the enslaving of women would be discussed and it would be made much more difficult to carry on such traffic as the white slave trade. In the four States where women may vote the age of a girl's responsibility has been raised by law to 18 years.

"Is it a mere co-incidence that illiteracy looms largest where women have least power, and grows less where they vote? Of the twenty States which have fewest illiterate children, women vote in eighteen. These conditions of illiteracy are true because our industrial system calls for cheap labor, and to employers, child labor seems cheap. They are true because the mothers, the teachers fitted by nature and by training to guard the welfare of the children, are prevented by law from electing the officers who enforce the law. If mothers and teachers voted, the same eager interest that placed the child labor law, the compulsory school attendance law and the juvenile court law upon the statute books, would elect officers pledged to the enforcement of those laws.

"Will women's voting purify politics? Let history answer. New Zealand has had woman's suffrage for twenty years, and every one of those magnificent reforms that have made New Zealand in the foremost rank, civilization and decency has had the support of women, often in opposition to the timid conservatism of men.

"Judge Lindsey, who was elected in the face of bitter party opposition by the influence of women, says: 'We have in Colorado the most advanced laws of any State in the Union for the care and protection of the home and the children, the very foundations of the Republic. We owe this more to woman suffrage than to any other one cause.'

"A friend of the writer, a man who had held high office in Colorado, said last winter: 'We have the best public school system in the country in Colorado, and it's all due to the women.'

"Who is so interested in questions of public sanitation, clean milk, pure food, school administration, playgrounds and a moral atmosphere as the mother and teacher? Who are responsible for the health and education of the family? Witness the success of Jane Addams as district superintendent of streets. She is a wise woman and she felt perfectly confident that the streets in her district of Chicago could be cleaner than the man who was in public affairs was keeping them. Witness Mrs. Young, probably the best superintendent of schools any large city of this country has ever had; for the first time in its history every child of public school age can be accommodated with a seat in school. Is there another large city that can make the same claim?

"Why should a woman be appointed to a service for the service if she is unworthy to contest for it before her fellow citizens? And why is it safer to permit her to work under the appointment of a man whom she is not qualified or competent to elect? The duty, the responsibility, the fitness of the occupant surely is the test, not the method of his selection.

"There are many hundreds of women fitted by wisdom, experience and training to fill positions in public affairs, and many thousands fitted to vote for them intelligently and with discrimination.

"No one points with pride to the result of the present system of government. We see great cities filled with reeking slums and degradation, we see great corporations corrupting the heart of political honesty. We see a government powerless to stay the hands of greed. We see suffering and injustice, and it is no wonder that the voice of the people, not alone of the suffragists, but of those who believe in democracy, is raised in a demand for something else.

"In the United States are nearly 8,000,000 women who are obliged to support themselves and often some others, who must live and labor under laws made by men, who must keep those laws, though they have no voice in saying who shall make them. Would these millions of women vote for war and leave the men to do the fighting? How many persons believe that the heaviest burden of war falls on the fighters. The first large necessity for the industrial woman in this country was the Civil War, and there has never been an opportunity since for women to stop working outside the home.

"Woman is forever committed to peace and reason and decency; she has too much good sense and too great a hatred of waste, to sacrifice life and labor and money in battle. That appreciation of economic values, the result of her long domestic training, would make a woman hesitate about voting to spend $12,000,000 of the tax payers money on a battle-ship that would in ten years be thrown on a junk heap. But are not the men who don't fight allowed a share in the government just as well as those who do? Only a small fraction of the male population ever fight or are eligible to render military service, yet they vote unchallenged.

"There is in all this world no just basis for government but the consent of the governed, and how can that simple truth be reconciled with the condition of affairs that prevails in the United States where one-half of the people are governed without their consent. We love to call our government a democracy, but who can believe that a genuine democracy where one class legislates for another, where one half of the people sits in judgment on the other half? Is this a full measure of justice, a full day of democracy?

"This revival of interest in woman's suffrage is part of a great world movement for justice and democracy, it is part of the revolt against class legislation, class oppression. It is part of the progressive movement against political parties, and in favor of questions of public interest and public betterment, and the ballot needs the help of the women, and conversely the women need the help of the ballot.

"And so the suffragists feel that women need the ballot to teach them to extend their helpful influence beyond the doors of their homes, where traditionally it has been argued it should cease. Woman, socially, economically, politically, is the great question of the age. You cannot settle the first two questions without first solving the political problem.

"Just now the suffragists are asking the legislature of California, soon to convene, to submit this question to the people by way of a constitutional amendment. That seems only a fair request to make in a democracy. Then the four-fifths of the educated women of the State who oppose suffrage may exert their great influence to secure an adverse decision. Then unfortunate sisters in the tabooed class probably will not control enough men to turn the scale, even if they desire to secure the ballot.

"Let this issue come before all the voters and non-voters of the State, let it be discussed in all of its phases and then let it be voted on and decided whether the great progressive State of California wishes to announce itself freed from the bondage of political tradition, or willing to continue undemocratic, unjust, unprogressive and unrepresentative."
